

Foundation Center Libraries

The Center has four libraries: at our headquarters in New York and at our three field offices in Washington, D.C., Cleveland, and San Francisco. All are open to the public free of charge. Call for a complete schedule of hours.

Libraries

79 Fifth Avenue (16th Street)
New York, NY 10003-3076
212-620-4230

1001 Connecticut Avenue, N.W.
Suite 938
Washington, DC 20036-5588
202-331-1400

312 Sutter Street
San Francisco, CA 9410-4314
415-397-0902

1422 Euclid Avenue
Suite 1356
Cleveland, OH 44115-2001
216-861-1934

Cooperating Collections

The Center extends its local outreach through a network of more than 180 cooperating collections housed in nonprofit organizations in all 50 states, Australia, Canada, Great Britain, Japan, Mexico, and Puerto Rico. All collections offer free public access, contain a core collection of the Center's reference works, and are staffed by professional librarians. Direct visitors to appropriate local resources. Many collections also have bookshelves on local issues. The Center returns for free all books, tapes, or other materials from their state or region. For a complete list of cooperating collections, visit our website and phone numbers, or call toll-free 1-800-424-9836.

The Foundation Center

Services To Grantmakers

With the largest collection of data on private philanthropy in the United States, the Foundation Center is an essential resource for grantseekers looking for information on appropriate funding sources for their programs and organizations. The Center also helps foundations and corporate grantmakers by providing them with an efficient means of informing nonprofit organizations about their program guidelines and application procedures and by serving as a source of referral for grant applicants whose projects they are unable to fund.

But the story doesn't end there. Our programs, services and resources are also used increasingly by grantmakers in many other ways, as suggested in this brochure.