Because the few other writers who have approached the same subject matter of this book have done so on an intellectual basis without impact upon the general public, or have zeroed in on specific topics in the form of subjective magazine and newspaper articles, the authors of Creative Fraud make no excuses or apologies for the "soap box" style, and the tenor of presentation.

The purpose of this publication is to drive home, to all levels of people, the fact that events simply do not happen by chance, but are the product of planning by a small group, and apathy on the part of the masses who are entrapped.

The intensity with which the authors present their case is a rare example of the findings and conclusions reached as the result of investigative reporting. If the research material was to be put forward in support of each statement and conclusion as they appear, this volume would be twenty-times greater, and be top-heavy with stodgy references, quotations, extracts, names, dates and documentation. As it is, the essence is extracted and given in digest form, and one gets the feeling and excitement of the race without the tedium, training and stable work which precedes and supports horse and jockey.

CREATIVE FRAUD is the most dramatic "how to" book ever issued as it exposes the formula and mechanics of the greatest 'legal' con game in the world — how a handful of private financiers and bankers defraud the peoples of the world for personal gain and power, and get away with it.

The alternate title "CROWN OR CREDIT?" is just as significant though less sensational as the struggle is between the supremacy of real worth and fictitious credit as the basis of money and international trade. Represented as Crown or Credit respectively.

"CREATIVE FRAUD" is a "banned" publication. It will be interesting to see if it suffers the "silent treatment" at the hands of the establishment press and media.

FOREWORD
WRITTEN 1976

Contemporary political and corporate concomitance is an incestuous, concopulating Establishment. The motives of persons in sensitive positions, and high places are apostate in dutiful subservience to the Corporate Baron(s) of Wall Street.

Every deliberation, every action, every technique in use is one of sell-out, submission or compliance to the desires and dictates of the cabal that is the Stock Market, the I.M.M., the I.M.F., and the "World Bank".

Destabilizing Energy, Fuel, Transportation, Livestock, Produce and Commodity pricing policies; Bank Interest Rates; Industrial and Commercial concomitance; Labour agitation; Unemployment; Economic performance; and Cultural confrontation are all subtly implanted, and the subject of purchased, manipulated statecraft. The malignancy is in the very core of leadership, and spreads its perdition outward to the edges of society.

Priorities are inverted; Integrity is perverted; and Benificence towards the people is discounted upon the altar of Corporate Command, and profits. Each consideration is based upon the improper precept of Canada last, the U.S.A. first, and the I.M.F. above all as the dogma, and Deity. This ignominious course, prescribed by the Trilateral Commission, is predestined to set Canada up into material bankruptcy, and demoralization.

Turpitude in national economic husbandry is the doctrine to which present National Management is indentured, fully realizing that the lessons of history are being ignored.

The future of Canada is up to Canadians . . . not envious outsiders.

INTRODUCTION

MONEY is a man-created, tangible means whereby to unitize the value of his labour — nothing else. It is a convenient, portable, expression of recording barter. Thus, money is a means of exchange — not a commodity.

As money is not a commodity; nor should it be contrived to be made so; profit should not be made from money; nor should profit be contrived to be made from money. The services of those who expend their labour attending money have to be equated, but gain made over and above this is morally improper.

The using of money as a commodity is the prime improper action which starts the cycle and generates the impetus of devaluation and inflation.

The higher the gain demanded from the use of money as a commodity, the higher the rate of devaluation and inflation.

The cost of gains made from the using of money as a commodity is a cost against the value of money itself. Thus it depletes the residual amount of money in circulation which has to be made up either by extra labour or the counterfeit manufacture of the hardware that is money and which, in fact, has no value behind it to make it of worth. This is the basic immorality of devaluation and inflation.

The sectors of man responsible for the offensive conditions include Money-changers, Bankers and all who thrive off them. These parasites are solely responsible for the poor conditions of world trade, the imbalance of world exchange, the usurious money system and interests rates which they have contrived and yoke upon the world, the manipulation of one sector against another, and the deprivation of people so that many subscribe to the wealth of a few. Their use of money as a commodity is creative fraud. The 'Corporate' system is promoted as opposed to the 'Society' system. The monolithic system as opposed to the protections of parliamentary democracy.

Like the Richter Scale which records the impact level of earthquakes, each 1% added to the cost of money as a commodity compounds adversely to devastate the balance of exchange or trade, and destabilizes the economy.

FUNDAMENTALLY, land is there, energy is there, and mans labour is there. None of these things has to be made. All exist as a cost-free natural asset.

None of these natural fundamentals can be made from money. They may be processed from the use of money as the manifestation of mans labour, if money is the expression of exchange.

Prosperity comes from the application of labour to natural elements which are fundamentally available. The value of labour or design put into machines produced to process and adapt these fundamentals have to be equated as part of the exchange process.

On the premise that man is not providing his labour to others for nothing, but on a basis of barter with a little over to compensate additionally for his effort as well as his labour, profit becomes a moral consideration.

Profit finds its own natural level service-to-service. If the profit demanded by one service is out of equation with others, it causes imbalance and disruption. Immoral and improper gains weighted onto this balance by parasites escalates and accelerates the defrauding of the system to the gain of the parasites.

EXPOSURE OF THE EXISTING PARASITICAL SYSTEM, AND THE SIMPLE REMEDIES WHICH CAN BE ADOPTED TO CORRECT THE SITUATION, IS THE SUBJECT OF THIS BOOK.

CHAPTER 1

EARLY HISTORY OF THE MONEYLENDERS

The "Illuminati" was a Central-European secret society of the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries which reached its zenith in 1776, and its Waterloo in 1785; although its presence has been felt ever since.

It was initially Semitic in origin and membership, as a association of independently wealthy merchants and moneychangers. It was conceived in competition to Freemasonry as a counter-group to the growing wealth, independence, and influence of Western-Europe as evidenced in the burgeoning Empires of the times.

Under these pressures, the society changed its image and broadened its horizons to admit as many as could be induced to join: Noticeably their confreres in the Armenian area on the other side of the Black Sea. Certain modifications were made to accommodate outsiders, but effective control never passed out of the hands of the few families which steered and manipulated it.

In later years, the 'Illuminates' took on a quasi-Christian image due to the presence of the Armenian influence, and from 1625 to 1750 great effort was made to try and penetrate into Freemasonry, the Courts of the day, and every national government, by way of ingratiating, dual membership or money-lending; but it was watched with suspicion. Out of it grew the "Whig" or Liberal faction in opposition to the Tories of Western Monarchy and Colonization, but their ascendancy did not really come about until the late 19th and early 20th centuries.

The "Illuminates" reached a point of notorious prominence in 1776 when it was used to promote the bizarre doctrines and money-control concepts of its then ruling executive—ambitious young men and comprising Adam Weishaupt, a Bavarian professor of Canon Law at Ingolstadt: Meyer Amschel Rothschild, a Financier and influential moneychanger: Rabbi Mordecai, the son of an almost equally powerful family of moneylenders: Johann von Goethe (Faust), a German philosopher, and his contemporary friend Johann von Schiller, both of whom were prevailed upon by the others to create credence for their spurious doctrines by way of providing a mantle of social ideals to give them an aura of respectability.

Weishaupt, Rothschild and Mordecai used the society to further their teachings of debt-money creation, supply and circulation as first evidenced in the Bank of England Charter of 1694, and touted them as the solution which would solve world trade and money problems by uniting them under a single system of administration and regulated exchange. But, as these doctrines were presaged by the fact that such controls would be in the hands of private individuals who would charge a levy for such services, they so enraged the Roman Catholic Church that the Bavarian Government was compelled to enforce their dissolution in 1785. However, such dissolution did not come before the Order had implanted its ideas, and fertilized the seeds, in Austria, Hungary, Italy, France, Germany, England and the American Colonies. And which seeds grew to become the "RESERVE" type monetary systems of the western world, and ultimately the I.M.F.—International Monetary Fund—of present times.

The "Illuminates" concept of 1776 envisaged the potential of secret world government by Private Interests in perpetuity via descendants, through the control of national Treasuries, operating through a central administration, by a select committee of executive control and management. In other words, the 'Corporate' principle applied to world markets, and world exchange by a small, very closely-knit group of Private Families.

Such an organization would have a core of "owners" as the 'voting' shareholders with all other members being participating but 'non-voting' shareholders. In this way the dominant Executive Committee would be always at the command of the Voting Shareholders who would be guaranteed nepotistic succession. Thus was built-in the ability to hand-pick Directors, establish Indentures, dictate policies and conditions which would be applied, as well as keep command of the money supply: Thus inducing countries to subscribe their national wealth and output but which would course into the coffers of the Private Bankers, and the Private Families behind them, in exchange for debt-created paper, or credits which could then be used as a cudgel to keep insubordinates in line, through threat of foreclosure, if they rebelled against the system, having been forced into debt.

"LET US ISSUE AND CONTROL THE MONEY OF A NATION AND WE CARE NOT WHO MAKES THE LAWS"

The Illuminates, 1776

"LET US CONTRIVE WARS, IN THE NAME OF PEACE, AND WE CAN ENSLAVE THE WORLD THROUGH THEIR FINANCING AND THE CREATION OF CREDIT"

The Illuminates, 1778

"LET US ADMINISTER AND REGULATE THE TRADE AND EXCHANGE OF THE WORLD THROUGH A CENTRAL SYSTEM AND WE WILL ESTABLISH A SELF-REGULATING AUTHORITY"

The Illuminates, 1778

"LET US ESTABLISH BANKS IN ALL NATIONS SIMILAR TO THE CHARTER OF THE BANK OF ENGLAND, IN WHATEVER FORM SATISFIES THE GULLIBILITY OF THE PEOPLE, AND WE WILL COME TO OWN THE WORLD ARISING OUT OF ITS OWN DEFAULT IN BANKRUPTCY"

The Illuminates, 1780

"All the perplexities, confusion, distress, strife, economic depressions, instabilities, inflation and devaluation experiences of the world arise, not from defects in Constitutions; not from want of honour or virtue in the common people; not from a desire to be selfish or see others suffer, but from downright ignorance of the nature of money, the nature of credit, and the nature of the Private Interests who control and manipulate them."

"Until the privileges and powers of Private Bankers are taken from them, and nations and their people recover that which has been appropriated by them, great fortunes, indentured servants, and exalted elite, demagogues and autocrats in government will remain."

Extracts from a speech given at Texas University, 1920, by Sir
Joseah Stamp, Director of the Bank of England

CHAPTER 2

THE HOLES IN THE SYSTEM ARE ESCAPE HATCHES

The gaps in the "Illuminates" system are:-

- (a) Unexpected national bankruptcies such as those not engineered by the system to break a particular country so that its economy can be taken over on the pretext of default, or obliged to face the alternate of even deeper debt through enforced re-financing; and
- (b) The breakaway of a nation as a deliberate act of independence against which action there was pretext for a war, or the resigned acceptance of one which got away: The stature and marketplace strength of the dissenting nation, by way of economic necessity to the well-being of the merchants' other holdings being the deciding factor.

The pattern of destabilization is:- infiltration, pillage, encumber with debt; foreclosure and annexation—a formula which has been used with devastating effect against nations, industries, businesses and citizens, at their respective levels, by the private banking system, time upon time.

The operations of the International Monetary Fund and the internal banking systems of those countries which are members of the I.M.F. all have as their precept the doctrine of the "Illuminates". They are fronted and operated by private interests, and those private families are indentured to the owners. The private owners are the direct descendants of the "Illuminati" and their recruited elite. Predominantly the Rothschilds and the Rockefellers.

The I.M.F. is controlled by the five major nations: The United States of America, The United Kingdom, Germany, France and Japan. These are the "Voting" countries. All other members are non-effectives yet are entrapped because they are now in debt or beholden to the system one way or another. It is, on the face of it, strange that the five nations were, up to one year before the formation of the I.M.F. in 1946, at war with each other. But as Rothschild and Rockefeller were financing each of them simultaneously at the time, it is not surprising after all. Another war fought in the name of peace!

The five voting nations are dominated by the United States. Each has its banking system operating on the 'reserve' system. Each banking system is operated by private enterprise, as private business, and the controlling proportion of votes in those private businesses are in the possession of either, or Rothschild and Rockefeller via a maze of corporate and "In Trust" holdings fronted by nominees. All the other nation members of the I.M.F. are non-voting participants but, as in the major nations, their banking systems are operated and controlled by private enterprise in the same fashion. These private interests are awarded Charters to be the Fiduciary Agents with the country. The National, or Central Banks of these countries are "advised" and directed by a Committee drawn from the Boards of Directors of the Chartered Banks thus placing Private Bankers in control of National Banks. The Executive Committee of the I.M.F.—the Gnomes of Zurich—is drawn from the private banks in each of the voting countries in such a way that there is a majority vote in the hands of the United States and the United Kingdom as the comptrollers of the gold standard and the sterling bloc respectively. Both these banking systems are owned and operated by the descendants of the "Illuminati" per the Rothschilds in the United Kingdom, and the Rockefellers in the United States. They are inter-related through a network of subsidiary and associate affiliations, and Branch or Agent banks in each others' country. In all, an interwoven power-bloc, but a cabal that is very much more vulnerable than it appears to be on the surface.

As you study this presentation and come to realise the repetitive simplicity of the overall picture, the formula is plain. Relating and correlating the various revelations exposes the history and nature of the conspiracy that is at the bottom of the world's ills, which must be terminated as quickly as possible to make way for a new era of private enterprise and free-trade. Canada is being attacked by the same system but the trap cannot be closed because of the British North America Act.

The doctrines of the "Illuminates", which has come to be a dogma, has to be terminated before it drags the world into destruction with it.

This book reveals the how, when, where, why, what and who of the world economic catastrophe to which there is a practical solution i.e.

- (a) Repudiate the I.M.F.
- (b) Repudiate the Charters of Private Banks
- (c) Withdraw existing paper currency
- (d) Issue a new debt-free currency
- (e) Recover to the Crown all assets of all banks
- (f) Discharge all private bank stockholders
- (g) Institute a totally national banking system
- (h) No "reserve" type debt-money creation
- (i) The only paper or coin to be created or issued must be against true worth for goods and services
- (j) The system of banks being permitted to issue loans in excess of a ratio of 2:1 to be eliminated
- (k) Loans to be issued only against future production—not income
- (l) No diminution of bullion standards to paper or book-keeping standards
- (m) Repudiate and forgive all debts due to and from others
- (n) International trade on a direct 'tit-for-tat' basis. No bankers commissions to be paid whatsoever
- (o) All national currencies, by whatever name called, to be structured on the decimal base
- (p) Re-start the economy on the basis of "What you have, you own". This formula will dispossess no one but the summit level moneychangers.

CHAPTER 3

DEFINITIONS

The following terms and references may be found singularly or collectively; singular or plural; in the text. They allude to specific, or group elements.

A. There are two kinds of money:—

1. Valuable money. Debt-free, constitutional, crown, monarchy or 'real growth' money.
2. Worthless money. Debt-created, credit-based money which is divided as follows:—
 - (a) Currency and credit in circulation for internal and external trade and commerce, in the country where it is created.
 - (b) Printed money used by some nations to pay their way abroad, but which money they will not have back for trade or as investment, if they can avoid it. (The U.S. Federal Reserve is notorious for this).

B. There are four classes of political identification pertaining to money:—

1. Crown, monarchy, imperial, colonialist, tory, conservative, democratic.
2. Bank, corporate, industrial, republican, whig, liberal, revolutionist and federalist; originating and emanating from the Rothschild-Weishaupt doctrine of the 'Illuminates'. This manifests itself in the form of 'federal reserve' money and systems as dogmatized by the I.M.F.
3. State capitalism, public treasury, socialist, nationalist and free-enterprise.
4. State ownership. Communism. State omnipotence with public state servitude.

Generally, number three compliments numbers one and or two but there is a constant conflict in this day and age between numbers one and two for supremacy as to the control of the socio-economic life style of the country in which it thrives.

C. The four classes listed above function tacitly as follows:—

1. Despotism. Nepotism. Ancestral descent. Patronage. Marriage.
2. Nepotism. Indenture. Acquired wealth. Apostacy. Supplication. Patronage. Marriage.
3. Election. Public performance. Adherence. Indenture. Patronage.
4. Survival as the art of endurance against competition based upon number 3.

D. Kinds of banking systems by general classification:—

1. Independant, constitutional, national, royal household, family or groups.
2. Private company, corporate, leverage banks including merchant banks, commodity and money exchanges. Factors; and what are generally known as Trade Banks.
3. Chartered Banks and Trust Companies operating under Crown-granted licenses to be the domestic and foreign commercial bankers of the country in which they are incorporated. All private businesses with private shareholders.

4. Membership or "Peoples" Banks, e.g. Credit Unions, Savings & Loan, and Building Societies in most British Commonwealth countries.
5. Broker banks. e.g. mortgage companies, finance companies. Credit plans which patronize groups 1-4 and then deal with the public by adding a surcharge, either as direct profit and/or for serving as an intermediate covenant.
6. Moneylenders and pawn brokers who thrive on the laws of default and tort.

Bankers in classification 1 prefer to operate on the premise of debt-free money.

Bankers in all other groups operate on whatever premise, dogma or currency is in circulation, just so long as they can turn a profit, or annex an asset. To them, it is a commercial proposition, not a matter of national wealth and integrity.

CHAPTER 4

THE DIE IS CAST

Prior to 1628 the history of money is such that countries and principalities were financed by the Ruler, be it a large kingdom or a small tribe. Revenues were raised by levy or taxation on the production or accumulations of the people within the command of the Ruler and used to support the upkeep of the jurisdiction, the needs of the people to whatever level kept them in line, and to sustain the Ruler in whatever manner he wished to enjoy. Within these territories, traders and merchants flourished and prospered independantly, some amassing great wealth as the result of their enterprise and cunning and who increased their wealth by lending money to others, frequently including the Ruler.

Down the ages some of these merchants, lombards, and families of great wealth have ventured to not only lend their money but to influence and manipulate policies, and politics, to better serve their personal preferences and objectives. A few of these merchants can link back to ancient Biblical times having their roots in antiquity, and can trace back through the scourging of the Temple, Exodus, the Babylonian Empire and the Tribe of Ephraim. It is this connection which appears to recycle its doctrines from time to time, but with subtle changes, that is so appropo of current times and the admonitions of the Bible if it is to be believed as either a historical record or tome on human nature.

As time went by, and as nations and states warred against each other, and wars were costly, the victoricus nation plundered the vanquished people to try and recover their expenses, but, as always, this is negative logic. In increasing their territory they also increased the cost of services and control measures as the inevitable corollary. All this time, the merchants grew wealthier and stronger as it was they who financed or manufactured and supplied the artifacts of war and peace; and money, when the Ruler needed some to create or sustain an economic or social standard.

Eventually, the point was reached for England; as the most powerful country in the world at the time, in the mid seventeenth century, when a small group of supremely wealthy and powerful merchants of Europe were fairly well able to call the shots and arrange things their own way. This they did, by bribe and patronization; or impress because they held a debt over the individual they wished to subjugate. In this way they built up indentured servants who would do their bidding constantly under the threats of coercion or impoverishment. The history of England reflects this only too clearly.

Down the middle ages, Europe, but England in particular, had become impoverished and in debt to the merchants. Yet there were still some wealthy enclaves of debt-free monarchy just as there were countries of power, constitutionally intact but in debt. The merchants engineered many of the wars so that they could finance them and prosper from them. In this way they siphoned off what monies there were in the national treasuries and put the country under obligation to them. A method which has been used, and continues to be used, even to this day, with catastrophic effects.

On or about 1628, a certain handful of powerful merchants of London, Germany and Bavaria consorted together and devised a plan to take over the economic control and treasury of England. They hoped to do it in about ten years but it eventually took a little longer. They planned to control all banking in the country and its empire, to become theirs by direct consent or default. They set their minds and their indentured underlings to usurping the control of parliament from the King and from the people to become a private function at their direction. As a side benefit, they would administer and manipulate the national treasury. Lamentably, they succeeded. It took sixty years, but they did it! Out of their plan was later contrived the concept of "secret world government'' about a hundred years later, and which has since been operated with vitriolic effect.

To accomplish their objective the merchants had to impoverish the constitution of England and confuse the people so that when they made their move to become the saviours and deliverers from the mess, they would be welcomed with open arms, on their own terms. The only way this could be achieved was to instigate a series of wars, including civil war, which they would be called upon to finance. This would get the country into so much debt to them that repayment would be impossible and they would then call their own terms when the country failed to pay them in default.

This precept and concept has since been used in the past three centuries with repeated and salutary success on each occasion. Such nations as Germany, France, Italy, the United States of America, Japan, and numerous smaller nations have all, with calamitous result, fallen victim to the infiltrations, conspiracies and deceptions that have been yoked upon them. Canada is the next designated victim because the merchants covet the unfolding potential of the country in its wealth of minerals and other natural resources.

Perhaps the most important factor, and one of surprise and concern, is that these merchants, now called International Bankers, via their corporate dominance and stock market manipulations, have been allowed to become almost enthroned in Canada. Or is it that the representatives of the people have been so induced and indentured that they fear to do anything other than defend the status quo for the paymaster, and go along with the sedition that is occurring? Greasing the palms is a well-proven method of business.

It is interesting to note the timing and pronouncements issued by the Bankers and stock market via their press releases. Always shortly before they want something, or are about to shaft it to the country or the people, they issue statements which are both positive and negative approaches to the same subject. This causes confusion, or a deceptive impression is given. They like to, of course, create the image that the banks' and the I.M.F. is one of benign friendliness and philanthropy. The tenor is always "Come in, come in, the water is fine. Our terms for a loan are easy and comfortable". It has been successful and worked wonders for them for years, with the borrower, as a citizen or as a nation, being most unsuspecting that the bankers and stock market manipulators can adjust and control events so that, at their whim and discretion, they can let the borrower off the hook; keep him on a treadmill of debt; or box him into default as many suit their intentions.

The new role of the merchants is affectively no different. Subtle changes here and there; up-dated and more sophisticated techniques to hide behind; a fresh exterior under the titles Trilateral, and World Federalism, but no deviation from the preset object of world government via world materialistic direction, ownership and control.

CHAPTER 5

MOTHER SHIPTON'S POEM

Over three hundred years ago, in 1640, Mother Shipton, who lived in England and reputed to be a witch, proclaimed for herself the gift of prediction. She wrote a poem descriptive of events which were to take place in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The poem has been published many times. In view of what has occurred, it merits interest. In the light of current events, the concluding words seem to have a significant ring as well as Biblical support.

PRESENT DAY EVENTS FORECAST IN RHYME BY MOTHER SHIPTON

A carriage without a horse shall go,
Disasters fill the world with woe;
In London, Primrose Hill shall be:
Its centre hold a Bishops' See.
Around the world men's thoughts shall fly
Quick as the twinkling of an eye, and water shall great wonders do:
How Strange, and yet it shall come true.
Thro' tow'ring hills proud men shall ride,
No horse or ass move by his side.
Beneath the water men shall walk, shall ride, shall sleep, shall even talk.
And in the air men shall be seen in marvelous and safe machine.
A great man then shall come and go,
for prophecy declares it so.
In water, iron and stone shall float
as easy as a wooden boat.
Gold shall be found in stream or stone, in land that is, as yet, unknown.
Water and fire shall wonders do:
And England will admit the Jew who will put future "States" in bondage too.
The Jew that once was held in scorn shall of Christians then be born.
A hall of glass shall come to pass in England, but alas, alas!
A war will follow in fifty three where the Turk and Paqan be.
The "States" shall lock in civil strife and seek to take each others life.
Where north shall thus divide the south
the eagle will build in the lions mouth.
Then tax and blood and cruel war shall come to every humble door.
Three times shall lovely sunny France be led to play a bloody dance.
Before her people shall be free,
Three tyrant rulers shall she see,
three rules in succession be,
each sprung from different dynasty.
Then, when the fiercest fight is done
England and France will link as one.

The British olive then shall twine in marriage with the German vine.
Men walk beneath and over streams — fulfilled shall be our strangest dreams —
All England's sons shall plow the land, shall oft be seen with book in hand.
The poor shall now most wisdom know:
And waters wind where corn doth grow.
Great houses stand in far flung vales all covered o'er with snow and hail.
And now a word in uncouth rhyme of what shall be in later time,
for, in those wondrous far off days,
the women shall adopt a craze to dress like men and trousers wear, and shorten all their locks of hair:
They'll ride astride with brazen brow
as witches do on broomsticks now.
Then love shall flaunt and marriage cease and nations wane as babes decrease, but not before the east increase.
And wives will fondle cats and dogs,
and men be looked upon much as hogs.
In nineteen hundred and thirty six build houses light with straw and sticks.
For then shall mighty wars be planned and fire and sword sweep many lands.
But those who live the century through,
in fear and trembling this shall do.
Quakes and tides and new lands be,
and famines many nations see.
Flee to the mountains and the glens for storm shall rage and oceans roar
when Gabriel stands on sea and shore.
And as he blows his wondrous horn
Old Worlds shall die and new be born.

CHAPTER 6

THE TRIAL BALLOON

How it worked in England.

1629—Charles I began personal rule. This provides the merchants with excuse and opportunity to cry foul against the royal prerogative constitution of parliament, and to consort and devise a plan.

The plan was to infiltrate, influence, bribe and patronize those members of the ruling class and court as could be "had" or bought. This started and proved the practice of wining and dining, and patronizing those who were vain, yet it was a relatively easy exercise as the merchants were dealing with direct debtors, or impoverished nobles who had let their family fortunes decline.

1630—These plans take shape, and toll. Always starting in the House of Lords and coursing down the family connections via the aristocracy, squires, gentry and the Commons representatives.

1649—Charles I executed. A long-drawn-out triumph for the merchants. The country became a protectorate, under Oliver Cromwell, as an easy mark for the merchants and their sympathisers.

During the period 1630 - 1649, a series of wars were fostered by the merchants and financed by them, usually both sides at the same time; and led to the establishment of what would later become the "National Debt" in 1694.

1631—France and Sweden versus Germany

1639—Bishops' War. Rebellion in Scotland

1640—Second Bishops' War. Long Parliament begins. Abolition of Royal prerogatives.

1641—Catholics in Ireland inflamed. Massacre Protestants.

1642—Charles I attempts to arrest the Five Members (Pym, Hampden, Holles, Strode and Hesilridge) all of whom are renegades, and have been found out as having indentured themselves to the merchants.
Outbreak of English Civil War.

1643—France versus Spain (England involved on the side).

1648—Second English Civil War. New model army financed by merchants. Defeat of Royalists and Scots. Parliament re-fashioned. First emergence of "Whig" politicians.

1649—England governed as a Protectorate Commonwealth under the direction of merchants, emerging industrialists, military and an appointed House of Commons. Charles I executed.

1651—Cromwell victory absolute. Charles II invades England to try and recapture it for elected, constitutional rule but fails: Flees to France.

1652—England versus Holland. A war fostered by merchants. Lasts two years. Basically an attempt to impoverish the Dutch but it didn't.

1653—Cromwell made Lord Protector. Dissolves Rump Parliament. Becomes more involved with merchants as money needed to administer affairs of state. Monarchy money and connections no longer available.

1655—Major-Generals appointed to supervise districts of England. Required to report on economic status of their command. Cromwell dissolves Parliament and turns to merchants for more financing. Cromwell operates with dictatorial power, but is directed from behind by merchants.

- 1656—England versus Spain.
- 1657—Cromwell covets crown but declines on orders from merchants.
- 1658—Oliver Cromwell dies. Richard Cromwell named as new Protector. People of England start to question things, and suspect merchants.
- 1659—Richard Cromwell resigns. Charles II called upon to return and restore constitutional rule.
- 1660—Restoration of Monarchy. Charles II appalled at debt raised by Cromwell.
- 1661—Bodies of Cromwell, Ireton and Bradshaw exhumed and hung in chains as example. Whig faction infuriated and expose their relationship with merchants. Charles II offers all the opportunity to repudiate merchants and atone. Some refuse. Royalist persecution of Non-conformists.
- 1664—England versus Holland, again. More merchant mischief. Lasts three years. New Amsterdam captured.
- 1666—England versus France. War declared by France at instigation of merchants who, by now, had Louis XIV in their palm, and had commenced their take-over intrigue in France.
- 1667—Princess Mary of England marries William of Orange. Charles II hoped to get Dutch alliance to sweep merchant debt out of England, but failed.
- 1678—Habeus Corpus Act passed. Shaftsbury and Whigs bring pressure to bear on Charles II, concerning mounting debt.
- 1681—Charles II begins to rule with Parliament in attempt to speed up processes; and take executive action to deal with debt. Superb effort, but not enough. William Penn given the grant of U.S. land now known as Pennsylvania.
- 1683—Rye House plot by merchants to topple Charles II. Merchants escape personally but their representatives suffer.
- 1685—Death of Charles II. Succession of James II. James succumbs to the Merchants.
- 1688—William of Orange lands in England. James II abdicates and flees to France.
- 1689—William and Mary proclaimed King and Queen of England as joint crown. Bill of Rights passed.
- 1690—Company of Merchants petition for all monies due to them. England cannot pay cash and refuses to give up Empire holdings. Merchants fear repudiation of their debt by England so propose a solution by having England grant them a Charter to operate a Bank in England — The Rothschild Bank. Tacit agreement reached:—
England has no national debt. Bankers have a formal bank charter to operate parallel to regular constitution and other private banks.
Merchants and Whig sympathizers immediately start campaigns that there should not be two apparent national banking systems in England. This causes furor, confusion and excuse for Merchants to re-try for their objective of a bank and a national debt due to them. Public becomes alarmed, agitated.

bewildered, fearsome of bank and money collapse and disturbed enough to suspect a "foreign" king as the alternate to distrusting their own countrymen leaders.

This provides ideal climate for merchants, whigs and their tolerants to prevail in debate and put through the reasoning that the easiest way out is to give the merchants their bank and let them record in it the debt due to them so that it will be paid to them over a period in the future, instead of heavy taxation now! This was very plausible, and, of course, just what the merchants wanted. But it was not what the King wanted as he could see past the present and into the future it would create. But the gullibility of the people prevailed as the alternate to what could have been another civil uprising.

1691—The plan for the merchants' bank was put forward as follows:—
Whig politicians submit the proposal to Parliament.

1. That the names of those who loaned money to the constitution or governments of past seventy years shall remain a secret. (To this day these names are still an official secret but it is common belief that one was from the Rothschild family; one was from the Weishaupt family; a third was from the House of Mordecai whilst names of Montagu and a few others including "Lords" are thought to be involved.)
2. That the Charter members of the Bank, which shall be called THE BANK OF ENGLAND, be granted the right, for all time, to appoint the Directors. A right which will enure to the Charter members, their successors, assigns and nominees.
3. That the Charter Members, their successors, assigns and nominees be designated and known as the Board of Governors of the Bank of England.
4. That the Directors be granted the right to establish gold as the standard for currency.
5. That the Bank can make loans to the value of Ten Pounds for every One Pound it has on deposit in its vaults by way of paper currency.
6. That the Bank be permitted to consolidate the national debt and secure payments of amounts due as to principal and interest by way of direct taxation or levy upon the people until the national debt is fully discharged.
7. That no Bank, other than the Bank of England, shall be an Agent for the constitutional treasury of England.
8. That no Bank, other than those currently existing, shall be incorporated or chartered except with the approval or participation of the Bank of England.

1693—The "National Debt" of England was calculated and established.

1694—The Bank of England was incorporated and Chartered and put into operation with the "National Debt" due to it as a recorded credit.

1698 Merchants and shipowners co-operate under the system of "Guarantees" paid for by the levy of a premium to the Bank of England, to collectively subscribe and underwrite shipping losses amongst themselves.

This practice later gave way to become a separate institution known as Lloyds of London 1774, and was the forerunner of the insurance industry which, to this day, is inter-connected to the banking industry.

1710—First economic depression in England. First exposure to diminishing purchasing power of debased money. First exposure to structural unemployment.

1733—Second economic depression. First introduction of debt-financing to sustain the economy. Wider unemployment and commencement of industrial unrest.

1734—Monetary system of England tacitly bankrupt. Introduction of "Futures" as allowable basis for credit as an excuse for substantial further introduction of debt-created money.

1755—First runaway inflation. Interest rates high: 4% to 8%!

1759—First structural and economic collapse. First industrial collapse. Interest rates usurious:— 12%.

1762—Advent of Meyer Amschel Rothschild.

1766—Second Pitt administration reconstitutes money. Re-values State and marketplace. Resets British Pound at new par; but makes mistake of leaving accrued National Debt as a liability of the nation still due, and compounding interest to the private owners of the Bank of England.

From 1694 it will be observed that periods of 16, 39, 40, 61 and 63 years are noticeable. The significance of these is revealed on the Table on Page . It is important to note that the second, third, fourth and now the fifth cycle of economic depression, devaluation, inflation and re-structuring in about 60-65 years is a recurring pattern. This is caused by continual adherence to the system which causes the condition. The National Debt has been increased, and has been left as a millstone on each occasion.

The fact that the National Debt has been "sold" to the I.M.F. does not remove the ability of the Parliament of England to repudiate it, and tell the I.M.F. where to stick itself. The next re-structuring of the country must include this move as a mandatory action!

1925—until 1931, which is the period the United States was in its boom-bust contortions, the gold standard was briefly shifted back to Britain as a precaution. Britain was on the gold standard until 1914 which coincided with the commencement of the private, corporate "Federal Reserve" of the United States which went onto the gold standard and shifted Britain onto the silver standard in 1914.

Thus was implanted the private cabal in a position whereby it controlled and manipulated both bullion standards, and therefore able to play a profound part in the performance of commodity, war material, stocks and Bonds markets.

1946—Britain is one of the founding nations in the International Monetary Fund — an organization dominated by the progeny of the founders of the original secret world government concept. Bretton Woods and all that!

The I.M.F. is nothing more, nor anything less than a council of Pharisees. A bunch better known and identified as The Gnomes of Zurich. They are appointed, hand-picked committeemen doing the bidding of the Rothschilds of England, France, Germany, Japan and the United States and the Rockefellers of the United States and their subsidiary holdings throughout the world.

Also in 1946, the Bank of England was 'officially' "Nationalized". As with the Federal Reserve Board in the United States, the "Nationalization" is a sham. Technically, Statutorily and on the face of it, the Bank of England belongs to the state, or the people, but for all practical purposes it is a manipulated organization directed by the same private interests which owned it prior to "Nationalization". The Board of Governors are appointees 'suggested' by the House of Rothschild, and have to be vetted by the Gnomes of Zurich for 'approval' before their appointment is confirmed. Parliament merely ratifies a predilected line of succession.

The Bankers and moneychangers control the parliamentarians, politicians and Civil Service thereby having effective power behind the scenes to influence the selection of the Board of Governors and the policies that the Bank of England will undertake.

Watch must now be kept for the I.M.F. attempting to do at world level what has been done at national level over the last three centuries. No doubt attempt will be made to revise Bretton Woods and introduce a world one-bank one currency system which will be all-powerful, and into which all nations will be induced to join, but have no recourse or option to withdraw once entrapped. This will be the ultimate control, plunder and the emasculation of nations by a private cabal of owners which are the power behind the scenes of the Bank of England, the U.S. Federal Reserve, and the International Monetary Fund.

CONCLUSION

The only way that Britain can alleviate itself from the presence of an everlasting, perpetually increasing and debilitating "National Debt" is to perform the ultimate act that the merchants and bankers fear, which is to repudiate the Charter of the Bank of England, repudiate the Charters of all other banks, pay-off the stockholders, and patriate all the assets and holdings of the banks to the Crown. The next step is to withdraw existing paper currency and issue a new debt-free currency in a re-valued marketplace. Britain must repudiate all debt to others, and forgive all debt from others. And institute a new National Bank, operated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer and responsible to Parliament, operating on a debit basis.

The alternate is to let the country go bankrupt, and let the process take care of itself, except that this would lead to bloody revolution, temporary anarchy and destruction of the Constitution.

The proper constitutional method is due process through Parliament which has the power to rescind all Bank Charters, including the Bank of England, and to create a debt-free currency.

"TO COIN MONEY, REGULATE THE VALUE THEREOF, AND OF FOREIGN COIN, AND FIX THE STANDARDS OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES"

This Constitutional power was (a) abrogated by the Government of England as an undermining of the Crown (People) and awarded to the Governors of the Bank of England in 1694 as part of the wider powers of the Charter and (b) adopted by the United States in Article 1, Section 8, of the Constitution as one of the fundamental issues that had caused separation and independence.

The Government of the United States abrogated this power with the "FEDERAL RESERVE ACT" of 1913.

In both instances, the power to create money and credit was removed from the people and placed in to the hands of private bankers.

CHAPTER 7

THE MOLD IS Poured

In England, at the beginning of the nineteenth century, Meyer Amschel Rothschild used David Ricardo, a noted stockbroker and political economist of kindred faith, to produce a thesis on the "Principles of Political Economy" knowing that it would be accepted because of his status in London. This thesis was designed to supplement the philosophical precept which had been prepared by Goethe and Schiller. Later, Thomas Robert Malthus, an English clergyman and economist, wrote an anti-thesis entitled "The Principles of Population" which espoused that population increase would (a) outstrip the availability of supportive natural resources, and (b) profligate the production of non-essential goods through industrial development, which would create markets whereby non-essential items took precedence over essential items. Malthus' contention was that only disasters such as famine, disease, or the waging of wars as per the doctrine of the "Illuminates" could be looked to as regulating factors — Wars fought in the name of peace!

Under careful re-editing, Rothschild, with the help of a young philosopher named Herbert Spencer of "Survival of the Fittest" fame, was able to correlate all the works of himself, Goethe, Schiller, Adam Smith, Ricardo, Malthus and others who had contributed pro or con to the economic-political dogma of the "Illuminates", and turn these into a composite science plausible enough to be implanted into the Universities to become the education mold. Indoctrination throughout the broad spectrum of the economy, the marketplace, the law-makers and the social strata, at every level, was thus made possible in the following years through the interventions of Meyer Amschels five sons, particularly Nathan in London, and grandson Lionel who became the first Jewish member of the House of Commons. The long-range plans were becoming entrenched — Unchallenged!

The Rothschilds exported their doctrines and science into the Confederate States of America via Jacob Schiff, who is reviewed later in the book, who recruited such personages as Herbert Ward Beecher and William Graham Sumner, and the influence of "Delmonico's" where prestige of membership counted for much more than conscience.

Thus was brought about the presence of the so-called "Capitalist" bloc, so-named in order to deflect the truth which was that, in fact, what had been created was a "corporate" bloc, as a prelude to a megamonopoly era.

The "Corporate" system is manipulated as a captive market. The "Free-Trade" system is a competitive, open market. The difference is quite plain. The word 'capitalist' is a catch-all term used to cause deception.

The entrapment of free-enterprise to be degraded and displaced by corporate arrogance and oppulence were pay-offs the ruthless of the United States marketplace could not resist. Some became tycoons, some settled for Pharisee status, but they were all either willingly or unwittingly trapped into the syndrome of a few rich, many poor; with the rich preferring to keep it that way! In the end, conscience overtook many. They became so-called philanthropists. But if you look closely, what they gave, or still make a show of giving away, is miniscule in comparison to what they hold on to under tax-free Trust and Foundation constitutions.

Notwithstanding the historical distortions induced by writers in the pay of the bankers and the corporate establishments which pervade the educational fields, the so-called grievances of the American Colonies in the eighteenth century were not against King George III or the people of England. These were implanted antipathies, maliciously drummed up as a convenient decoy to cover the bankers' conspiracy, but useable as emotional justification to sustain the philosophies and doctrines which the merchants, and their political minions wanted to invoke and retain in support of continuation of their system.

“Let us do it, then shift the blame on to others either by opportunity or by framing them”, has always been the creed of the Bankers’ and their lobby.

GEORGE III, as the Crown, and the people of England have undeservedly been made out to be the villains and the scapegoats in the minds of Americans. The essence of the matter was, as still is, that the Sovereign (and the people of England) had a deep empathy and sympathy for the plight of the Colonialists but was powerless to intervene at the constitutional level. The constitution was in the control of Parliament, and Parliament was, and still is, in the hands of the Bankers and Merchants. The King was only a figurehead for the people as is the Queen now.

The Bankers have their caps set on discrediting the Sovereign, toppling the Crown, and usurping constitutional control of Parliament from the people as they want to take possession of all constitutional and Crown assets to tuck them away in their own private vaults. They also want to enslave the people. These are things they cannot accomplish whilst the Crown Constitution remains as the right and strength of the people. It is only the existence of the Crown, and peoples’ constitutions which save such countries from being completely taken over and subjugated — bondage style 1984!

England, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Holland, France, Italy, Spain ... in fact anywhere where there is a present or suppressed vestige of Crown Constitution, are all places which are embattled by the Bankers’ I.M.F. And which countries are constantly being attacked and destabilized by way of the marketplace and debasement of their money-systems. The Bankers are tyrannical taskmasters and manipulators. One day, the victim nations of their greed and avarice will wake up, smarten up, and give them the old heave ho!

Be it the “Illuminates”, the Club of Rome, The Trilateralists, The World Federalists or the I.M.F. they all represent the philosophy of world domination whereby the influence and power and wealth is aggregated into the hands of a few, and the peoples of the world are their thralls.

The example of Ancient Isreal, hopefully, from bondage to deliverence and freedom is about to be repeated.

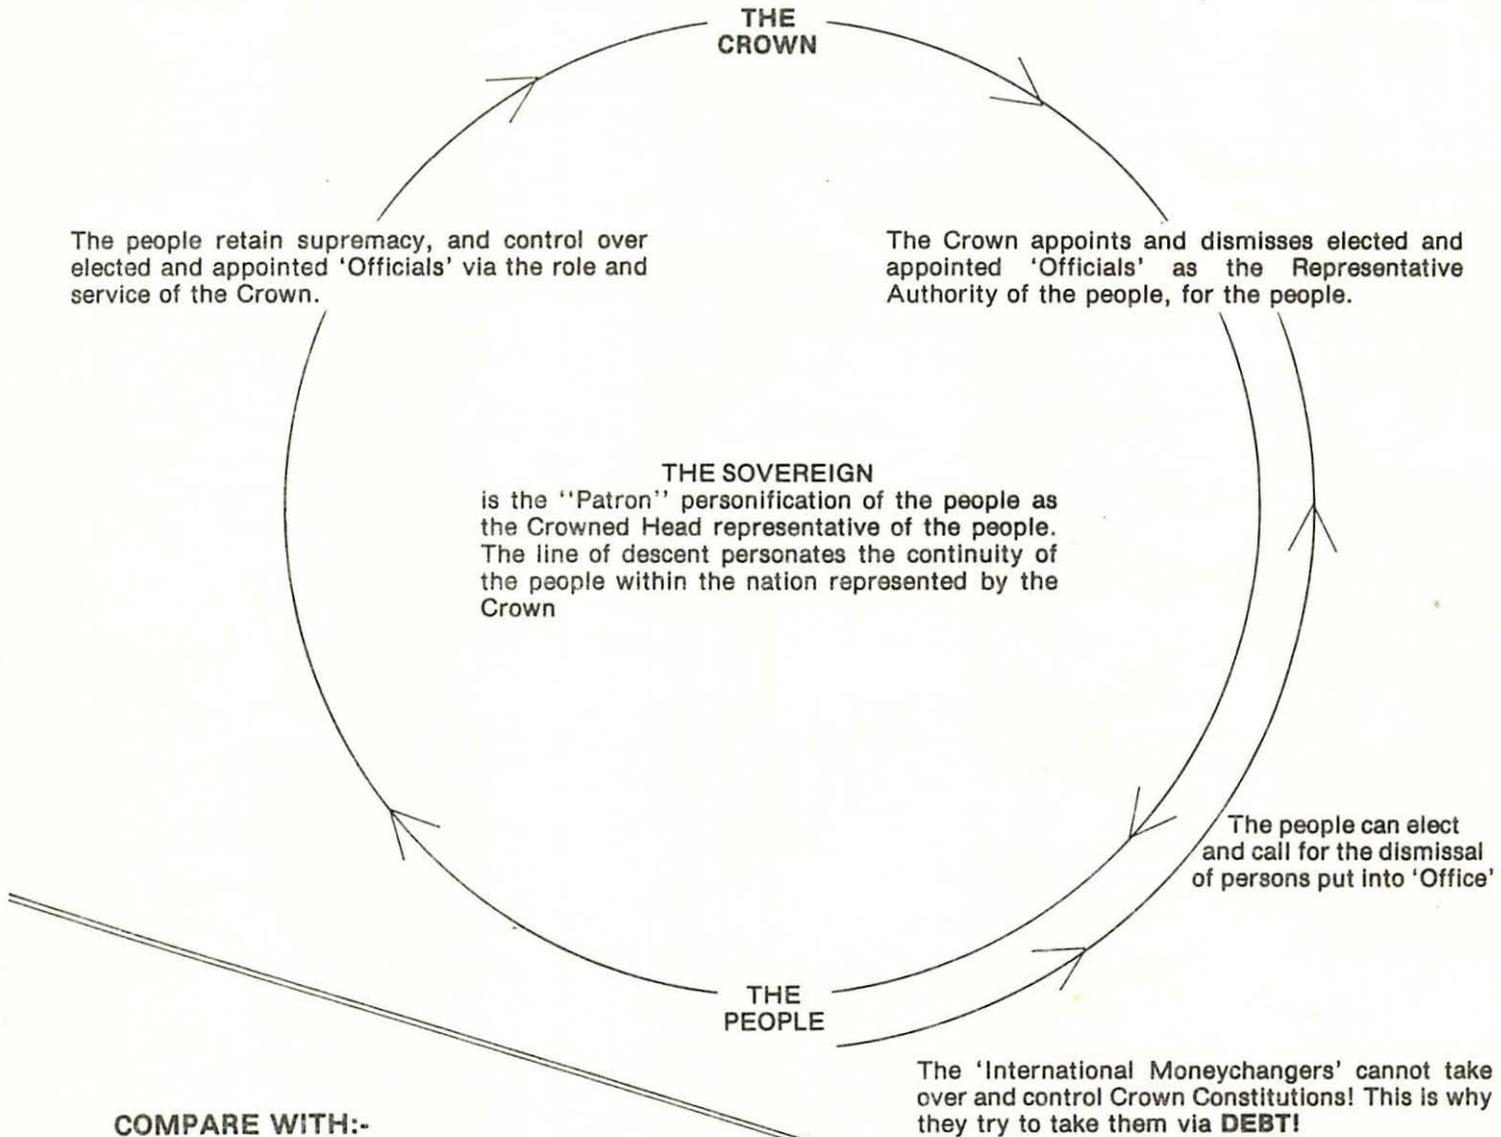

The real objective of all free, and free-thinking men and women is to see Parliament return to being representative power in the hands of the people and in the right of the people, as a Council of probity and integrity. And to see it discontinue acting, as it does now, in the sole interests of the merchants and bankers as the “corporate lobby”. When this does occur, the private bankers will be repudiated; they will be paid off or debunked, and the assets they have misappropriated and the debts they have yoked upon the nation will be removed from them.

Multi-nationalism in trade, but national multiplicity in finance, on a fair exchange basis, will be the ultimate benefit.

CHAPTER 8

A NEW WORLD TO STEAL

How It Worked in the United States of America

In the period 1660 - 1694, the political moves and intrigues in England have been observed from a distance by the Colonialists. The range of wars and the financing of them had not escaped the notice of the leaders of the American colonies but it was decided to await conclusions before making any moves.

With the formation of the Bank of England in 1694, the Colonialists decided to use their own form of debt-free Scrip. This would enable them to keep a record of production and growth of the colonies both as an independent record and to stay away from the debt-created money of England which was worth only two shillings in the Pound (10%) because of the 10:1 loan creation power that had been built into the Charter of the Bank of England.

1699—American Colonies start to use Scrip.

1740—Benjamin Franklin visits England and boasts that Colonial Scrip is worth 100 cents on the dollar and that it was not like the debased English Pound which was only worth 10% of face value.

1741—the Government of England, on direct orders from the Bank of England, instructs the Colonies to cease using Scrip and to use English Pounds.

1742—Immediate depression sets in in the American Colonies causing for the first time, unemployment, inflation, devaluation and hardships.

This sparked grumblings of discontent and the events which built up over the next thirty years to the Declaration of Independence, after having given due warning to the government of England, and the Bank of England both of whom ignored the pleas and over-ruled the King who sympathised with the Colonialists.

1776—Declaration of Independence. Victory for the Colonialists. Canada established as a separate nation at the same time by the United Empire Loyalists.

1812—United States War of Independence. English finally confronted.

As the United Empire Loyalists were, in effect, true monarchists in opposition to the republicans who are separatists, friction grew between them even though both wanted to be free of the debt-money doctrine. By mutual agreement and tolerance, the prior arrangement of 1776, when Canada was formed, became the demarkation line. The Loyalists established Canada to be their own separate country loyal to the Crown of England but not loyal to the Bank of England.

1815—War of Independence won by separatists. This allowed them to establish a debt-free state and operate with debt-free money again. It established a sound nation with Confederate, debt-free currency.

1816—Canada operated on a mix of Trade, Confederate money, and English Pounds but kept tight control of exchange values by ad hoc means.

Commencing as from the moment of the loss of the American Colonies, the merchants and bankers of England put into operation much the same kind of conspiracy that they had put to use between 1629 and 1691; but instead of fostering wars, they used the marketplace as the battleground and cajoled acceptance of the British Pound on the promise that these same Pounds could be used for exchange at 10:1 for the confederate dollar. But it did not disclose that export prices were increased to defraud the American buyer.

At the same time, these bankers commenced a program of infiltration and patronage from the President down through Secretaries of State, and the providing of money and know-how to the growing pride of industrialists who were cropping up all over the country as the covered wagons rolled westward. Eventually they had enough of them in their pocket and were able to promise them power if they could oust the Separatist Establishment which had taken the title of Confederates.

For the roughnecks and ambitious of those days, the challenge and prizes were too much to resist, so the ingredients leading up to the U.S. Civil War were irrevocably implanted. Presidents such as Harrison, Taylor, Philmore, and Pearce, all have their consciences to answer to if not the people of the United States of America.

It was the winning of the Civil War by the Republican forces that decided the fate of the United States and its downward path into the maw of the Rothschild family: The same fate that had befallen England in 1694, and Austria, France, Germany and Italy in the first half of the nineteenth century, and would destroy constitutional America in 1913 with the foisting of the "Federal Reserve Act."

In 1798, Christmas Day to be exact, December 25th, President George Washington issued a statement to the Salem Gazette, in which he warned the people of the new nation of the United States that there was an organization known as the "Illuminates" which was dedicated to secret world government. He was, of course, referring to the unholy trio of Adam Weishaupt, Rabbi Mordecai and Meyer Amschel Rothschild who, in the 1770s became suspected as being the secret descendants of the secret founders of the Charter of the Bank of England — a fact they would never deny! As mentioned, Adam Weishaupt was the descendant of a prominent wealthy family of merchants, and was a Canon Law in the University of Ingolstadt, Bavaria.

Rabbi Mordecai was a descendant of a well known family of Lombards, but the most significant thing about Mordecai is that it later was his grandson who changed his name from Mordecai to Karl Marx, the man who wrote the book on Communism, and was dedicated to bringing about the downfall of the Czars.

Amschel Rothschild (1743 - 1812) was the direct descendent of a long line of Rothschilds who seem to be able to trace their tribe and wealth back to old Biblical days. Meyer Amschel sired five sons who were later set up in Banks patterned much on the Charter of the Bank of England in Vienna, Naples, Paris and London. The House of Rothschild was seated in Frankfurt, Germany. It was Nathan who was set up in London, and it was Nathans son, Lionel (1808 - 1879) who became the first Jewish member of the House of Commons.

The five sons spread their wings, and progeny into banks across the world in finance houses of every description. Banks, Merchant Banks, Insurance, Moneylending and Chartered Banks in the British Empire. They set up a maze of corporations and business activities, and holding companies to screen their assets. They have since woven an intricate pattern of intrigue and conspiracy entwining all the members of the United Nations through the organization known as the International Monetary Fund (I.M.F.) and its sisters the International Monetary Exchange (I.M.E.) and the International Money Market (I.M.M.) The doctrines of the "Illuminates" 1778, are still their basis of approach. The "World Bank" is a parallel owned decoy.

Washington in 1789, said of the "Illuminati" "If their art can be applied to set aside the ordinary maxims of Society and introduce policies of undermining government, and constitutions, whilst keeping its true aims secret or disguised, it must be obvious that such science and society may be perverted to all the ill purposes which have been suspected".

From this it must be assumed that the evil forces were at work and identified even in those early days but what a sad commentary that the warnings were not heeded, AND ARE STILL IGNORED!

President Lincoln was a great man in so many ways, but one of the least talked about and least understood of his achievements was when he refused to bow to the Bankers. Lincoln had more courage and determination than any President ever since when he stood against the Bankers, and he gave his very life for it. President Lincoln, faced with war and a depleted treasury, refused to pay the 26%; yes, twenty-six per cent interest the Bankers demanded to supply the nation with the needed money to fight a useless war: A civil war that had been engineered by the Bankers in the hope of impoverishing the Confederates by bleeding their wealth from them; and in the hope that the Republican government would go into debt to them and thus have to pay interest as well as take direction.

Instead of borrowing from the Bankers, Lincoln went to the Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon P. Chase, and ordered the Treasury to issue $450 million dollars of United States Notes. He paid the war cost with debt-free money. Lincoln's actions angered the Bankers. His assassination followed shortly after.

It is known that Lincoln's Vice-President, Andrew Jackson, and his Secretary of War, Edwin Stanton, were in the pay of the Bankers and deeply concerned in the assassination of Lincoln at the hands of John Wilkes Booth.

Lincoln by-passed the Bankers who expected the government to print $450 million United States Bonds and give them to the Bankers as promissory Notes for $450 million credit in a Rothschild bank. If Lincoln had done this, the United States people at 4% interest on the Bonds would have paid the Bankers by 1975 over $27 billion interest and would still owe the original $450 million capital debt. At 26% interest the total is unimaginable!

The people of the United States are, in fact, paying the Bankers nothing but interest on all money that is in circulation. All the paper money in circulation is worthless. The actual value of the United States of America is the $450 million plus coin — a total of about $5 billion, in real dollars and worth. The Trillions that the country likes to think it is worth is nothing but paper, bookkeeping credits and inflationary devaluation.

The Bankers of the Federal Reserve, which is a private corporation, are printing money, lending the printed money to the government and charging interest on the loans. Not only that, but they are allowed to issue credit loans for up to 30 times the amount of money they have on deposit, if they so desire to, as their own decision.

The Banks of the United States, as present in the private banks of the Federal Reserve, are robbing the people blind, and stealing the assets of the nation in exchange for worthless paper. The same goes for Canada.

Before he died, Lincoln said: "As the result of the Civil War, corporations have been enthroned in lieu of representative government, and an era of corruption in high places will follow. The new money powers of the nation will prolong their reign by working on the unenlightenment and prejudices of the people until the wealth is aggregated into the hands of the few, and which few are connected to the forces of world domination. When they achieve control, within one hundred years, the Republic as we revere it will come to be destroyed. I feel, at this time, more anxiety for the country than ever before, even in the midst of war!"

The foundation of the Federal Reserve, and the present I.M.F., was laid in the years immediately following the Civil War, when the way was made clear through the victory of the Bankers' republican/liberal forces.

It is known that Judah Benjamin, Chief Advisor to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, was a Rothschild Agent. It is also known that there were agents in other Presidents' Cabinets. The only difference was that Lincoln knew who they were, and bluntly rejected them.

Therefore, shortly after the Civil War and the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, a young immigrant named Jacob Schiff arrived in New York. Schiff was the son of a Rabbi from Frankfurt, Germany and is believed to be of the House of Mordecai. At an early age Schiff entered the House of Warburg, a banking house in Hamburg, Germany which is a lower-order House in the Rothschild hierarchy. The Warburgs sent him to London for a short while to work in the firm of Samuel Montagu and Company, gold merchants, where the House of Montagu was another close affiliate of the House of Rothschild. After a short training period, where he learned the ropes and rubbed shoulders with Lionel Rothschild to set up a line of inside communication with London economic politics, Schiff was promoted to the House of Rothschild. He was then ordered to the United States of America.

Jacob Schiff left England with instructions to buy into a banking house which, with the support and infusion of as much money as needed, could be used to penetrate into the money system of the United States. After looking around, Schiff bought a partnership in a firm called Kuhn & Loeb. Kuhn & Loeb were earlier immigrants from Germany who had started in Lafayette, Indiana by servicing the "covered wagon trade" and settlers, and in later years followed up by setting up similar stores in other cities. They expanded and prospered, added pawnbroking to their activities and finally "Money lending". When Schiff bought in they were known by the respectable title of being a "Banking firm."

Shortly after becoming a partner in Kuhn & Loeb, Schiff married Loeb's daughter and then bought out Kuhn. The firm then moved to New York.

Thus we find Jacob H. Schiff, Agent for the House of Rothschild, the absolute owner of Kuhn & Loeb with endless money to back his play.

At this time, Wall street was the accepted heart of the American money mart. J.P. Morgan was its dictator; and next in line of power were the Drexels of Philadelphia.

Schiff played it close. He started to throw a little Rothschild business in the way of Morgan and Drexel in the form of European stocks and bonds. The bait was in the trap.

It was about this time that U.S. industry began to grow. Railroads, mines, oil, steel and textiles. All these needed vast amounts of money to finance them and much of this had to be sought abroad because the Constitutional Treasury would not issue credit against futures. This paved the way for Schiff to have a 'hey day'. Schiff, (Kuhn & Loeb) thus retained the then-emerging Rockefeller oil and Harriman Railroad for himself, but he did not play it greedy. He opened the doors of the House of Rothschild. (Kuhn & Loeb) to Morgan, Biddle, Drexel and others, but only on terms of indenture.

Thus, at the turn of the century, Schiff is to be found having a tight control on the entire banking fraternity of Wall Street on behalf of the same Houses that controlled and manipulated all of the money of the world except Russia.

This situation had a profound affect on the ability later for Paul M. Warburg to hoax the American people by swindling them out of their rightful heritage under the constitution to manage and control their own money via Congress. Constitutional monetry controls were supplanted by the privately owned Federal Reserve.

The same is occuring in Canada in the late 1970's via the Canadian "Bank Act" and Bankers' Association which is endeavouring to implant a similar system over Canadians in place of the Crown Constitutional Central Bank of Canada.

There was, in America, a long tradition of resistance against inflicting a central private banking system on the finances of the country, and there had been, until 1896, a continuous struggle against authoritarian domination of the nations finances and resources. It had begun with Jefferson in his fight against Alexander Hamilton's scheme for the First Bank of the United States. It had continued with Andrew Jackson's successful struggle against Nicholas Biddle's Second Bank of the United States. Biddle had been backed by James Rothschild of Paris, one of the international bankers. This struggle ended up in the setting up of the independant sub-treasury system which supposedly kept the United States out of the hands of the great private bankers. But it all collapsed with the defeat of William Jennings Bryan's silver crusade.

Because the United States funds were in the sub-treasury system, the bankers deliberately engineered and precipitated the money panics of 1873, 1893, and 1907, causing widespread suffering throughout the country and arousing the public to demand that Congress enact legislation to prevent the recurrence of artificially inspired money panics.

In 1907, the National Monetry Commission was appointed by Congress in response to public feeling against big bankers after the artificial panic of that year. Senator Nelson Aldrich was its head. He was a millionaire several times over, and was tied up with the Rubber Trust and the Tobacco Trust. This was a fine man to have as the head of a Congressional Committee that had been set up to offer legislation to get the power of money out of the hands of a few, and return it to the people!?!?

Senator Aldrich and his Commission spent nearly two years jaunting around Europe at the U.S. peoples' expense. They spent more than $300,000 of public money at that time. They met all the so-called "important" European Financiers of the day, but in fact met only a closely knit few. They came back to solve all the problems: Having been "advised" by the Rothschilds!

On November 22, 1910 a group of men met together at Hoboken, New Jersey railway station.

First to arrive was Senator Aldrich along with A Piatt Andrew, professional economist and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Reporters from most New York daily newspapers were present, but they failed to get a story.

Aldrich entered his private car at the end of the train, and the shades were immediately drawn over the windows. Next to enter the private car was Frank Vanderlip, President of the National Bank of New York, the most powerful bank in the country, representing the Rockefeller oil interests and the railroads systems owned by the banking house of Kuhn & Loeb.

Kuhn & Loeb was the same bank charged, in 1898, with urging the United States to go to war with Spain. Whether the charge was right or not, the National City Bank came out of the Spanish-American War as the proprietor of Cuba's sugar industry.

With Vanderlip was Henry P. Davidson, senior partner of J.P. Morgan Co., and shortly to arrive was Charles D. Norton, President of Morgan's First National Bank of New York. Mr. Vanderlip declared to reporters that they were only going away for a quiet week-end in the country.

These men controlled the oil, railroads, communications, heavy industry, labour and banking of the United States of American and embodied Lincoln's premonition of Corporate Enthronement; and future corporate internationalism.

The next figure to appear was not well-known. He was Paul Moritz Warburg, a German immigrant who had been in the U.S. less than eight years, but was already a partner in the banking house of Kuhn & Loeb and who, in less than twenty years, was to achieve an unchallenged domination over the entire country. Paul Warburg, upon entering the country, spent much of his time writing and lecturing on the doctrines he stood for on the subject of money reform.

With Warburg was Benjamin Strong, an able lieutenant of J.P. Morgan.

J.P. Morgan and Kuhn & Loeb had formed an alliance in 1901, known as the Northern Securities Company. This company consolidated the Rothschild empire in America to which has been added and added anything and everything it can come by.

J.P. Morgan was the banker who swindled the United States government during the Civil War by selling to the Union army, from a federal arsenal, carbines which the army had already condemned. The whole affair, as with the backgrounds of the other tycoons, is thoroughly documented in Gustavus Myer's "History of the Great American Fortunes".

The group on the train went to Jekyll Island, Georgia to hide in the Jekyll Hunt Club owned by J.P. Morgan and a small elite club of New York bankers.

Why all the secrecy? Why this thousand mile trip in a closed railway car? This was the group that wrote the banking and currency legislation which the National Monetary Commission had been ordered to prepare.

Paul Warburg was charged with doing most of the drafting and planning. Senator Nelson Aldrich was there to see that it came out in the form that could be sidled through Congress. The other Bankers were there to offer suggestions, but mostly out of polite patronage.

Out of this meeting, which lasted almost two weeks, came the FEDERAL RESERVE ACT of 1913 which was signed by President Woodrow Wilson, and foisted on the American people as a terrible Christmas Present when they were not looking.

"LET US ISSUE AND CONTROL THE MONEY OF A NATION AND WE CARE NOT WHO MAKES THE LAWS" A quote from the House of Rothschild, via the "Illuminates".

What a postscript, and what a conspiracy!

CHAPTER 9

PIPELINE OF PLUNDER

Creation of the Federal Reserve

Let us now review the manifestation of the "Illuminates" system as patent in the United States Federal Reserve system of handling money. Remember that at the back of it is the epitome of the admonition that, since time began, men can be bribed or blackmailed into carrying out the wishes of a few.

In 1913, the Bankers had the people of the United States completely confused on matters of money. The nation was on the edge of tremendous industrial growth with people everywhere willing to work to build a great country. The international bankers, up to 1913, had pretty well controlled the economy since 1901, but had never tried to take over completely because they knew the country had too many patriots who would rise up and block them.

So began the program of brainwashing and engineered confusion in 1910 to lead the people into believing that the only way to have a stable economy, without depressions and runs on money, was to turn over the absolute control of money to an all-powerful organization. Arising from this the international bankers were able to beguile Congress into passing the FEDERAL RESERVE ACT. Neither the United States government or the people own one red cent piece of the Federal Reserve or the Twelve Federal Reserve Banks.

Although it is a private corporation, it is quite easy to see how it managed to get the "Official" sounding name, "Federal Reserve". It was misrepresented that it was a function of government. What was not revealed was that the Federal Reserve is a private corporation and that the peoples' taxes were to be paid to the corporation and not to the government treasury of the United States. The term "Agency" was used out of context. The Federal Reserve, like the Bank of England, has been awarded the right to be the treasury of the country, and to displace the constitutional treasury.

To make things appear to be a little more respectable, and to snow-job those who look too closely, some devious and intricate manoeuvres have been carried out to make it appear that the Federal Reserve now belongs to the people. This is a hoax. Adroit manipulation and hidden controls exist to retain the ultimate command in private hands. The Federal Reserve is still commanded and used for the private gain of the private families which are behind the scenes, via a network of remote-control devices, and, of course, control of the stock exchanges, bond markets and money-exchange rates in the free world.

A well-drilled line of front and second line indentured, apostate and supplicant nominees, industrialists, statesmen, politicians, and commercial bankers are kept elite to form the "Establishment" that protects the "House" behind the scenes. Rothschild or Rockefeller? What is in a name? Both are synonymous.

The Federal Reserve system was organized in 1914. As constituted in 1960 the system comprised as follows:—

1. The Board of Governors.
2. The Twelve Federal Reserve Banks.
3. The Federal Open Market committee.
4. The Federal Advisory Council.
5. The Member Banks.

the Board of Governors is composed of seven members. Their appointment is made by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate. They are appointed for a period of fourteen years. This Board orders the operations of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks. It's offices are in Washington, D.C. The appointees are finally approved by the House of Rothschild.

Although unofficial, these appointments are carefully screened before any official nominations are put forward. The influential money-men of the nation are consulted, along with Gnomes of Zurich who front for the "House". It is tacitly conceded that only men with credentials of indenture to the system, who can be ruined if the system collapses, will be elected.

Each of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks serves a district comprising several States or parts of States. Each is a private corporation. The stockholders are the member banks within the district. But these member banks are non-voting participants who have no say as to decisions and proceedings. They do as they are told. They are subject to eviction if they dissent or do not go along with the dictates handed down to them from above. Naturally, as they hold their power and personal wealth courtesy of the higher power, they obey and perform as instructed, and are well-paid accordingly. The Federal Open Market Committee comprises the seven members of the Federal Reserve Board plus five representatives from the twelve Federal Reserve Banks. In this way majority voting control is retained. This Committee directs the open market operations of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks, that is, it purchases the sale of U.S. Government Securities and other Instruments of Obligation available in the open market such as Stocks, Debentures, State and Municipal Bonds, etc. The main purpose of these operations is to adjust the basis of bank credit so that there is ample to meet the needs of the country. These twelve can call for the printing of money if there is a shortage to meet demand. This ensures that the marketplace always appears to be in good shape, and inflation be damned!

The Federal Reserve Council consists of twelve members, one from each of the twelve Federal Reserve Banks selected annually on a rotation basis. The appointee is usually drawn from the slate of directors of the Bank. The Council meets in Washington at least four times per annum. It confers with the Board of Governors on general business conditions and makes suggestions and recommendations regarding the affairs of the Federal Reserve System, but its proposals are purely advisory and carry no weight.

In a nut shell, the organizational structure of the Federal Reserve system is effectively that of a closed corporation. A private corporation in which the owners of the voting stock are the be-all-end-all of everything that goes on.

The visible masters of the system are the Seven Board of Governors. Behind them are the real masters of the United States of America — The I.M.F. and the Rothschild-Rockefeller cabal.

The bonded indebtedness of the United States in 1913, at the time the Federal Reserve Act was passed was less than $10 billion. This was entered onto the books of the Federal Reserve as a debt due to them from the country. Today, the total indebtedness to the Federal Reserve (1975) is in excess of $700,000,000,000 — or approximately $2,400 per person — as "National Debt" and in excess of $2,000,000,000,000 in private debts from citizens and businesses. Remember England, 1694?

The amount of debt-free money in circulation is about $5 billion and the amount of paper currency in circulation is about $65 billion. The balance of the debts are mere bookkeeping entries. The Bankers are collecting interest on "scotch mist"!

Every bond issued by the Government should represent true value and growth as related to the production and gross national product of the country but the government has been induced, at times, to issue Bonds which have not been backed by tangible worth. These bonds have often been used to make overseas payments. These Bonds or Treasury Notes are not permitted to be repaid or reinvested back in the United States because they will upset the control manipulated internally by the Federal Open Market Committee. The United States pays its way abroad with valueless money. Eurodollars for example, and investments in Canada through credits granted to C.B.A. Banks.

Every Bond issued by the U.S. Government, State or Municipality is mandatorily purchased by the Federal Reserve. The Federal Reserve pays for these Bonds merely by giving the Government a credit in the books of the Federal Reserve Bank chosen to handle the issue. Sometimes issues are split and divided between several Banks. This, in effect, is creating money without even printing it, and in total adds to the debt-created money at large.

From this, you will see that the Federal Reserve, a Private Organization, creates money out of thin air, lends it to the Government, or the people, and collects interest on the loan, and because of its powers to create credit for up to 30:1 on the amount it has on its books at any given time, is able to snowball the hoax and fraud at an accelerating pace.

It is a staggering realization, yet this same system is a re-enactment of the system that brought Britain to its knees, France to its knees, and countless other countries the world over. Canada is to be the next victim via the C.B.A. at the hands of the I.M.F. and the Federal Reserve.

The I.M.F. operates the same system but at international level.

Because of the Federal Reserve system, the entire output and wealth of the country and the people is delivered as an outright gift to them, in exchange for nothing. A privately owned, private corporation steals the people and the country because they, the people and the peoples elected representatives, are too lazy, too stupid or too mesmerized to do anything about it!

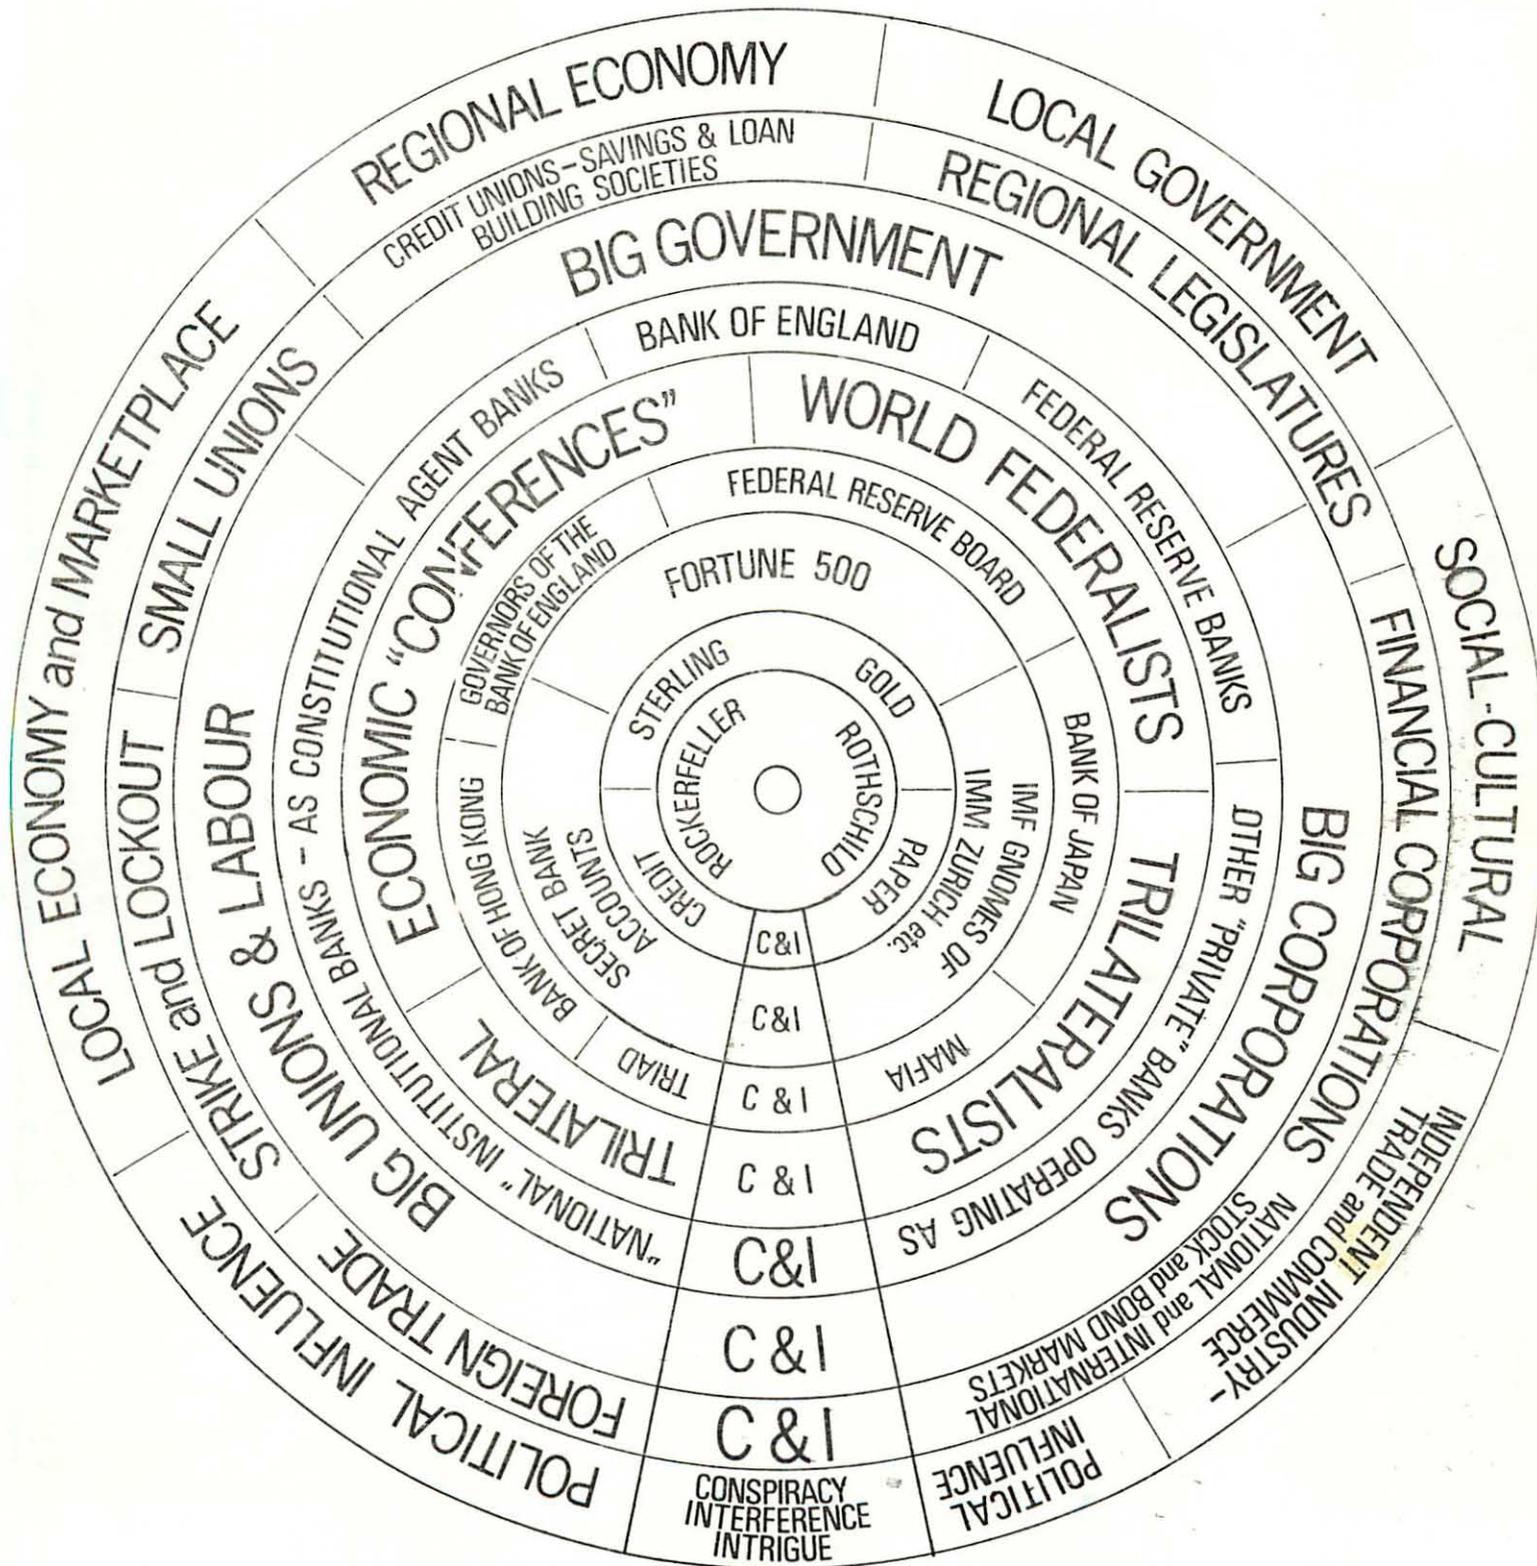

Whilst the United States has Republican Governments, and Democrats elected with Republican money, nothing will ever be done, of course, as this political group owes its existence and fortunes to the Federal Reserve System and sustaining the fraud. But Democrats and nationalists are a different breed. It is a bigger struggle between titans, and just as poignant today as in the days before the Civil War. Credit or debit financing?

The only way the United States of America can alleviate itself from the presence of an everlasting, perpetually increasing "National Debt" is to perform the long-overdue act of repealing the Federal Reserve Act, and return the Treasury to Constitutional control through Congress. It should then follow the same solutions advocated for England as in Chapter 6.

If all loans in the western world were repaid to the private bankers, no one and no nation would have a cent of savings, and no bank deposits. There would not be a dollar in circulation. This is a staggering thought. We in Canada, the Americans, the English, the Japanese, the Australians and many others would be without money and still owe more than ever can be repaid, even if we pawned everything we had, because the money system we live under is etherial. This applies to all and everyone, without exception. It is the result of giving up Constitutional Control of our Treasuries, and awarding money creation rights to private families. On top of all this, the monetary system we suffer ourselves to live under is absolutely without viable and trustworthy substance. When one grasps the enormity of all this, the tragic absurdity of it is dumbfounding. However have we allowed ourselves to be hoaxed and hoodwinked?

Yet we are One Day away from putting an end to it.

THE BANKING CAMARILLA IS THE MOST IMPORTANT SUBJECT INTELLIGENT PERSONS CAN INVESTIGATE AND REFLECT UPON. IT IS SO IMPORTANT THAT OUR PRESENT CULTURE AND CIVILIZATION WILL COLLAPSE UNLESS SOMETHING IS DONE TO RESCUE OURSELVES FROM IT. THE TIME IS AT HAND WHEN THE I.M.F. MUST BE REPUDIATED AND ALL INTERNATIONAL DEBTS CANCELLED. A NEW SYSTEM OF NATIONAL BANKS, OWNED BY THE NATION AND OPERATED BY THE MINISTER OF FINANCE ON A CONSTITUTIONAL BASIS BY, FOR AND ON BEHALF OF THE NATION AND ITS PEOPLE MUST BE INSTITUTED, AND ALL NATIONS RE-START THEIR ECONOMIES FROM PAR, CALCULATING UPON AN AGREED STANDARD OF VALUATION. A return to private-enterprise, free trade, and a marketplace devoid of private bankers can be developed. All assets and holding of private banks to be repatriated from them, and all private debts to them to be cancelled as well. Bank stockholders to be repaid by the State. And all nations to issue new, debt-free currencies.

The centre of domination from which flows, downward and outward, the influence and direction of world economics and politics.

Conversely: Interacting, concentric but ever-decreasing circles which are pivoted around, and disappear in the R.R.'s hole.

CHAPTER 10

THE CHASE CONNECTION

Contrary to popular belief, and a misconception adroitly never corrected by the moneychangers, the Chase Manhattan Bank is not named after Salmon P. Chase, the Secretary of the Treasury in Lincoln's Cabinet.

The Chase Manhattan Bank is named after SEAN CHASE, a ribald immigrant from Ireland in 1845. On arrival in New York, Chase quickly sized up the licentiousness of the times, and deftly set about using the ways and situations to cash in on the rush to head west. He was befriended by a wealthy Madame at one of his regular places of visitation who, when she died, left him owning three bawdy houses, a distillery, and enough money to finance him into moneylending. Sean Chase was an aspirant social climber, but could never make the grade because of his background and activities. He was shunned by uptown society.

Perhaps his biggest impact and consequence upon the destiny of the United States was his joining of Tammany Hall. Here he quickly became a Boss to organize his fellow countrymen and others. He found them jobs, lent them money at usurious rates, and indentured them on terms which called for a cut from their wages, or a piece of the action if they were self-employed. He also got into the press-gang racket as an additional source for making money.

The Chase Bank, like Kuhn & Loeb before it, mushroomed from being a usury house on the seamy side of town to become a 'respectable' banking house under the emergence of his son, Charles, in later years. Sean Chase was determined to find a route into the upper crust, even at the expense of he and his son appearing to disown each other until the right moment occurred. Sean paid Charles' way through college, University and membership in the right clubs and marriage into the Rockefeller family, keeping in the nether background all the while. Charles, for his part, put it out that he was sponsored by a distant relative, hinting of Salmon P., and often denied his connection and relationship to Sean if ever the subject was mooted or suspected.

It was Charley Chase the First who attracted the attention of Jacob Schiff. Schiff could see a smart Harvard graduate, and a coldly efficient legal brain that could be put to use for his purpose of grasp and empire building for the House of Rothschild, for which he was the Agent. He took Charles under his wing, and installed him in the prestigious law firm which was the legal centre of Schiff' activities. When the association had evolved sufficiently for Schiff not to be able to unload him, and because by now he was entrenched in marriage to the Rockefellers, the connection between Charley and Sean was made known. This rocked Schiff a little, but as it brought a ready-made banking house that reached into the rackets and the Labour strongholds, he decided he may not have gotten a bad bargain, after all, so he grinned to himself, and promptly set to work to make use of the gain.

From this moment on, it was the Chase Bank acceptance of Kuhn & Loeb money, as brother bankers, which snaffued them into the orbit of the House of Rothschild, next in line after the Morgan/Rockefeller First National system that was already in the Schiff fold. The marriage between Miss Rockefeller and Chase consolidated the holdings of these two sub-cultures, also under the auspices of Schiff. Thus was brought about the establishment of the second largest banking house of Wall Street, at the time.

As Charley Chase I was a lawyer, in the firm that catered to Schiff, Kuhn & Loeb and the other Rothschild holdings, it was an easy matter to set up a concomitant relationship for the Chase connection.

Within five years both Sean and Charles lost their independence and autonomy. Both were subservient collaborators to Schiff, and were obliged, though not at all reluctant, to do much of the money-market dirty work that brought about the artificial money panics of 1873, 1893 and 1907. Charles set and stoked the fires of distrust and confusion which created the tenor for acceptance of the National Monetary Commission of 1907: And it was Charles who contributed much to the vice-like grip that was clamped on Wall Street between 1908 and 1913 when the Federal Reserve Act was slipped in on the American people, on December 23rd, whilst they prepared for Christmas, unaware of the treachery that had been knifed to them. Chase also contributed equally to the imposition of the "Volstead Act" which became law, finally, in 1920 but a fait-accompli in 1917. Chase, of course, was well rewarded for his efforts, and earned rank in the hierarchy. But it must never be forgotten that it was the Chase connection which delivered organized labour, body and soul, into the hands of Rockefeller and Schiff, and were major contributors to the creation of the Federal Reserve cabal.

As stated, the Chase Bank was founded on graft, booze, sin, impress and crime. It accomplished its meteoric climb as the result of following these policies, marriage, and Rothschild money by way of indenture, patronage and encouragement.

To have all this class of action contained within one shell, as an apparent arms-length vehicle, suited Schiff very well. It was a bonus on a platter. To this day, the Chase Manhattan Bank is still the free-wheeling banking link, funnel, tunnel, basket and laundry as the mixmaster between Labour, the Federal Reserve Board, the Underworld, the Government, and the I.M.F. for money creamed off from the U.S. marketplace, and the American people.

Following the advent of Jacob Schiff, the indenturing of Morgan, Drexel, Biddle, Rockefeller and Chase et al, Kuhn & Loeb set about structuring the Rothschild empire in the U.S.A. It was Schiff's prime duty as the official Agent for the House of Rothschild. The master company, or holding company, was to be not less than 51% owned and controlled by direct holdings or indirect nominees, and the remainder was to go to the "100 CLUB" being the top 100 families of prestige, power, influence and wealth in finance, government, industry and trade. Although 51% was the minimum, 66% was the target. The entity formed was named Northern Securities Company, following the idiom of Cie du Nord in France.

The Command of the House of Rothschild, as personified in Jacob Schiff, and suborned in the personages of Morgan, Rockefeller, Roosevelt, Vanderbilt, Vanderlip, Chase, Biddle and all the others that comprised the "UNHOLY 100 CLUB" has been the cattle-prod of control in the U.S.A. ever since its inception in 1901. It epitomised the principles of "Corporate Control", and took as its precept the philosophies and doctrines of the earlier "Illuminatis".

Ruthless preparation for the future entrapment and plunder of U.S. production, wealth and power, as planned for so long, could now begin!

The Chase Bank provided the convenient vehicle that could be used to two-time America, and flim-flam the peoples' representatives.

Charles Chase I, sired a son, also named Charles, whom we will refer to as Charley Chase II. Grandson Chase was later assigned a critical role in the early 1920's but we will come to that in due course.

In the latter part of the nineteenth century, the Chase family was ordered to become allied with the cause of Carry Nation and her prohibition band wagon. It was a worthy idea, but like so many good causes was quickly to become exploited and siezed upon to turn a political and marketplace trick or two. Shortly after gathering steam, it was turned into a contrived campaign. The ladies got lots of money and wholeheartedly went for the emotional and altruistic ideals, but they never suspected or knew of the backroom gamesmanship. The whole affair was hyped up by Jacob Schiff, Rockefeller and Chase as a ruse to force the many wealthy, independant brewery and distillery owners to enjoining them in the "UNHOLY 100 CLUB", or be compelled to sell out cheap at a later date if they were stubborn; or be put out of business and into bankruptcy if they placed pride and integrity ahead of the Rothschild demands. Chase put his tongue in his cheek, and to hell with hypocrisy! Even if it took thirty years, the prize was well worth seeking.

Similar reviews were made of Farming, Fuel, Transportation, Communication, Resources and Manufacturing, not to mention the independant, wealthy family banks.

With the passing of Carry Nation in 1911, it took almost another seven years to get the prohibition game wrapped up. But it was not until this was a sinecure, from 1917 onward, that the plans to perpetrate the total conspiracy could be unleashed. The "Volstead Act" was the signal. If you recall, the farmers, the private bankers, the energy producers and industrialists were forced into mortal combat between 1920 and 1923, and the remnants were mopped up in 1929 when the market crash was contrived. These families had to enjoin the cartels being set up and receive their non-voting, profit bearing shares; sell out cheap; or go under. And this is what they variously did.

The "100 CLUB" swelled to become the "FORTUNE 500 CLUB", and the rest went into subservience or oblivion.

In 1904, as Jacob Schiff was becoming an older man, the House of Rothschild sent over Paul Moritz Warburg to become their replacement Agent. He was to learn the ropes, wriggle himself into place, and await his succession. This came in 1920 with the death of the Schiff, even though he, Warburg, was the effective controller from the time of his arrival. His initial triumph was the Federal Reserve Act of 1913, but his later exploits were just as seditious.

As the outcome of the "Volstead Act" rum running became a profitable business. However, it had to be bank-rolled. The money came in suitcases produced by Warburg and Rockefeller, but the bank used was the Chase Bank. The front man was Charley Chase II who became the publics' bogey man. The money was churned out on the printing presses of the Federal Reserve with gay abandon without any reference back to, or approval from Government. The Federal Reserve Board had, by now, settled in since 1914, and had no opposition from government or the independant bankers. The only thing the people of America saw was more and more money in circulation, which was just great, and gave them blase prestige abroad. The dollar was almighty, valuable or valueless! !

The poor minions caught in the process of rum running were simply disowned, and thrown into prison or killed as expendable foot soldiers in the army. If they were high ranking 'officers' they were extricated from the due process of law, pensioned off, and told to stay out of the way and keep quiet.

But there was a problem. The small time hoods who had entered into the rackets ahead of 1920 were a cause for alarm. Too many were in the games. Too many were insolent, or insubordinate to orders passed down to them, and some were taking off with too much of the profit that was to be made. Something had to be done.

With the administration of Wilson effectively secured, but his usefulness wearing a bit thin, he had to be removed and another more subservient puppet installed as President. Warren Harding was the right man, in the right circumstances, and right-dim-wit past whom they could get anything that Warburg and Rockefeller wanted. Beginning in 1919, elected in 1920 and inaugurated in 1921, Harding took the heat for two years then died in office under the strain of too much Warburg and too many wenches. He had a penchant for Broadway actresses and nymphomaniac chorus girls, readily supplied to his suite in the Waldorf Astoria, in exchange for his signature on Bills and Orders.

Taft delivered the U.S. Treasury and banking system to the Rothschild Federal Reserve. Wilson played the double game for the Warburgs and the Duponts. Harding surrendered the marketplace and the independent wealth of the nation, and later F.D.R., Eisenhower and Nixon were all to pay for their election in dubious ways. Strangely, the next one to pay may be Carter who, like F.D.R., is a Democrat, but who has been financed into office with Republican money. Carter and his Vice-President Mondale are both members of the Rothschild-Rockefeller Trilateral Commission formed in 1972 as the modern day incarnation of the former "Illuminates".

The Trilateral Commission is the subject of another Chapter, but it is fitting to insert a quick note here. It was sponsored by Baron Edmond de Rothschild in 1972 and is controlled by him. It is fronted in the United States by Rockefeller. It is composed of heads of corporate clout, media control, labour bosses, industrial princes, and apostate politicians from around the world in a kind of "Yes-man" chorus, carrying out the emerging, or "Rapprochement" plays that the Rothschild family is engaged in whereby to re-establish its influence and re-check its inventory of holdings after the contrived crashes which will occur before 1979. The relations of the Trilateral Commission are: the World Federalists, the Club of Rome, the Gnomes of Zurich, the European Common Market, the Gold Market, the Silver Market, the Stocks and Bond markets of Exchange, the International Monetary Market, the International Monetary Fund, the Bank of England as the sterling bloc comptroller, and the U.S. Federal Reserve as the Gold Standard comptroller, the majority of Chartered Banks and other financial Institutions, the Underworld, and the Swiss secret numbered bank account system. These are the more prominent connections! The lower-order affiliates such as the Canadian Bankers Association, Savings & Loan Associations, Investment Dealers, and so forth are simply too numerous to tabulate on a world-wide basis.

The I.M.F. and the I.M.M. are the agencies which can make, break, manipulate, up-value or de-value nations' currencies against each other, with impunity, without accountability, and at their whim. This is done under the instructions of the Gnomes of Zurich who take their orders from House of Rothschild via N.M. Rothschild & Sons and Rothschild Continuation, both of London.

With Labour, Banks, Resources, Produce, Energy, Fuel, Raw Materials, Communications and Transportation, and big industry in the bag by the early 1920's, the only unharnessed monopoly was crime. Somehow this had to be annexed, but how? Hand had to be kept on the mechanisms of control, and the till, but without it being seen by the people. Prying had to be prevented if anyone got suspicious and started looking under the stones.

It was decided that the Vote and control must remain with Warburg and Chase/Rockefeller as the Agent and Nominees respectively for the House of Rothschild and the side-kicks. It was also recognized that some pay-off mechanism would have to be provided for the others of the Federal Reserve Board, Government and the FORTUNE 500 who were in on the action. As usual, the "Corporate Principle" would be used. The core of 'owners' holding all the voting shares as common shares, and the remainder having the nonvoting shares to represent their proportions. The whole thing would be screened by being buried in a "Trust". Again, as usual, R & R Inc. (Rothschild and Rockefeller) were to grab off 66% and the remaining 34% would go the rest. Again, as usual, the rest would put up the front and expense money, and R & R Inc. would get a free ride.

HOW IT WORKED

Up to 1923, the Mafiosi was not in the U.S.A. To this day it is still not in the U.S.A. as a direct arm of the Mafiosi, per se. The American underworld was permitted to borrow the name as part of the deal to camouflage what was really to take place. The U.S. underworld is an independant and separate regime having nothing to do with the real Mafiosi. The name Mafiosi was commuted to "Mafia" and the additional name "Cosa Nostra" was added to increase the confusion.

It was also decided, as part of the system, to own and prosper from the underworld in a manner that evaded taxes. Furthermore, it would have to appear that it was a regime imported as a clandestine invasion along with the influx of Italian immigrants in the mid 1920's. It was a plausible and well-timed ruse, and a way to shuck off or disown blame.

Thus, Charley Chase II was treated to a holiday in Italy in 1923. Whilst there, he made an innocuous trip on the side where he had been assigned a meeting with the Grand Don of the Mafiosi in Sicily. On this trip a deal was made. But Charley II never knew that his visit had all been pre-cut and dried before he arrived. Via the Warburg — Rothschild connection, advance arrangements had been made with the Grand Don. However, Chase came back to collect the approbation of his peers feeling he had made a great contribution to the grand conspiracy. He was never disillusioned.

In the deal, the Grand Don was to assign an able Lieutenant to be set up in the U.S.A. as the Head Don to develop the North American Continent, including Canada, Cuba and Mexico. In return the Grand Don would receive a cut from all moneys creamed off by the underworld which reached the pockets of the Rothschild Rockefeller cabal. His cut would be delivered via a secret numbered bank account in Switzerland or Lichtenstein. The Swiss branch of the Chase Bank would be the funnel, for a commission! The U.S. Don and his senior Staff Officers were assured immunity from harrassment, prosecution and taxation, guaranteed by the Federal Reserve Board which controlled the Treasury; the Government which controlled the Federal and State Attorneys-General; and the State legislative bodies which were in the palms of the Federal Reserve Bankers. Any action against senior persons would be, at the most, superficial to assauge public concern and scrutiny, but always procrastinated into being dropped or pigeon-holed before any hurt, expose or incarceration could be experienced. The protection racket was installed at the very top level and defended by high-priced lawyers and segments of the Supreme Court.

In 1924, the Underworld was "officially" instituted as an "Establishment" regime. Haste was made to open up the network of activities right across the country, with side lines into Canada as a future plum to be picked when ripe.

But as the network spread, those who were in ahead of time go rather uppity and made a stand. Underworld war broke out, and only subsided when those who could be bought off were paid out, and those who held out were gunned down or immobilized by the F.B.I. which had been created to track down the dissidents and protect the "Establishment" underworld. But there was another snag.

As the network spread, and the rake-off became visible to the hired hands, the elements of double-cross and the interloping of free-spirit, enterprising, independant, home-grown hoods and renegades crept into the picture to challenge the establishment regime. This had not been bargained for at all.

The moneychangers had not reckoned on having opened a Pandora's Box. But they had: So they had to move accordingly. These para-culture underworlds had to be contended with, combatted and destroyed. As always, the first try was to buy them off, the second move was to try and force them into cheap submission, and the last action was elimination. Bullets or cement shoes were optional!

Thus came about the F.B.I. under J. Edgar Hoover to be supplemented in later years by the I.R.S., C.I.A., and other secret police agencies to spy on each other as they became embroiled in the plays and double-crosses that went on at all levels. Gang warfare was the flip side of the coin whereby the establishment regime had its own methods of operating alongside the visible forces of the law as used by the "Feds".

By and large, the Federal Reservists opened up a can of worms, many of which got away, and they have been trying to round them up ever since.

Basically, the Mafia, with the aid and succour of the Federal Reserve Banks and paid puppets in Government and Administration, keep things pretty well under their thumb, but still experience naive upstarts who have no concept of the background and history; dissidents, interlopers, and headstrong subordinates who feel they can horn in or make off with a piece of the action on the side. Thus the situation is down to being a series of running skirmishes, annoying but manageable!

The faceless, clandestine route set up via the Chase Manhattan Bank, and the numbered secret Swiss Bank accounts enables money to be spirited out of the U.S.A. in an illegal manner but which is protected by the self-same people who make and operate the law. The production of the people, as channeled into the rackets, is siphoned off through underworld suction pumps, many of which are now 'legitimate' businesses. They have been set up with laundered money. The skimmed money is sent to the numbered Swiss accounts where it is divided up according to the proportion due to each participant. The Grand Don receives his royalty. The Rothschilds grab off their chunk. Rockefeller gets his kick-back, and the remaining 34% reaches the rest of the cronies in the game.

All this money is outside the orbit of the U.S. Treasury, the U.S. Tax Collector and the jurisdiction of Congress as Congress gave up its rights and powers to control money and taxes with the Federal Reserve Act, 1913. Yet these moneys come back into the U.S.A. as 'lawful' 'foreign' investment, approved by the Federal Reserve and I.M.F., and a blind eye in Congress.

The U.S. Underworld is owned by the same private people and nominees who own the I.M.M. and the I.M.F. the Federal Reserve Board and the twelve major Federal Reserve Banks. They also 'own' the rights to the U.S. Treasury and the U.S. Tax Department. They regulate the supply of money to themselves, and control the law-makers, the Labour Unions, and all other key functions in the operation of the nation.

The "CORPORATE SYSTEM" is different to the "FREE-TRADE SYSTEM" is different to the "SOCIALIST SYSTEM" in the same way that Bella Donna is different to a Rose is different to a Lemon.

By their "corporate system" the Rothschilds and Rockefellers have the means to prevent government ever receiving enough money to be able to service the interest, let alone pay off the capital of the "National Debt". The result is that accelerating debt and compounding interest has to be endured. The money obtained is delivered by the only supplier in town, the Federal Reserve. Up goes the amount of money in circulation; up goes the per capita debt; up goes the amount that has to be paid in interest to the private moneylenders; and up goes the rate of inflation and devaluation. Bursting point is inevitable!

To add insult to injury, the 'debt' created is not even real. No tangible value has been received by the nation or the people. It is nothing more than a bookkeeping entry in a ledger, or a quire of printed paper! These moneychangers are receiving interest and capital gains on something that never existed in the first place! And compound interest on compounded interest.

If the people of the United States but realised it, they are the victims of a cruel hoax and conspiracy. The same fraud that they are inflicting upon Canada and other nations right at this very minute. In time, if not stopped and thrown out, Rothschild, via the I.M.F., will come to own the U.S.A. in default by way of foreclosure, a circumstance the United States will find hard to escape because it has allowed the Corporate System to become enthroned and has not got a Crown Constitution. In England and Canada the right is still in the hands of the people. In the United States the right is in the hands of the Federal Reserve Board, which will not destroy itself!

Up to 55% of the United States Gross National Product, and 60% of money printed goes into the hands of the underworld and on to secret bank accounts. The remainder goes into the economy to be spread around legitimate industry commerce and the people, even so, the bulk of this remainder finishes up in the coffers of the same moneychangers as they own and control all consumer supply goods and services. The small savings left behind in the possession of an individual are miniscule pickings in comparison. But surprisingly, this 1% in the hands of the public is somehow sufficient to keep the lid on things.

Legal or illegally, the people of the united States are being stripped naked and skinned. And Canada is predestined for the same fate within but a few short months, at the hands of the U.S.A.

The cabal is forcing nations to execute each other in rotation, not realising that as each one becomes the executioner it is the next one to be executed. It is a macabre policy but has been successful for over three hundred years and is a proven formula. The latest golden-haired boy is no more safe, in the end, than the first hapless victim. Rothschild, I.M.F. or Hitler, the only difference is finesse.

If you have ever wondered why Switzerland and Lichtenstein are allowed to remain neutral, unharmed, and the secret numbered bank account centres of the world, now you know! It is the protected meeting place, and melting pot of the moneychangers. it is the place where the devil takes care of his own.

CHAPTER 11

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

One of the main selling points that the bankers used to get the Federal Reserve Act passed: AND THE SAME ARGUMENT IS BEING TOUTED TODAY BY THE I.M.F. AT WORLD LEVEL, AND IN CANADA AT LOCAL LEVEL was that if they had control of money we would have no more depressions. Yet after the great depression of 1929-1934 Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President of America said "We, the men here assembled, knew the depression was coming, but we did nothing about it." We have seen a repeat of this in Canada in the past decade, and nothing being done about it except leadership into the abyss.

Within four years of the passing of the Federal Reserve Act in 1913, the U.S. had been involved in the First World War and was in the grip of an absolute troika dictatorship. Heavy industry was under the dictatorship of Wall Street gambler Bernard Baruch: Food and agriculture was under the dictatorship of a London Exchange gold manipulator — Herbert Hoover, (J. Edgar Hoover was the F.B.I.,) who had not been a resident of the country for twenty years prior to his appointment by Woodrow Wilson: and Finance was under the dictatorship of Paul Moritz Warburg who was none other than the Chairman of the private Federal Reserve Board of Governors. His allegiance was to the family House of Warburg (M.M. Warburg & Co.) Hamburg, Germany, and the domo House of Rothschild. Daddy Warbucks was THE AGENT and the others were sub-agents. This ought to make you think! M.M Warburg & Co. was between 1914 and 1919 financing the Germans against Britain and the United States, and Paul Warburgs firm of Kuhn & Loeb had five representatives in the Treasury Department of the U.S.A. in charge of Liberty Loans, thus financing the war against the Germans!!!!

In a preface written for a group of Warburgs essays calling for a central banking system, Professor E.R.A. Seligman, of the Department of Economics at Columbia University, said "The Federal Reserve Act is the work of Mr. Warburg more than of any other man in the country". What does that tell you?

The Federal Reserve was ballyhoo as the peoples' plan. It promised the people everything. It promised to liberate the farmer from his yearly need for credit to get his crops seeded, harvested and sent to market. According to the "Act" he could get plenty of credit at the Reserve Bank. The National Granges refused to endorse it, pointing out that its control mechanisms were not likely to benefit anybody but the bankers, and this was proven when the Federal Reserve caused the Agricultural Depression of 1920-1921.

Another benefit of the F.R.A., it was claimed, was that it would stabilize the monetary system and monetary unit and give the dollar a consistent and balanced purchasing power. The Federal Reserve Act, as signed by Woodrow Wilson, contained no such stabilization mechanisms, but it did contain plenty of factors which would make stabilization impossible. Its manipulation of the discount rate to vary the amount of money in circulation, and its open market operations, dumping quantities of Government Securities on the Stock Exchanges, or withholding them to create expansion or contraction, were the conditions directly responsible for the great crash of 1929-31. And the formula for use later by the I.M.F. the I.M.M and the Trilateral Commission, 1946-1977.

Whilst some effort has been made since to introduce regulating mechanisms, the measures introduced still leave loop-holes through which the Federal Reserve can retreat or pop out from according to whether it wants a bull or bear market, and from behind which it can manipulate if retrenchment or defensive measures are necessary. It is a self-regulating, self-governing autocracy.

In the past few years, especially since 1973, the Federal Reserve, its masters the I.M.F., and the countries which it affects, have been forced into piecemeal measures and actions to try and re-inforce the fabric of their crumbling economies as they know that if bankruptcy occurs they lose all that has been taken over the years.

As said before, Bankers get rich from wars: the First World War was started in 1914. The Federal Reserve started in 1914. The American taxpayers in the guise of the Federal Reserve lent the Allies $25 billion which has not been repaid, except as to interest to the New York Bankers. The U.S. was forced into war against the Germans, The Duponts doubled the price of gunpowder to the government the day war was declared.

By sending shiploads of munitions to Europe, the Germans had an excuse to sink the Lusitania, which is exactly what the Warburgs had planned. This enabled Kuhn & Loeb to cash in on the American side, and the Warburgs to cash in on the German side. The pay-offs to industrialists such as Dodge, Remington, Winchester, Krupp, Messerschmidt etc. were the real reason for the war. The lives lost were incidental.

The same kind of tack took place in World War II, Korea and Vietnam, but let us review a spicy little footnote. The following United States Naval Secret Service Report of December 12, 1918 on Mr. Paul M. Warburg stated: Warburg, Paul, New York City, German, naturalised American citizen 1911, was decorated by Kaiser 1912, was vice chairman of Federal Reserve Board, handled large sums furnished by Germany for Lenin and Trotsky. Has brother who is leader of espionage system in Germany. Family member of M.M. Warburg Co., financiers, Hamburg, Germany.

The Federal Reserve system began purchasing Russian gold in 1920, and Russian currency was accepted on Exchanges. According to Ely Garrison, in his autobiography, and according to U.S. Naval Intelligence on Paul Warburg, the Russian Revolution was financed by Rothschild via the Marxists, with a member of the Warburg family carrying the funds which had to be used to buy back the revolution from Trotsky in Stockholm in 1917-1918. In other words, they had financed both sides, the winner, and the winner's winner in the usual fashion of playing all ends to the middle.

During the First World War years, a great deal of money had reached the hands of the farmers, private bankers and industrialists in the central U.S. Most of these independent banks refused to join the Federal Reserve system. This money then was outside the hands of the Wall Street cabal which wanted it back! That is why the Agricultural Depression of 1921 was engineered. The main task of the Federal Reserve Board was to break these small country farmers and bankers and get back the money which had been paid out to them during the wars years. In effect, ruin them, and this it proceeded to do.

Senator Robert L. Owen, Chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee testified at the Senate Silver Hearings in 1939 that "in the early part of 1920, the farmers were exceedingly prosperous. They were paying off their mortgages and buying lots of land, at the instance of the government. They borrowed money to do it. Then they were suddenly bankrupted by a sudden contraction of money and credit, at the whim of the Federal Reserve Board."

The independent bankers went broke right alongside the farmers, because they not only loaned money to the farmers but had also been buying land with the money they got from the Federal Reserve. Since that time, and example, it has been impossible for the bankers to fight the Federal Reserve. Inducing borrowers into debt and then calling the loan thereby 'cutting them off at the pass' has been a bankers game-plan for years!

When Franklin D. Roosevelt took office as President, he appointed as Director of the Budget, James Paul Warburg, son of Paul M. Warburg, and vice president of the International Acceptance Bank, and other corporations. Roosevelt set up the Securities Exchange Commission to see to it that no new faces got into the Wall Street Group, and at a Congressional hearing, Representative Gifford asked Leon Henderson from the Federal Reserve: "Was not Joe Kennedy (the father of President Kennedy) put in the Commission because he was sympathetic to big business?" Mr. Henderson replied "Yes".

Remember that President John F. Kennedy campaigned on the promise that he would pick up where Roosevelt left off!! But he opted out of that promise later when he fully realized the hoax and con game that it represented. He was dead a few days later.

The U.S. Banking Act of 1935 greatly increased Roosevelt's power over the nations finances. First of all, it extended the term of office of the Federal Reserve Board Governors to 14 years. It also stripped all powers from the Officers and directors of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks. The 1935 amendments placed all of the powers into the hands of the Board of Governors and the Open Market Committee, thus narrowing but increasing the base of autocratic control. This effectively brought behind the scenes power and control back to the President who was the front man for the real powers-behind-the-scenes, yet which powers-behind-the-scenes were the appointers of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve.

During the period 1942 - 1945 the Federal Reserve increased its holdings of U.S. Securities by $22 billion. In three short war years it had doubled its assets. At the same time, the Government went into debt $250 million to the Federal Reserve, who did nothing but enter credits in a ledger! Do you still wonder why we have seen three major wars and two depressions and rotating recessions since the Federal Reserve was created? The recession in 1976 augers to be the penultimate one which will bring on collapse of the system. No doubt some astute trick such as the debasement of bullion and a shift to a pure paper standard will be performed to buy time at the last minute, but it will only be a postponement of the inevitable when nations wake up to the fact that they are suckers to a paper tiger.

Without doubt, the conspiracies of the Bank of England, the Federal Reserve and the I.M.F. are the most sinister, evil hoaxes and frauds that have ever been put into operation in the saga of man. Millions of souls have been killed, maimed, duped, impoverished or robbed of their heritage, assets and production for no other reason than to make a handful of private bankers richer.

Do you now see the vast power that the Federal Reserve in the United States, and the Chartered Bank in Canada have over us? Yet it is a power that can be taken away from them in one session of Congress, or one sitting of Parliament.

Banks, both reserve and commercial, are constantly buying and selling on the open market: Securities, Investments, Instruments of Obligation; Treasury Notes; Stocks; Bonds and Promissory Notes are all within their scope. The Canadian banks are constantly bringing in foreign money so that they can make loans to businesses and private individuals.

Industry is not of government, Industry predestines the government in that it might operate in a climate of law and order: Therefore, the Government is an agency of industry set up for the protection of industry in the marketplace and not for the people or the consumer: Specifically it shelters the special interest of bankers.

Do you still wonder why and how Rockefeller and other multi-national corporations and the rest of the gang in on the conspiracy so generously donate millions of dollars to all left wing causes, whilst keeping a wary eye on right wing proponents! It pays them to keep the pot stirred up!!

CHAPTER 12

INCEST

It is not fully realized that some Canadian Bankers and Politicians are willing and or naive, unsuspecting pawns in the hands of the United States Federal Reserve which is an organization of private autonomy, unsupervised, omnipotent, and non-accountable for its actions; and which includes in its relations the F.B.I., the C.I.A., the I.R.S., a more senior deity — the I.M.F. and the ultimate command committee, the Trilateral Commission.

The Trilateral Commission is the present-day manifestation of the former "Illuminates" and is an organization that is just as secretive. It was convened in 1972 under the personal sponsorship of Baron Edmond de Rothschild of France, and enjoined by David Rockefeller of the United States. Simultaneously, Rothschild brought in the U.K. arm of the family under the guise of "Rapprochement" which is supposed to be a form of reconciliation within the family. What in fact "rapprochement" amounts to is a cover for the re-assertion of power and dominance that the family intends to flex as soon as possible after 1979. The acts of infiltration, patronage, de-stabilization and engineered downfall that are being perpetrated internationally by the I.M.F. are being carried out as per the original Master Plan of two-centuries ago, with the co-operative consent, or under pressure, through the governments and banking systems of the hapless nation being attacked. Including Canada!

That the policies of the Trilateral Commission are well-disguised stratagems is obvious. It is curiously hushed up. A strange tactic if everything is benign and above board? It is obvious that the media has been gotten to as there are never any reports of the meetings, policies or decisions. What little does filter out is quickly suppressed, or countered by statements of "good intentions" (for who?) on the part of the Commission and its members. But it is well to remember the old adage that the road to hell is also paved with "good intentions"! International summit meetings are disguised Trilateral meetings.

The Trilateral Commission has as incestual relatives the World Federalists, the Club of Rome, the European Common Market, the I.M.M., the I.M.F. and the banking systems of over a hundred nations. They are a concomitant camarilla of conspiracy and plunder.

The Trilateral Commission is just as secret, but more powerful, as the original "Illuminates". Its members, about 130 in number, are drawn from the central core of owners and the representatives of victim nations who sit with the overlords in a circumstance of sheer patronage. The role of each subordinate member is to receive instruction and indoctrination, be vested with political or social status, then act as implants in the national 'establishment' of their own country to be points of influence and consultation. Their duty is to function as did Andrew Johnson and Edwin Stanton in Lincoln's Cabinet, and Judah Benjamin in the Administration of Jefferson Davis: But with clout! The "Jacob Schiff", "Nelson Aldrich" and "Paul Warburg" for Canada have yet to emerge, but it is fair to suppose that a major corporate personality, a former finance minister, and a shrinking violet politician have already had the nod, and will receive their appointment as the golden haired boys.

It is evident that there is a mixed range of representation from Canada in the Trilateral Commission drawn from the critical sectors of the economy. Energy, Unions, Media and Political personages are all to be found in the hierarchy. In this way there is co-ordination and influence at the top to course down and regulate action, or suppression, as may be required.

That such an organization exists is a fact. But it is adroitly kept to ground. However its presence is felt in everyday life, and can be summed up by borrowing a phrase from the late General Charles de Gaul: - "Vive les banques, libre!" and in the high offices of Labour. Incest is there, but kept well hidden. The surface confrontation between these two is a stage charade. It is merely to keep public attention on other things whilst the moneychangers grab off the Canadian constitution and the Bank of Canada.

When the impact of this message is digested, the extent of the International banking conspiracy becomes obvious. It correlates the I.M.F., the Trilateral Commission, the Canadian Bankers Association, and the Canadian Labour Congress. The tenet of the "Illuminates" has not been changed. It is still with us but up-dated in keeping with the times.

When you stop and think, analyse and evaluate, there is no option but to conclude that just as $1 + 1 = 2$ the aversions of the Trilateral Commission and the Banking Conspiracy combine to reveal a single cell that is incestuously inter-locked. They are but the same thing, with different facades.

Canada is marked as one of the next victims to be annexed. This will be done by subverting the British North America Act and substituting a new constitution which will pave the way for "corporate republicanism", together with a new "Bank Act" which will pave the way for the establishment of a full "Federal Reserve-type Act" and banking system. These will be the first steps:- the Debasement of Canadian money, a new "Bank Act" and a new Constitution, in that order.

With these accomplished, the next moves are to merge Canada to become the next ten States of the U.S.A. and the C.B.A. to become the 13th Federal Reserve Bank, enslaved to a worthless paper currency standard.

Canadian sovereignty is at stake. Only Canadian members of parliament can save it.

Where is the spirit of '76 ... 1776 that is ... Canadian style!

Black Friday, June 1, 1956 was the real start of the conspiracy to entrap Canada. What date will it be halted, and atoned?

Canadian independence is still retainable, even if the country has to experience de-federalization as we now know it, perhaps a new type of Confederation has to emerge composed of Commonwealth regions each with its own administration but co-adjutating still under the umbrella of Monarchical democracy, or similar kind of Protective Peoples' Constitution.

Beguiled, and in obeisance to the plebian side of human nature, the political representatives of Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States of America, and other countries where "Crown" constitutions or democratic peoples' governments still exist, or have been extirpated over the past three hundred years, but are participants in the cabal of the International Monetary Fund, are acceding to planned fraud and entrapment. The politicians and mandarin administrators of all these nations are misguided, and culpably liable for sustaining an execrable system which induces economic destabilization, distrust, suppression and police state conditions.

The dogma imposed with arrogant profligation is manifest through the vehicle known as the "Bretton Woods Agreements." The Twenty-four Protocols of Zion are adhered to, and submitted to in abject supplication. The policies and instructions handed down by the inner "Masters of the Lodges", under the superscription of an omnipotent directorate, are conceded without challenge or precognition of moral turpitude.

Apathy is rampant, cowardice or ignorance inherent: Yet all that is required to expunge and escape further subservience and foreclosure under this dissolute situation is to turn and face the Moneychangers instead of prostrating before them in homage or in fear of being dispossessed.

The TRILATERAL COMMISSION is the modern-day incarnation of attempt at world conquest through world government. It springs from antiquity, manifest down the ages and identified as Pharisees, Lombards, Illuminates, Elders and the current Rothschild-Rockefeller camarilla of Anno Domini history.

The doctrines, or "Protocols", revered by the Moneychangers in their credo and apostation claim that economic despotism, including the right to create and control money and credit, is their divine right protected to them as an inheritance. This claim of divinity is cloaked in the veil of deception that it is evinced in a son of God yet to appear. It is never conceded, however, that this son of God has indeed already appeared and is the son who fell from Grace: The son who made fraud and deception a game to be indulged.

The Deity of the Moneychangers is exposed as being Lucifer, the son of God who appeared at the same time as Jesus, in the guise of His tempter and detractor. "Lucifer", as a name, means 'light'. Hence the title used by the conspirators to enslave mankind of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries in the identity the "Illuminates" — The group personified as Rothschild, Mordecai, Weishaupt, Goethe and Schiller. The identity now used, in the late twentieth century, is "TRILATERAL". The significance of this is not yet fully understood, or resisted but must come to be! Was it not Jesus who upturned the tables of the moneychangers in the Temple, and decry that they desecrated His Father's House by turning it into a den of thieves? For the word 'house' substitute 'world'.

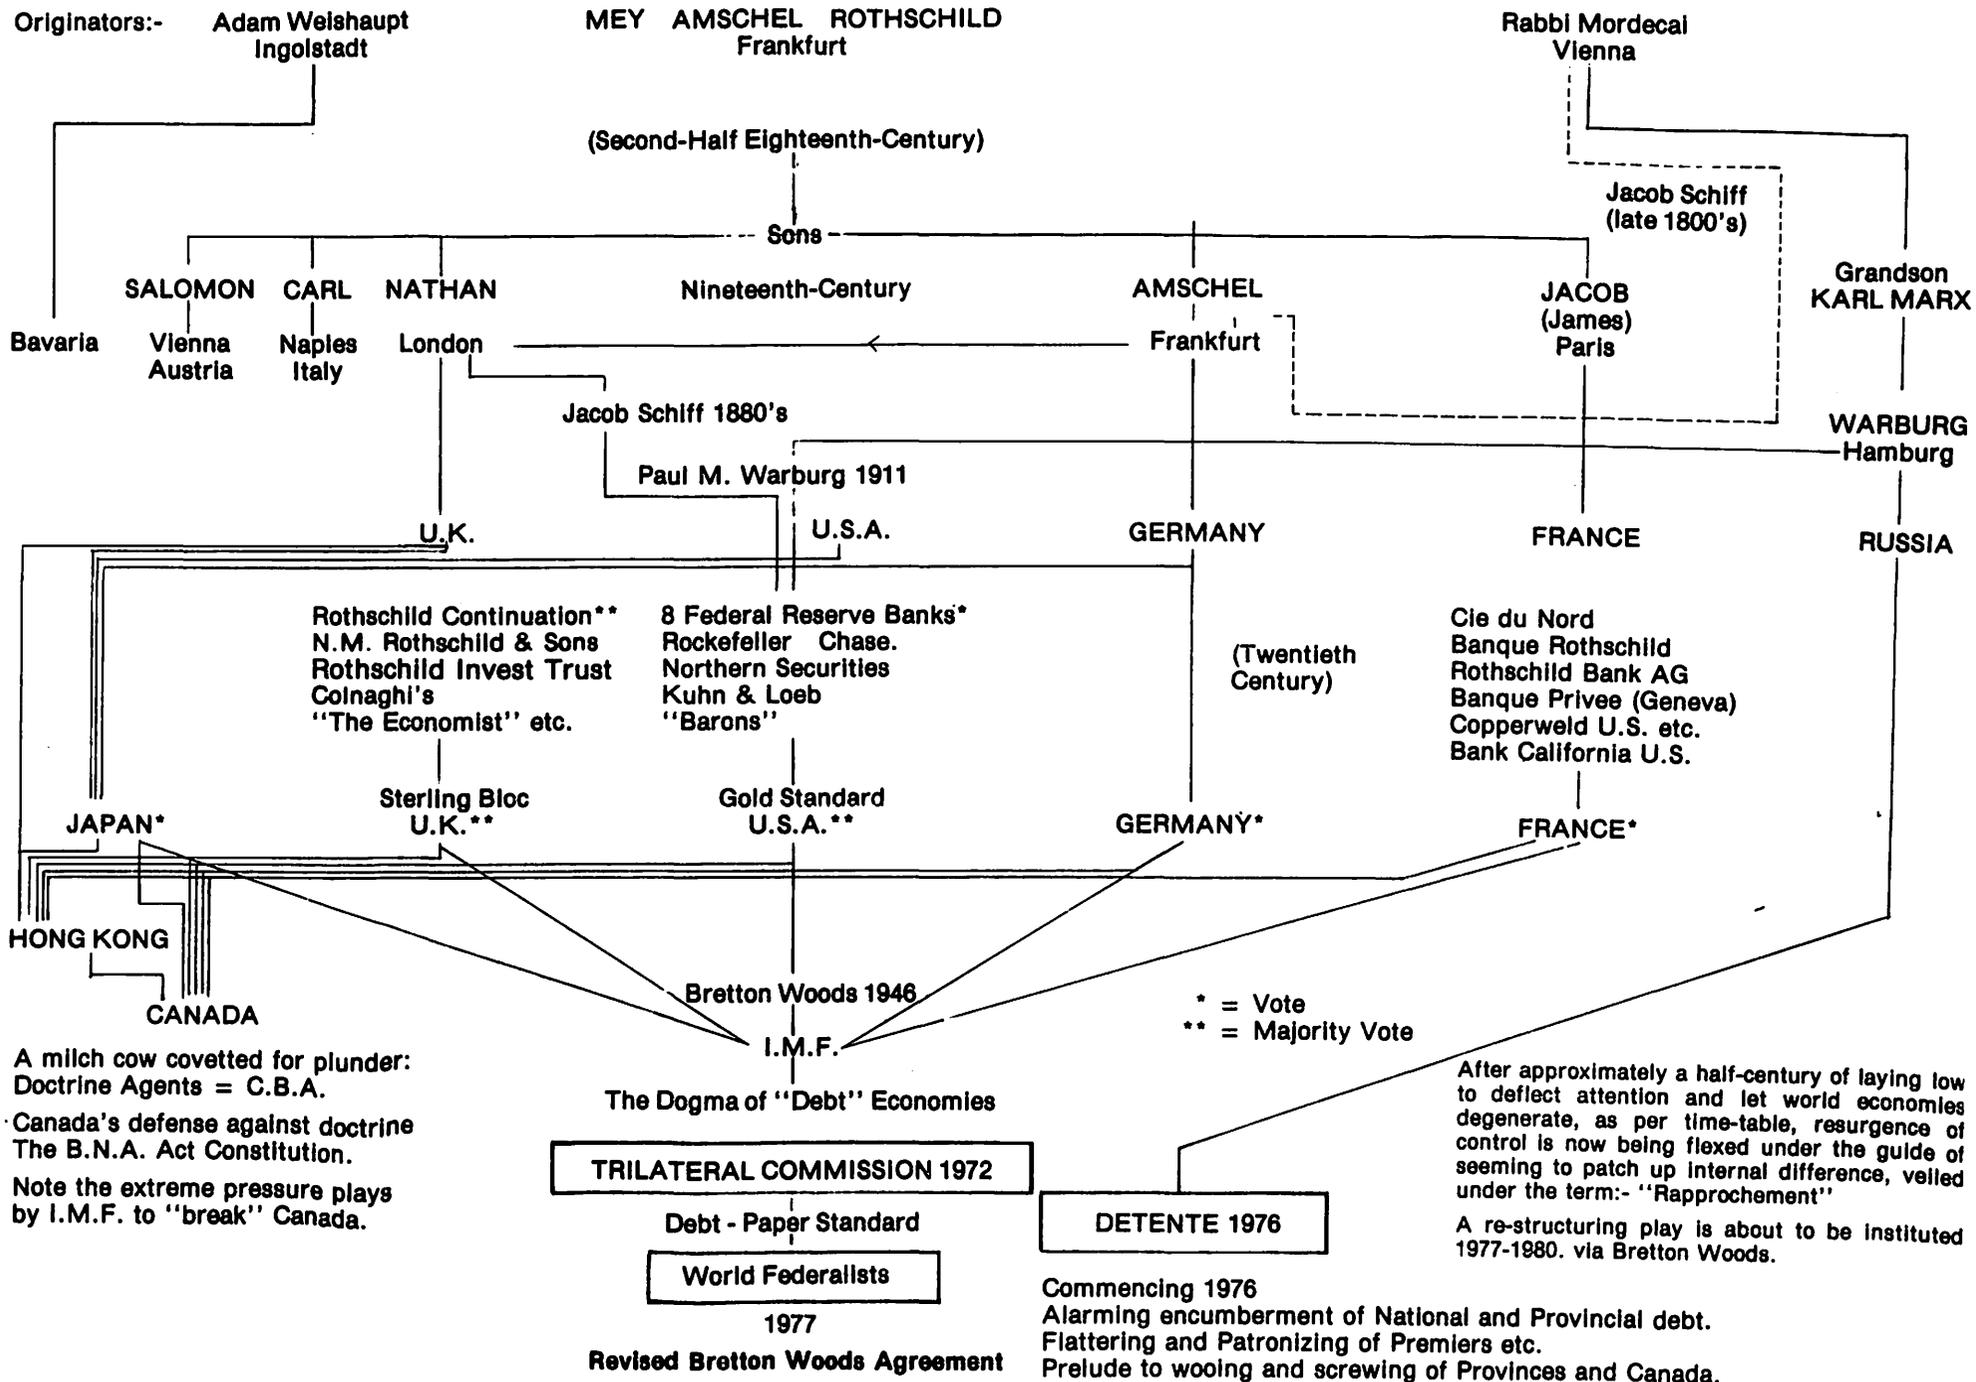

Bankers, Corporatists, Trilateralists, World Federalists, or whatever their fancy facades, using platitudes such as peace, interdependence, detente, internationalism, "summit meetings:" and other diverting terms are nothing but a flock of indentured sheep, led by a pack of wolves masquerading as benefactors. The Moneychangers feed off their own followers! The leaders council behind the backs of their lickspittle, and are unaccountable. They engineer and perpetrate the heinous sins of war for economic reasons; deprivation of the fundamentals of living except for a price; the plunder of energy for their own greed and engrandisement, and the enslavement of souls. The 'corporate' principle of "all for the few" instead of the 'society' principle of "all for one, one for all" is the creed. The blueprint provided for, and blindly accepted by contemporary civilization(?) by the inner 'Masters' is the precept of subjective obedience controlled by economic sanction e.g. unemployment and totalitarian suppression.

The intent of the British North America Act was sagely provided for Canada. It contains the proper mix of "Crown" or "Peoples" constitutional parliamentary democratic government, and the protections needed to fend off the moneychangers and corporatists. This fact is overlooked, or repressed as part of the sedition.

If only this form of constitution, or the original intent of the constitution of the United States could be re-asserted and up-dated to be universally adopted by all nations whereby to permit Commonwealth-type Confederation within nations, and between nations, thus preserving to all nations sovereign independence and autonomy, particularly as regards their National Treasuries, the inroads and dangers of world conquest through world government, by a handful of rogue comptrollers, could be avoided and CO-DEPENDENCE rather than interdependence overcome the rapacious force built in to corporate internationalism.

CRISIS CANADA

Because of its historical connection with England, France and the United States of America, Canada functions on a mixture of each. It has tried to take the best from each and mold it into a separate nation, but the pressures and some of the prejudices of each still remain as outside influences pushing and pulling in different directions, all at the same time.

It is this constant flexing and fragmentation that is making it possible for the I.M.F. and the "Federal Reservists" to keep the public off guard and unbalanced; stir up economic, cultural and industrial unrest; and proceed with its plans to grasp the assets and natural resources that are coveted as well as undermine the constitution and the treasury. The doors of opportunity to accomplish these objectives are the "Bank Act"; Domination to force Canada into debt under which it will default; and apostate politicians and other figures who are supplicant or indentured. Each of these is a present-day manifestation, yet against which few seem to be aware, reacting or taking defensive measures to resist and repel.

The first fact to face is that Canadian money, like Colonial Scrip and Confederate money, is debt-free backed up by gold and the assets of Canada to its full face value. Or, at least it was up to Pearson times and the "Bank Act of 1967."

Because it is valuable money, and the resources of Canada have hardly yet been touched, they are prizes worth seeking and plundering. History is repeating itself. The task has been given to the U.S. Federal Reserve backed up as may be necessary by the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the I.M.F. But there are still many loyalists who contest all this, and assist the Nationalists of Canada to repel these insurgencies.

Because of the adjacent positions of the United States and Canada, and an undefended border, it is logical and practical to intermix the cultures, economies and currencies of the two nations to the point that the ordinary citizen and the every-day industrial, commercial and consumer worlds are happy to stay beguiled and confused, and not bother their heads about it. As long as there is food, a house, a car or two, clothing, gasoline, a boat, an annual holiday and a few other creature goodies, they are not going to peer too deeply or rock the boat. They are quite content to be told they are being shafted and that banking and international finance is a complex business: That money is a commodity: That Credit and debt are events as natural as breathing, and to leave well alone!

Canadians are not told that Canada's debt-free money is constantly being siphoned off via being intermixed and debased with the imported printed tissue that emanates from the U.S. Federal Reserve in such a way that the valuable Canadian G.N.P. dollar floats to the surface and is creamed off whilst Canadians are left with the printed tissue which has to be made good if we want to keep our integrity and a sound dollar. What we cannot make good by production is put on the books as debt, bearing interest, and surfaces as an ever-growing "National Debt". It is this double-pronged attack that is insidiously chipping away at our freedom. Cash or Credit, it is all the same. The I.M.F. and the Federal Reserve want Canada in debt as quickly and as deeply as possible so that once past a point of no return, or ability to pay, the move can be made to move in. The take over will be swift and decisive. The main weapon against Canada is interest rates. The loans come from Kuhn & Loeb mostly!

To make the foregoing point more clear, a transcript of the letter circulated by the author to all members of parliament and the Senate, in December 1975, is reprinted here as a means of digest and comment.

CRISIS
BETRAYAL
ABHORRENCE

17th December, 1975

Dear Member:

REVISION OF "BANK ACT" 1977

CANADA, through its present Federal Government; and some past Administrations since 1914, but more particularly since 1946; is being misled and beguiled into becoming a "CORPORATE STATE" with a "FEDERAL RESERVE" type, private, corporate banking and money system, complete with pre-engineered "National" and Citizen Debts to launch it.

Canada symptomizes all the emasculating, destructive, disrupting and disasterous economic experiences that are historically associated with the Rothschild-doctrine, the Federal Reserve system, and their progeny - the I.M.F.

This corrupt triumvirate has reached into Canada via the Private, Corporate, Chartered Banks, and a nest of apostate politicians together with some senior administrators.

Although they will never admit it, these groups have engineered economic confusion and crisis, as a deliberate subversion, in expectation that they will be welcomed with open arms, as heroes, when they come forward and offer to overcome the situation: And will be given free-rein to do it on their terms and conditions! This is when the knife is turned, if they are successful in thrusting it into the underbelly that is now exposed, and which they are resolutely attacking with deadly aim.

The abominable economic policies and actions of the government are veiled deceptions, cloaked in camouflaging rhetoric, to deflect the people of Canada from being aroused, and acting, against the real direction and objectives of the deep-founded, hidden, conspiracy that is afoot. Fiscal programs and treasury relationships are equally as vicious.

The political and corporate interference that is constantly being practised, and admitted into Canada, by the International Bankers, the I.M.F. and their Stock Market affiliations, is pre-organized and manipulated before it is made public; and is deliberately pre-ordained to surrender Canada to the grasp of the trio, for rape and plunder.

As their pay-off for co-operating in this seditious conspiracy, the C.B.A. apparently is ordained to become the "Federal Reserve Board of Canada"; the major Chartered Banks to become "Federal Reserve Banks", and all Canadians are to exist, or become subservient, to a political mutation which might be known as the "Liberal-Republican Party of Canada".

This is what the Federal Government is up to behind the backs of Canadians; and to their face via careful phrasing, wide eyes, and blatant hoax.

The Private, Corporate, Chartered Banks consolidated Phase I of their intrigue with the Bank Act 1967, having built up to it over a period of years. They now, arrogantly, expect to effect the planned Phase II of their objective, with the Revisions of the Bank Act 1977, via securing wider powers, a greater concentration of power, a non-competitive, monolithic banking structure, control of the public treasury under their auspices, and increased indebtedness to them, both "National" and private debt, courtesy of the government policies, programs and enactments.

LAMENTABLY, THEY WILL ACCOMPLISH THESE OBJECTIVES UNLESS YOU, AS AN M.P., AWAKE FROM THE TORPOR YOU SEEM TO BE IN: AND THE PUBLIC AROUSES ITSELF FROM THE STATE OF INERTIA IT HIBERNATES IN:

AND ALL BECOME ALERT, DEFENSIVE AND "AGITATED" CANADIANS.

To explode a myth: The Federal Reserve system is not, as people are taught to believe, an agency of federal government. The Federal Reserve is a series of closely-knit, inter-locked, corrupt, ruthless, private, corporate entities which have ousted control of the public treasury from the hands of Honourable, Representative Government by the people, in order to administer and manipulate the assets and finances of the people and the nation as if they are their own, for their own gain. They hold their tenure through indentured and perfidious front-men, who preserve the status quo in return for election, or appointment, to High-Office, establishment, or a measure of wealth.

There is a considerable parallel to be drawn as between the Federal Reserve system, and the financial institute system in Canada.

It is equally vital to realize that the I.M.F. is nothing more than a Council of Pharisees, who oversee their holdings in those countries in which they hold sway, or can command influence. It might almost be true to say that the U.N. is an arm of the I.M.F. The ambition of the I.M.F. is to achieve "Secret World Government" as per the Rothschild-doctrine of about two-centuries ago. The I.M.F. is, tacitly, tyrannization, by Moneychangers, for their own lucre.

If you are querulous that Canada is subjugated, and the object of conspiracy, ask why is it that before a Canadian Minister of Finance can be appointed, the nominee has to be 'cleared' by the Chartered Banks, Bay Street, Wall Street, Washington, D.C. and the I.M.F. before the appointment can be confirmed! Ask, also, why C.B.A. and related Financial Institutions, are rumoured to have access to government Computer Data Bank records, using a persons Social Insurance Number as the reference key!! And, if government data is also stored, in duplicate, or accessible to the U.S. Government and its agencies?!!

These, and many other questions, are matters which need answers, but which point up the way things are. Suspicion usually has some basis of truth.

The Policies, programs and actions of the Federal Government of Canada, aired in the areas of economic regulations and fiscal department, are futile shams. They reach the point, almost, of being treacherous, and reveal indentured supplicance to the Corporate Powers of International Conspiracy, in collaboration with the private, corporate, Chartered Banks of Canada, to an extent that is terrifying. The public is sacrificed on the altar, to the Bankers.

The glaring inequality and bias that is demonstrated is almost too blatant to believe, but explains why the people are being lulled and fooled all the time. Yet the cure is political - not economic, in fundamentals.

The problems of inflation, devaluation, unemployment, industrial unrest, international trade, "National" Debt, private debt increase and corporate encroachment that have been devised and perpetrated can be effectively, and beneficially dealt with, but only if there is:-

- Re-thinking of the situation to put it into proper perspective.
- Re-orientation of priorities to handle the matter.
- Re-structuring of government back to honourable, representative government.
- Re-direction of effort. Prevention is better than cure.
- Re-application of the philosophy on which Canada was founded as Independent Freemen, in a debt-free State. Or it could be too late to save it.
- De-thronement of corporate power, and repeal of the Bank Act.
- De-concentration of Banking and Stock Market power and manipulation.
- De-centralization of administrative functions. Autocratic, wastefulness goes.

De-structuring of present money, and issue of new, debt-free currency.
De-nial and repudiation of external encroachment, debt or credit against others and a return to free-trade, devoid of Bankers' presence.

Present government actions are Un-Balanced; Un-realistic; Un-just; Un-workable, Un-conscionable, and Un-acceptable as they follow well-worn, and proven unsatisfactory paths. Yet those who should be up-in-arms for their constituents as the M.P.'s of the nation; and the population itself; are lulled into torpor and indifference instead of vigorously defending, and preserving their heritage and freedom. Acts of sedition are being carried on right under your noses, unchallenged and unhindered because of indifference and inertia...!

The shifting of payments from the control of representative government from revenues raised from, and administered for the public; to direct payment from the public to private, corporate firms, is a betrayal. But much worse is the artificial High Rates of Interest which the government permits the Chartered Banks to charge, and which Interest, as it is imposed upon each successive level of industry, trade, commerce and consumerism, selling and buying, compounds to be an exorbitant profit in the hands of the Private Banks as immediate cash and unconscionable profits, or as deferred-debt due to them.

But even worse, it is the fraudulent scheme that occurs when the government borrows money from the Banks by way of Bond issues which the Banks purchase with newly-created, debt-created money which the Central Bank prints and then delivers to the Banks for them to buy the Bonds, that tops it all. This debt-created capital goes on the Books of the Private, Chartered Banks as new capital and which then, miraculously, turns into "National" debt due to them.

The forcing of the public to patronize the Chartered Banks for money supply is an imposition contrary to the intent and provisions of the B.N.A. Act. But compounded by the High Interest Rates levied by the Chartered Banks is added insult to injury. How such a state of affairs ever got entrenched in the first place is another story. But it can be assumed that wining, dining and patronization, over a period, built up an elite and indentured establishment that is supplicant to their demands on cue.

It is this close-knit, mega-business concentration and power that has to be diluted - not the dismantling and destruction of the free-enterprise system. The dogma of the I.M.F., the C.B.A. and the Stock Market has to end.

As a Canadian, but more specifically as a Member of Parliament, you are charged with the responsibility of defending, and preserving, the freedom and independence of Canada in the spirit, and under the philosophy, and Constitution, in which Canada was founded, as part of your sworn and solemn duty and allegiance. Most important is your obligation to keep Canada safe from the autocracy of Corporate Enthronement, no matter what the deceptions, temptations and inducements that may be put before you to persuade you otherwise. Or are you already "had"?

The remedy for the situation is in your hands. It can be dealt with in a one-day sitting of Parliament through repudiation of the Chartered Banks on the grounds that they have abused their privilege and probity as Licensees, and which can be evidenced when the Revisions of the Bank Act 1977 come into attention, or it can be done more effectively, and with attention drawn to it, via Petition to the Queen for the dissolution of Parliament, as an act of necessity.

We do not want Corporate Enthronement in Canada, nor to be hoaxed, boxed, conned or beguiled into foreclosure through debt-default; much less lose control of our public treasury and natural resources. We do not want a Federal Reserve type monetary system, nor do we want to be inmates of the bordello that is the I.M.F. We do not like Moneychangers or outside control of our elected and appointed representatives as manipulated puppets: And we do not appreciate being sold down the tube for gain or engradisement by any individual or group, for their own gain.

The time and opportunity for change is now ripe. It is time for Canadian nationalism to wax, once more, as the freedom and integrity of the country are threatened as never before. To continue tailing the American ass is asking to be abused. Canadians are not anti-American — an attitude some seem bent on fostering - It is just that Canadians do not like the Federal Reservists who covet Canada, and want it for their own purposes.

If this dissertation has caused you to search your own conscience, stop and think about the deeper ramifications that underscore the few words possible on these pages, and motivate you into confrontive action against the C.B.A. It has done its work. Please reply and let me have your comments.

The Revisions of the Bank Act, in 1977, is the most important issue of all.

We, in Canada, decided a long time ago which is the better system to live under, having resolved to our own satisfaction an answer to the question, "CROWN or CREDIT?" and chose the "Crown".

Yours very truly,
F. Fred Kirkman

Canadians are not told that of the ten Chartered Banks in Canada, all members of the Canadian Bankers Association, six are sympathetic by politics to the liberal, debt-money, debt-financing doctrines of the "Illuminates" system and are, in fact, directed from outside the country. They have been charged with preparing the way for the Federal Reserve type system that is planned for the future style of Banking in Canada, with Canada as a Republic or the next ten States of the Union, if they have their way.

These six, by weight of vote, can force whatever policies they want on the other four and the country, particularly when they have supplicant politicians in power in Parliament. But it is the other four, as Conservatives, who prefer to have the country free of the influence of the Federal Reservists and are the saving grace at the present time. Just how long it will be before they are bought off, or coerced into giving way is but a guessing game. There are suspicions that Canadian Bank records are already duplicated and stored in the United States in Federal Reserve and C.I.A. Computer Banks in anticipation of tying in all Canadians accounts into their system. This is a frightening thought.

Canadians are not told that when their government borrows from the Chartered Banks that it is the Bank of Canada that has printed the money and then deposited it with the Chartered Banks who gain a leverage profit on it, via lending it back. Or that the Chartered Banks have imported debt-created money or paper-credits from outside the country to meet the demand for money in excess of what the Bank of Canada will create. This is part of the license, and part of the conspiracy carried out by the Chartered Banks who serve their voting masters first and the Canadian nation second. This constant levy on the people, and the debasing of Canadian currency is all part of the conspiracy being perpetrated against Canada.

Lincoln's system is better. Pay our way directly with debt-free money. And have a truly free-enterprise marketplace devoid of bank overtones!

The U.S. plan of campaign to capture and steal Canada from Canadians is by way of the Stock Market, the Bond Market and the Corporate marketplace. Military conquest has been contemplated several times in the past twenty years, but each time has been scrapped as negative logic. Even so, all highways and railbeds leading into Canada are of invasion-force military standard, and there is a combat-ready force of about 100,000 troops within a hundred miles of the border right across the continent. This, perhaps, is just how far the Federal Reservists are prepared to go to subjugate and annex Canada? However, to invade Canada would mean the destruction of so much investment and development, and an era of guerilla war that could do no good and achieve nothing, as to be a futile undertaking. This is why the marketplace and the economy are the chosen battlegrounds.

Canada is not for sale! Yet it is vulnerable to being led into debt as the means that will force it into default and take-over by the Bankers.

Canada is not for sale! - but we do not mind if someone steals it, piecemeal. We seem to be equally naive in loaning our money to foreigners so that they can buy it from us with our own money, right under our noses!

It is an established and proven fact that rising interest rates are the cause, not the result, of inflation. Increasing interest rates in a debt-money, reserve-type system is nothing less than compounding a felony, purely for the greed and gratification of the lender who imposes the higher charges.

It is also a proven fact that the lower the rate of interest the lower the rate of inflation. The lower the rate of inflation, the lower the rate of unemployment and the higher the rate of production. Equally, the lower the rate of unemployment, the lower the rate of inflation. Conversely, the higher the rate of interest, the higher the rate of inflation, the higher the rate of unemployment and the lower the rate of production.

This is to be seen in the example of Switzerland which is the centre of the Moneychangers' wealth. Switzerland has less than 1% inflation, no unemployment and high productivity. A far cry from the conditions these same moneychangers inflict upon the rest of the world in their plans to destabilize and destroy nations so that they can plunder them via a system of debt-creation, and take-over in default of repayment.

As far as the moneychangers, I.M.F. and Federalists are concerned, what is sauce for the goose, is not sauce for the gander!

The plunder of Canada is a matter of international intrigue. This is done by sending up Federal Reserve printed money or opening up credits for Canadians in American banks. This inflow of debt-created money floods the Canadian marketplace. Although it may make it possible for speculative development to take place, it also causes economic indigestion, structural and cyclical unemployment, depression, recession and boom. It is this alternating pulsation that tears the economic fabric and resilience out of the economy.

The Banks of Canada, with the exception of the Central Bank of Canada, are all privately owned. They are private corporations, privileged by grant of a Charter (or License) to be bankers. They are granted certain operating rights by what is known as the "Bank Act". This latitude expands or contracts according to the philosophy of the government of the day in power when the Bank Act is periodically reviewed and amended, every ten years.

When Liberals are in power, the latitude awarded to the Banks facilitates more and more towards permitting the doctrines, ambitions and intentions of the Federalists, the Federal Reserve Board, and the I.M.F. They weaken the ability of Canada to resist the inroads and objectives of this cabal as much as possible on each review. On the other hand, nationalists, who see through these Federalists, do their best to resist or counteract the infiltrations but are handicapped in doing so. Do not be fooled into thinking that all Conservatives are nationalists: Many are Federalists in their connections and leanings. Paradoxically, it should be the loyal-Canadian liberals, conservatives and the N.D.P. who should recognize themselves for being what they are "NATIONALISTS" — who should combine together as a consolidated voice. These Nationalists in total represent 70% of the people of Canada, more than enough to form a political entity and sweep out the minority of Liberals and Conservatives who would sell Canada out for a packet of tea!

A new political force is necessary to turn back the inroads of invasion that the Liberals have paved the way for their masters in Washington, D.C.

The biggest concern is the inversion of influence that prevails in the banking industry. Instead of the Government-controlled Bank of Canada determining and dictating its own policies to the Chartered Banks, it is the other way around. The Chartered Banks scheme up policies to their own advantage and then have the Bank of Canada announce them as law. This, of course, is brought about by the lines of political and industrial power which reach into Ottawa from Washington, London, Paris, Tokyo and Hong Kong. The wining, dining and patronage that is to be seen accounts for much more than the actions of elected members of parliament. This is to be seen very clearly when the Prime Minister, before he appoints a Minister of Finance, has to consult with the C.B.A., the Federal Reserve, Washington, D.C. and the I.M.F.!

When Canada made a break and set itself up as a separate country, to get away from the influence and doctrines of the Rothschild conspiracy and the Whig brand of separatism, of the eighteenth century, the Fathers of Confederation were very astute, perceptive of the plot, and foresighted when they provided Canada with a Constitution which was a moat of first protection and a bastion of last defense i.e. B.N.A. Act, 1867, in particular sections 91 and 92.

They were true to the nature and philosophy on which the country was founded:- As a nation of Freemen in a Debt-free State. Their choice of adherence to the Crown instead of bowing to the destructive forces and doctrines of Credit was wise and a courageous act, for which there is cause to be grateful. It is a pity that we now suffer a brand of politician who is willing to sell the country and his soul in exchange for a lousy, Federal Reserve dollar, and carry out the biddings of an evil conspiracy.

Canada is constituted as a "Society" not as a "Corporation". A Society belongs to all the members. A Corporation belongs to only the voting shareholders.

Canada, set up as a "Society", has allowed a renegade panel of directors to get into office. These "directors" are placing the Society into debt as rapidly as they can get away with it. All as part of a hidden plan. These Directors are Liberal Politicians, some Conservatives, and Bankers in concert. They are dedicated to the concept of pledging the right and assets of the nation of Canada against spurious money to the extent that Canada will not be able to get out of debt, or even pay the interest due. Canada will then have to sell itself by admitting the same system as the Bank of England, and the U.S. Federal Reserve, as the price to be paid.

Perhaps many Liberals and Conservatives do not realize just what their parties and leaders stand for? If this book opens their eyes, they can press for internal party changes, or switch their vote behind a new NATIONALIST PARTY.

For detailed information as to the identities of those who are indentured, apostate, supplicant or enamoured by the Federalist ambitions, a good work of reference is "The Vertical Mosaic" by University of Toronto Press. This reveals the names of the families who form the elite and the corporate establishments to which they are connected. It is not a difficult matter as other books, and plenty of reference material, including the daily Stock Exchange lists, expose the core of international relationships.

The only way for Canada to escape the fate that has been planned, is for the country to change its political representation and retake control of its own Bank of Canada. It must also repudiate the Charters of those Banks which are apostate and supplicant to the Federalists as they have clearly abused the spirit of their Charters. Their Charters were granted by the Crown as representative for the people, yet these same Banks have acted in such a manner as to try and bring down or destroy the Crown that gave them life. In some circles this would be classed as treason.

Canada must also rid itself of the intermix of its own debt-free currency from the contamination of debt-created, imported money, by withdrawing present paper currency and issuing a new debt-free currency. It must repudiate all debts to other countries and forgive all debts due; and ensure public control of the Bank of Canada under a Board not drawn from the ranks of bankers, politicians, lawyers and industrialists who have other appointments and interests. Probity and independence must be seen, and be apparent, in the operation and administration of national fiscal activity. Conflict of interest is abhorrent. Government of Canada has to return to being the servant of the people. It must no longer continue to be the servant of corporate command.

Canada must preserve its Constitution and reject those who would tamper with it. Canada must also repeal the "Bank Act of 1967" and make changes in the "Revision of the Bank Act" to reduce the level and concentration of power now in the hands of private, corporate Chartered Banks. Foreign Banks must not be admitted to the Country. And return of the nations treasury to the control of the people under honourable, representative government is essential. The Crown must also recover all assets now held at home and abroad by the Chartered Banks, and pay out stockholders so that it cannot be said the government has expropriated citizens personal investment. Re-patriation of all "registered" assets in the hands of out-of-Canada registrants must also occur.

The people must also insist upon the elimination, and future prevention of conditions which allow concurrent and concomitant relationships in sensitive positions, government and private, and eradicate conflict of interest. All of which conditions are now rife.

Established in the fact that the International Monetary Fund, together with its sister organizations the International Money Market and the International Monetary Exchange, is the presence of nothing more than in imposed hoax: And that the Chartered Banks of Canada, The United Kingdom and other Commonwealth countries; the U.S. Federal Reserve, and other "National" Banks within the framework of the I.M.F. are all private corporations controlled by the same private owner and directors who own the I.M.F. cabal: And that the money systems, money, private and National Debts due to them are artificially generated and manipulated by the cabal, for the cabal through the banks for their gain and profit at the cost and expense of the people in the form of the colossal amounts educed in the way of Interest Servicing Yield (Interest rates and charges), it is viable to presume that - to rid the people of excessive taxation, at all levels to restore the value of money to bring about national economic recovery, solvency and stability to establish equitable international free trade

to attain industrial labour relations tranquility
to improve productivity and re-kindle the work ethic to increase take-home purchasing power
but without impairing civic, and social services

— is simply to cancel all debts due to Banks, Financial Institutions, and Money Lender operations: And for Canada to repudiate all debts recorded to the I.M.F., the U.S. Federal Reserve, and the Bank of England on the reality that all of these have been corruptly and fraudulently created via a planned conspiracy of iniquity against the country and the people.

It can be done, if politicians will cease to be cowards and supplicant, beguiled slaves to the Financiers, International and national bankers who comprise the Bretton Woods association.

PROGNOSIS COLLAPSE 1978/9

The hatchet job being wreaked upon the U.S. and Canadian dollars by the I.M.F. is the beginning of the end of economic systems, currencies, stocks and bonds markets, and political freedom of these nations as presently perceived. The nature of the phoenix which will rise out of the ashes has to be determined now by national loyalists, or an atrocious regime will be inflicted by the Moneychangers.

At the direction of the private interests which control the I.M.F., the Canadian dollar is being systematically depressed against the U.S. dollar whilst the U.S. dollar is being subordinated to the German Mark and the Japanese Yen. This program of deliberate destabilization is furtherance of the plans procreated by the "House" behind the World Bank which is re-asserting its power and returning to its traditional base in Frankfurt having established a citadel in the Far East.

Britain as the Sterling Bloc center, and the U.S.A. as the Gold Standard center, both under the command of the I.M.F., are being set up to have the rug pulled from under them with malice aforethought. As both standards are the foundation upon which the Canadian economy and currency are structured, the perdition of Canada is accomplished at the same time.

The U.S. dollar is being forced down to 10% of its 1940 value, and the Canadian dollar is being coerced down to 85% of the U.S. dollar. In both instances, it means the currencies are debased to breaking point in the face of accrued National Debts, and the economies collapse. The I.M.F. and World Bank will call the Debts.

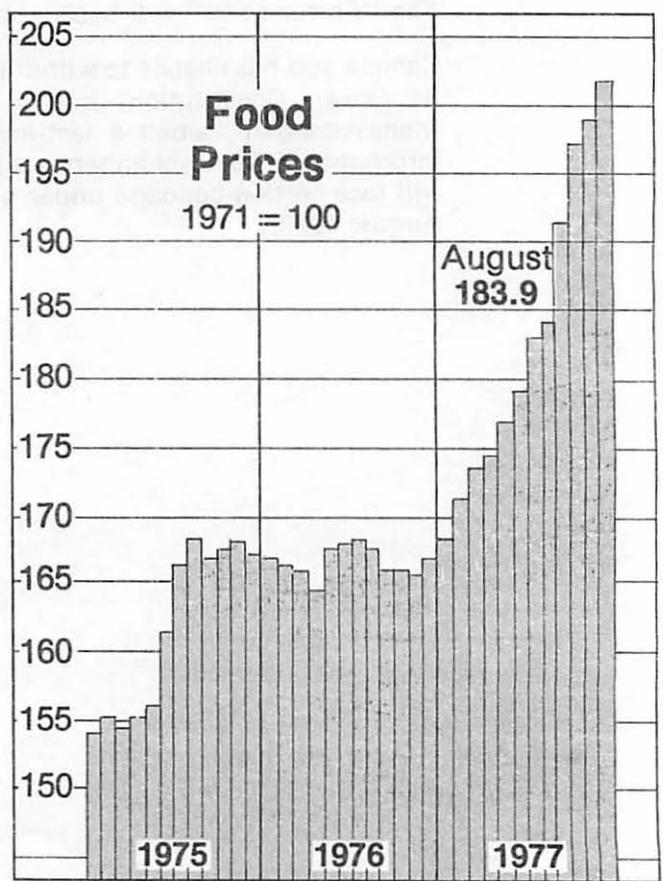

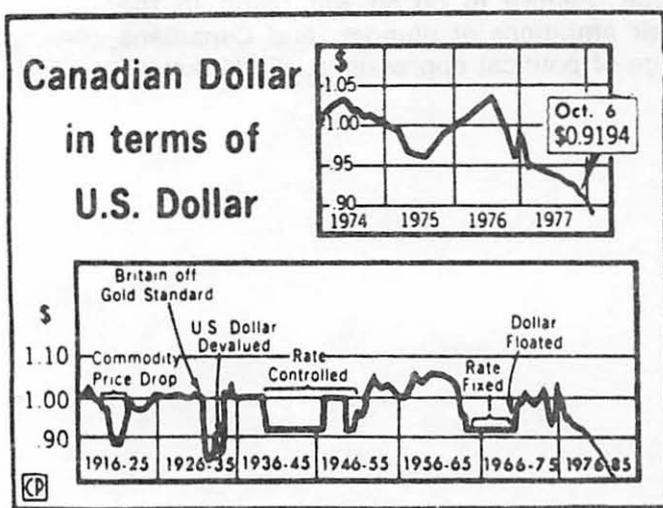

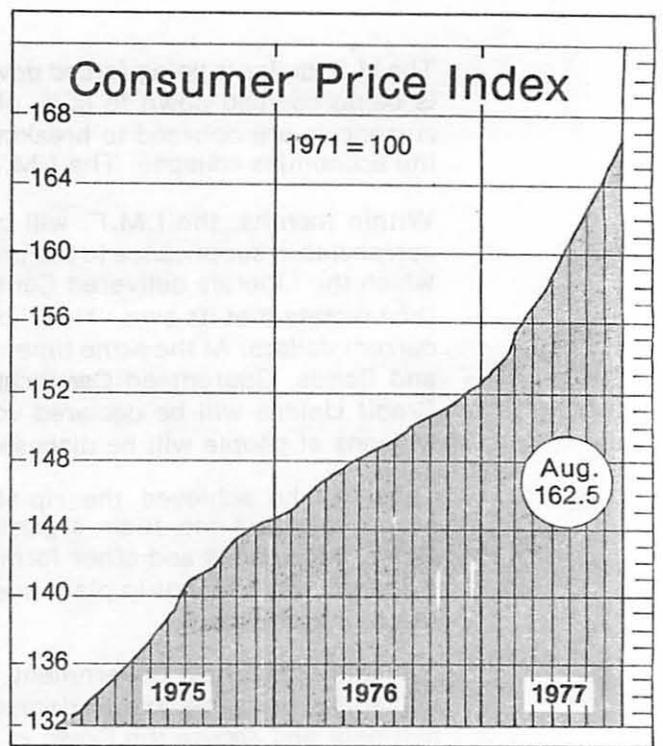

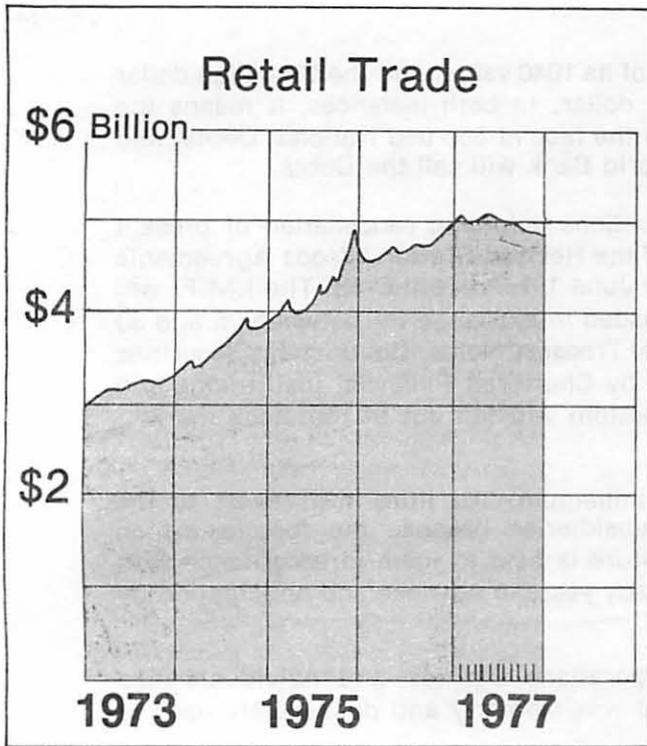

Within months, the I.M.F. will issue instructions enforcing cancellation of present currencies in suppliance to the provisions of the Revised Bretton Woods Agreements which the Liberals delivered Canada into in June 1977 via bill C-18. The I.M.F. will then dictate that its own "New" dollar be issued in exchange for between 25 and 30 current dollars. At the same time, all National Treasury Notes, Government Securities and Bonds, Guaranteed Certificates issued by Chartered Financial Institutions and Credit Unions will be declared void. The bottom will fall out of the stock market. Millions of people will be dispossessed.

Thus will be achieved the rip-off of the millenium. All titles will revert to the Moneychangers via their organizational subsidieries because the foreclosure on Notes, Mortgages and other forms of Indenture is held to them in accordance with existing Law. Law put in place over these many years in advance and anticipation by the Moneychangers.

National Treasuries, Government, Large Corporations, Business and Individuals alike will suffer the same axe of decapitation that was similarly and deliberately used to instigate and secure the Crash of 1929.

The "Fortune 500" will become the victims of their own Deity.

Canada still has chance to withdraw from the I.M.F. against which it is protected by its Crown Constitution, and to amend its laws of foreclosure to thwart the Moneychangers, albeit a last-minute rescue. Failure to do so will result in the international Moneychangers achieving their ambitions of plunder, and Canadians will face certain bondage under a new range of political oppressions. (F. Kirkman, August 1977.)

MOVING RIGHT ALONG are rates of increases in all areas of cost of living index and particularly in food items. CPI up by four-tenths of one per cent in August, however, made smallest monthly increase of year. Food prices for month rose by half of one per cent, mainly due to higher costs for fresh fruit, pork and poultry products.

CHAPTER 14

THE BANKERS CREED

“We believe in Amschel Rothschild, Adam Weishaupt, and Rabbi Mordecai, makers of money and credit. The unholy trinity.
And in the ‘Illuminati’, the invokers of ‘Secret World Government’ who are conceived in sin, and acknowledge no others.

“Nor dare we be criticized, regulated or repudiated,
We are ascended from Hell; and Fear only exorcism.
And sitteth on the pinnacles of power, both temporal and incorporeal.

“On the day of forfeiture, we enclose upon them that owe us;
And controlleth the morals of business and politics by indenture.

“Money is our Idol. We dictate the cost of living, the cost of dying and manipulate the resources of the world.
And expect lift everlasting in perpetuity of our system, Amen.”

U.S. BANKERS’ PRAYER

U.S. Version

Our father who is Paul M. Warburg,
Federal Reserve Board be thy name;
Thy Babel come,
Usury and graft be done
in business as it is in politics.
Give us this day our Rate of Interest and forgive us our remission
if we pardon any upon whom we have levy.
Lead us not into compassion;
but deliver us from probity;
For thine is the system, debt-money and debauchment
In practised coercion, Amen.

Canadian Version

Our patron who is in Washington,
Apostate is our name;
Worthless money come,
from the Federal Reserve Board it be done to graft busines as it is our politicans.
Give us this day our Interest and profits,
and forgive us our remission
if we pardon any upon whom we have levy.
Lead us not into probity;
But deliver us from exposure;
For ours is the power, debt-system and debauchment
In practised coercion, Amen

THE BANKERS' PSALMS

"Praise the I.M.F., all nations everywhere (117)
Praise it, all people of the Earth.
For it directs your bankers to steal you dearly,
And it's indentures endure to enslave its members, and their houses.
Praise the I.M.F."

"Oh, bless the House, you who serve it as watchmen (134)
in the temple of the Moneychanger every night.
Lower your souls in supplication, and bless the I.M.F."

"The I.M.F. bless you from the House — the I.M.F. and House that makes money — and earth a living Hell."

"Hallelujah! Yes, praise the Moneychangers! (150)
Praise them with lucre and tribute.
Praise them with obeisance and in thralldom!
Hallelujah!"

THE MARK OF THE BEAST — "666" — REVELATIONS 13

More beguiling, unconscionable, misleading pieces of contrempt propaganda have never been published than the press releases issued by the Nation's Governments, the Federal Reserve, The Chartered Banks, the Bank of Canada, the I.M.F. and the Trilateralists. The orchestration is delusive, gullibly disseminated by a cocktail-circuit, indoctrinated, patronised, apostate press and electronic media.

The road to national bankruptcy, and the hell of enslavement, is paved with the intentions of the Moneychangers including the international financiers who are the owners behind the manipulators who are behind the collusive concomitance of Liberal, Republican, Marxist-Lenin and Conservative vitiation. Directing all of them is the Trilateral Commission, the private property of Rothschild and Rockefeller, which is pressing towards imposing their 'mark' upon all nations via impressive jargon such as "World Order Politics"; "New World Order"; "New Economic Order"; "Interdependence" "World Federalism" and so forth and who, as an underlying aim, are attempting to bring the convergence of Europe, Japan, the U.S.A., and the U.S.S.R. into a single super-state operated by the Trilateralists and the I.M.F. on behalf of the Rothschild-Rockefeller dynasty. Even if it means the threat of nuclear war as the means of castigating and intimidating the masses. The governments of both Canada and the U.S. have the mark of the beast upon them as in spite of their apparent political detachment each has been put in place by the Moneychangers, and dances obeisance to them!

The total national debt of the U.S.A. is incalculable. The national debt of Canada to the I.M.F., the Federal Reserve and the Chartered Banks privately, direct and indirect via federal, provincial, municipal and other forms of public liability Bonds and Notes is in excess of $220 Billion. This amounts to $9,600 capital debt and about $80 per month interest owed and payable by every man, woman, child and unborn child in Canada. To compound the matter, the debt is increasing at the rate of over $20 billion per annum, sanctioned by elected politicians. The same debauchery pervades the U.S.A.

To make matters worse, the National Debt has been fraudulently created by connivance at the Moneychanger-Government level via counterfeit money. The capital is produced out of thin air by a stroke of a pen. But the interest payment they reap is the hard labour and production of every worker in the nation. The Federal Reserve

Banks, the Moneychangers and the Chartered Banks are reaping something for nothing, paying their pharisees and lickspittle on the side by way of position, prestige, patronage and Office, headed by a chosen few. All under them are kept in line by coercion, unemployment, a mortgage over their heads and the fear of dispossession (The laws of Tort and Default).

From now until eternity, or the people under the I.M.F. system decide they have had enough of being shafted and kick the system out, the current coven of politicians, the government methods, system and status of the country will always remain the same. The one circumstance the Moneychangers and Bankers fear and cannot combat is REPUDIATION!

The capital sum of the National Debt will increase regularly, and the amount of Interest payable by the people via taxation will compound automatically. The very nature of the system compels deficit, financing, re-financing, and perpetual inflation as a repetitive cycle structured to keep it that way for the few at the expense of the many.

The Moneychangers and Bankers do not want to be paid out. They want to keep placing more fictitious capital and collect tangible Interest on an ever-increasing, counterfeit debt.

Just how long the people, of the U.S. and Canada will remain in an hypnotic trance whilst their pockets are filched, and their life blood extracted from them by the Federal Reserve, The Chartered Banks and the I.M.F. which are private corporations operating for private profit for the owners, is a perplexing question?

It is time to clean house. Awareness must lead to the action of throwing the Moneychangers out of the Temples which are our Nations.

CHAPTER 15

RANDOM THOUGHTS, POINTS AND COMMENTS

The evil forces in our world have worked and furthered their plans on the very simple principle and fact that it is a lot easier for man not think than it is for him to think. The minds of men have been deceived and manipulated down the ages. The first example of this was, perhaps, Adam and Eve. If they had stopped to heed the warning, and think, they would most likely have had snake steak for supper instead of an apple!

Christ was the Son of God. He was perfect in every way, yet He stopped to think and meditated for days on end. As we are supposed to be a creation of the same God, and our whole purpose on earth is to make a choice between good and evil, we were created with the power to think and decide for ourselves. So, for God's sake, if not your own — THINK!

Satan was also the Son of God. But he fell from grace when he decided to make a game of seeing how well he could deflect and pervert the minds of men. He has done this in many ways, but one of the most insidious ways was when he entered the minds of the Moneychangers and the Pharisees, and led them into operating in such a manner that they enslaved others. There are many references to money and moneychangers in the Bible, and the courses of history and prophecy regarding them, but this is not the place to recite them.

Think about some of the events in modern history. All of them stemming from wars!

In 1815 the merchants of Europe had most of the Crowned heads in debt to them. They suggested that they should be paid out, or be awarded the state in foreclosure. Resulting from this, the Crowned heads called a meeting known as the Congress of Vienna, at which time the Crowned heads came close to opting to go bankrupt as their means of getting out from under their debts. They also threatened to repudiate the moneychangers and let them try and do their worst. This put Rothschild into a panic as he would have been faced with new Peoples' Governments, and which governments would not only strip him of his debts but also his assets as well. There was some quick footwork and much flattery from Rothschild who offered more money, and temporary relief from the payment of both interest and principal for a number of years. The Crowned heads thought this was great, but did not think ahead to the effect of deferred debt and the compounded accumulation of interest on their countries and economies.

The only Crowned head that did not go along was the Czar of Russia. He saw through the scheme and would have nothing to do with it. He refused Rothschild money out of hand. This made Rothschild angry, and he vowed that one day, he or his heirs would make the Czars pay and suffer to make up for what he would be making out them if they had gone along. Revenge would be his even if it took a hundred years.

It is interesting to note that Mordecai was assigned the task of ruining Russia, and that it was Mordecai's grandson who later changed his name to Karl Marx, the man who devoted his life to engineering the fall of the Russian Empire.

Rothschild agents were implanted into Russia in the early part of the nineteenth century. But Karl Marx, who came into the picture later, operated from a distance. Marx was the grandson of Rabbi Mordecai, one of the "Illuminati", who changed his name and his faith in order to gain acceptance into the society of his times. Marx went about his business of preparing the conditions which would agitate Europe and eventually lead to the downfall of the Czar as his avowed objective. He was successful, but it occurred thirty years after his death. At the last minute, in 1917, a counter-revolution headed by Trotsky, who had forseen the Marxist plot, plotted to steal the victory the Marxists were about to gain. But the Rothschilds, through their Agent, Lenin, were fully aware of this and sent a member of the House of Warburg from Hamburg with cash in a suitcase to meet Trotsky and Lenin in a hotel room in Stockholm. Thus they had to buy back the revolution. Trotsky, with well-lined bank account, dutifully faded away to a comfortable life which lasted until 1940.

Lenin became the supreme authority, courtesy of the House of Rothschild. He set Russia up for the family and the Rockefellers. His death in 1924, however, ended the era of inside collaboration which became estranged with the advent of Stalin. Subsequent plots, counter-plots and intrigues, including gamesmanship and brinkmanship has been the legacy. Even now, the lid is not on as it should be for the liking of the Rapprochement and Trilateralist groups, hence the effort at "Detente" in 1976, and an upset timetable for world domination in the World Federalists camp. In spite of his long connection with Rothschilds, and the deals made with Russia in the 1920's, Rockefeller cannot rest easy that there is no double, and double-double-cross in the situation as it concerns him. The Russians have targeted him with I.C.B.M.'s at his home and at his offices, and the House of Rothschild is off making cozy deals with new proteges. Perhaps all this explains why, once again, a Democrat is in the White House elected with Republican money and who sits in the Republicans' Trilateral camarilla. A Democrat always seems to be pushed into the hot seat when open conflict is a real possibility.

The Third world, succoured by Russian mavericks in the eyes of the I.M.F. and the non-accomplishment of insolvency and constitutional takeover in such countries as the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and Jamaica, and other crown-constituted countries, with the close of 1976 has the I.M.F. The Trilateralists and the Federalists worried. They fear exposure and repudiation can defeat them, or a weakening which will cause their collapse from inside their own structure by 1979. No matter which way it turns, the I.M.F. canaille is an endangered species, but it will keep on trying to preserve itself. The Domino Theorum has them scared stiff!

The I.M.F. is already making moves to remove gold and silver as the money standards and to substitute paper and bookkeeping entries. This is escalation, at world level, of what has been perpetrated at national levels in the past two hundred years. The Moneychangers are setting themselves up to garner wealth, goods and chattels as well as payment in interest in exchange for "nothing". The hoax is complete. The world has been "had". And corporate, world republicanism in the name of World Federalism is almost a fait accompli!

From here on in, the U.S.A. will never be short of money as it is the printing press for the money supply, and can run it off to its heart content. The power of the U.S.A. and the Federal Reserve will become oppressive unless the rest of the members of the I.M.F. get off, get out and tells the I.M.F. where it can go! But the I.M.F. is manipulating the U.S.A. into self-induced destruction as a side objective.

CHAPTER 16

MORE THOUGHTS

As a peoples' revolution Russia went under what became known as Communist politics. It threw out all vestige of tolerance with the House of Rothschild with the death of Lenin, but later because of World War II came to terms on a live-and-let-live basis under Stalin. The internal struggle which prevails in Russia is not one of ideologies, but for admission or not of the Rothschild doctrine and money system. In the meantime, it provides a convenient world platform to keep people everywhere on edge and hyped up for war in case it is necessary to ferment one. At one time, it was Russia trying to keep the I.M.F. at bay, but more recently it has become a little more aggressive, and is out to play a tit-for-tat takeover role. Actually, the House of Rothschild does not care who would win a world war, it is financing both sides of the Iron Curtain, and will come out the beneficiary either way, if the I.M.F. survives.

Let us realize that the HOUSE OF ROCKEFELLER has interfaced the HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD. And let us go back a bit to the point that it was the House of Rothschild which, in the late nineteenth century financed, and then took over the oil interests of Rockefeller; The account which Kuhn & Loeb kept for its own. Let us also relate Kuhn & Loeb to the First National City Bank, the Chase Manhattan Bank, The Bank of America, and the Bank of California but to name just a few of the Federal Reserve Banks in the portfolio of the Rothschilds.

Over the years Rockefeller money alone has grown until it is now netting the almost unbelievable figure of $380 million per day in interest alone.

The Rothschild "take" is substantially greater.

The Rockefeller stable owns Standard Oil of New Jersey. In 1926 a deal was closed with Russia that was initially negotiated under Lenin. The deal was that Russia would export all its oil under the Esso Brand. Rockefeller has a stake in that agreement. Never once since that time have the Soviets or their satellites dumped oil on the world market and smashed its price, as they have done with tin and other commodities from time to time. Esso operates as: Imperial Oil Limited in the United Kingdom and Canada. S.O. identifies Standard Oil. It also phonetically spells Esso. If this has occurred pertaining to one product, notwithstanding anything else, it is logical to presume that similar arrangements exist in connection with other items. Now let us digress a little before coming back to the Russia — U.S.A. topic. Let us consider Cuba and Hungary.

Hungary would be a free nation today if Eisenhower had acted in support of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters. They were double-crossed. His denial to recognize them in 1956 was nothing less than a sell out to the I.M.F. He did not act on his own conscience. He was controlled. Soviet Russia waited three days after the revolt to see if there would be a reaction from political America notwithstanding the fact that they had financial negotiation in hand with the I.M.F. at the time. When Eisenhower remained silent they knew the I.M.F. had passed down the word, with the result that the slaughter and ruthless subjugation began. All discovered evidence suggests that he was controlled and threatened as to have interferred would have been upsetting monetary policies in hand at the time. Now Cuba. The world was told by President Kennedy that Castro must be removed. Yet this same President set up an abortive fiasco on the one hand whilst ordering his military forces to protect Castro from the Cubans in exile on the other hand. Why? The I.M.F. had something going with Russia and Cuba on the side. The brinkmanship of the Missile Crisis was equally staged from Washington, D.C. from the Offices of the Federal Reserve Board. Treasury Agents and Russian embassy staff met in coffee shops as the courier messengers. When the deal was closed, the ships turned back. But the Bankers did not gain all they wanted.

Such international "incidents" are well-planned, and well-staged plays to keep the people on edge and confused as during such confusion the real objectives can be pushed through without attention, question or obstruction! The complete slavery of mankind, under a secret one world command, fronted by a world federalist council, is one of these real plan objectives.

Communism is a great evil, but a greater evil is beguiled or unthinking man. The people of today are the ones responsible for this evil force, because without our kind of money and monetary system communism would have nothing to confront or contest and would die on the vine. Nationalism would flourish equally in all parts of the world, in an atmosphere of co-operation and co-ordination if every country operated on the basis of debt-free money. No matter what phase of left-wing infiltration we study, be it in our government, information media, labour unions, educational system, and foundation the tracks all lead, inevitably, to the few men who control the money systems of the world.

With the adroit use of money, these Rulers and their Pharisees have used a three step program of brainwash and indoctrinate us, and a one step program to champion an antithesis. If you are sixty years of age or under you will recognize that this program has been used on you, quite successfully in most cases, using a negative and positive psychology. First, your young mind was conditioned to look upon colonialism as an outmoded system.

Second, you were taught to think that individual capitalists were exploiters.

Third, you were fed all kinds of scientific data to illustrate that the present social order is destined to collapse if communism is allowed to take its place.

Having got you all mixed up as to the pros and cons of capitalism versus communism, you were then educated and instilled with the notion that the only solution to all these kinds of thinking is that the present monetary system is the only bulwark and that it must be maintained at all cost!

By this means, the money powers play both ends to the middle and at the same time agitate and confuse the people, polarize them, and set them up into camps of confrontation. This distracts the minds of men from the real programs of the moneychangers who can then go right down the middle, undisturbed, to achieve their objective without anybody being aware that they have been doing it whilst backs have been turned watching other things. Distraction has been used as an effective instrument of enslavement for centuries. Obfuscation is an insidious weapon.

At the present time the peoples of the free world are literally buying a front seat in a living hell on the installment plan by permitting the bankers to continue to bamboozle them and control money and credit as a commodity. They are slaves, paying the cost of their own enslavement.

The peoples of the I.M.F. world are obliged to go along because they are not organized to resist. The I.M.F. can compel the Bank of England, the Federal Reserve or the Bank of Canada to vary its ratio of reserves in the Central Bank from 3% to 27%. It may call for the lowering of the ratio of reserves to deposits which then enables a bank to lend more against existing reserves, then it can raise the ratio, at will, by, say, doubling it, which would cut bank credit in half, and cause panic constriction. This power of life and death over the world is held over nations, communities, industry and individuals, as well, it is manifest in the fluctuations engineered in the Stocks and Bonds markets.

Today it is impossible for a man to go into business and compete with the big corporations which are bank-owned or cossetted. The big corporations have an unlimited supply of money with which to operate and expand and swamp the little guy. If the creation and control of money supply and credit were returned to the people via government and constitutional treasuries, most of the large corporations would either go broke, or reduce in size. In their place would emerge many anxious men ready to start and produce the wants and needs and necessities of our nation, at a lower, competitive price, and most likely a better product as the element of personal pride and personal responsibility would return. It may be argued that technical research and much of the advanced technology cannot be financed except by large corporation, but this is a fallacy. The Research Departments are separate divisions which are subsidized, and often contributed to by government assistance. These phases would simply take on separate status and be contributed to by all as a central department. No progress would be lost because the big corporations became a little smaller.

Have you ever stopped to think that CREDIT CARDS are not credit but DEBIT cards! They debit the purse of the holder of the card but credit the assets of the Bank. They are simply another way of creating money under the "Reserve" system of money creation. They comply with the "Law" but are nothing but a deceptive method of Creative Fraud.

God sent Christ to earth when all the nations of the world had been taken over by the Devil. Christ was a humble man who loved all but one group, when confronted by this group He could not hold His temper. Matthew 21:12-13. "And Jesus went into the Temple of God and cast out all them that sold and bought in the Temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves, and said unto them, "It is written, My House shall be called a House of Prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."

How powerful was money then? Three days later the priests and the elders, the complete slaves of the moneychangers and the Pharisees, had secured the crucifixion of the Son of God for 30 pieces of silver. The Pharisees reigned supreme. If money could be used to bribe a Disciple of Christ, just think how easy it is for money to be used to bribe politicians and minor bankers.

Money has been around a long time. The first recorded use of money is found in Genesis 17:27. "And all of the men of the house of Abraham born in the house, and those bought with the money of the stranger were circumcised with him."

In Isaiah 52:2-3 we find "Oh Jerusalem, lose thyself the bands of thy neck, for thus saith the Lord, "Ye have sold yourselves for nought but ye shall be redeemed without money." This passage is so appropo of conditions in 1977. The World has sold itself for paper (nought) and can become free simply by repudiating the I.M.F. and its owners; an act which will cost nothing!

Why did Eisenhower refuse to let Paton go ahead and secure the West against Russia in 1945? Why did Truman refuse to let McArthur win a war in the hills of Korea? Why the war in Vietnam? Why any wars? The moneychangers can provide the answers. They make ten times the profit out of armaments that they make out of peacetime production. Lives mean nothing where money is concerned!

The greatest weapon, and profit maker, that Bankers and Moneychangers have, is war. It takes huge sums of money and manpower to fight wars. If the bankers are in the position of being able to counterfeit the money that pays for wars, they are able to create and enlarge National Debts of all the countries that are fighting and, of course, get to collect the Interest during interludes of peace.

Around 1800 a man named Napoleon decided he would rule the world. The masterminds of the "Illuminates" had not bargained for this and were quite shaken up. Particularly as Napoleon was campaigning on the exposure of their methods. The remnants of the "Illuminates" assigned the House of Rothschild to the job of stopping him. Rothschild simply financed all the Crowned heads of Europe for the Napoleonic Wars and came to control all of them except Russia. It was these debts which led up to the Congress of Vienna referred to elsewhere.

The "Illuminates" and its successors have never deviated from the original precept. They finance wars, and use the bait Christ told us to watch out for — "PEACE". More wars have been fought for, and gone into debt for in the name of peace than for any other purpose!

It takes many years of effort for a war weary people to fight back to prosperity. The Bankers encourage this, but only to the point when it is time to move in to skim off the newly won prosperity for themselves. It will be noted that as soon as a small firm becomes large enough and prosperous it is embattled into delivering itself, for a price, to a larger giant corporation. or it is effectively shut out of business because of sanctions against it via Big-business or Union action. This is a deliberate policy so that the large get larger but no one gets large enough to challenge the Fortune 500. In this way, the growth and wealth and prosperity gravitates to the few, and the many are left to struggle.

Ninety-seven percent of the people behind the iron curtain, and sixty-five percent of the people in the western world are suffering living hells, of different kinds, because of the hatred and spite of Rothschild, Mordecai and their heirs.

CHAPTER 17

SOLUTION

The Remedy to the whole damned mess is really quite simple. Each nation affected and afflicted by the presence of debt-finance and debt-economy must have its appropriate Parliament, Congress or Legislature nullify the Acts and Charters of each of the Banks involved and take over the assets of each of these institutions. By this means, the titles and assets of each would be repatriated to the national treasury, and any titles found to be registered or taken out of the country would be recovered as stolen property. This is justified in the premise that all these have been acquired with fraudulently created counterfeit money whether internally or externally produced.

The next step is to compensate all bank stockholders, on a preferential basis for payment to private citizen holders with no more than a prescribed number of shares in their possession. The more shares held, the less the compensation.

Simultaneously, all paper money in circulation must be repudiated. Coin may remain as it is of tangible value. Three days will be allowed for all persons to deposit into their bank account any moneys and securities they wish to have taken into account when exchange for new currency is effected. Again, the premise will be - the more turned in for exchange, the less received back in new currency.

All nations must then, unilaterally or collectively, cancel all debts to and from each other. Cancel all debts due to Banks, Institutions and Finance Companies. Cancel all debts between individuals and re-start the economy on the basis of "what you have, you own". This will not work out to be as inequitable as it may at first appear to be, because each strata of society in turn is in debt to a higher level, and capital gains taxation following the day of exchange will level out net worth residual status.

The new national banking system will be operated on a debit basis. No reserve style operations will be permitted, except for loans against foreseeable tangible production. A loan ratio reserve based on 2:1 being the maximum at any time, in any nation. When this is done, a new start can be made to bring about international trade on an equitable basis. Barter values will replace the sticky-fingered bankers who impose a commission levy on both seller and buyer under the present system and who impose money as a commodity instead of it being a mere measure of debt-free exchange.

To escape the pangs and traumas of inflation and devaluation recurring it is vital that private and commercial bankers not be permitted to be traders or adventurers either by direct participation, or via affiliate and associate holdings. Bankers must be simply recorders of exchange, on a scale fee basis, unable to impose commission and percentage levies.

The most urgent need is for nations to forsake the tenet of the I.M.F. Private holding of power and control of any nations assets must be halted. Until this is done, the present systems will prevail to keep few rich and many poor. Under the new millenium there will be few rich, few poor but many prosperous and comfortable. The jealousies and confrontation between the First, Second and Third World factions will resolve themselves and there will arise world confederation but in a form vastly different to the plans of the Corporate World Federalists.

Money has to return to being nothing more, nor anything less than a reliable measure of debt-free exchange. It must be without private levy upon the wealth of the nation and the pockets of the people, and it must represent true worth in the country which issues it as currency and tender.

When the bankers and the pharisees are banished, nations will be able to settle in true peace, and no longer have to go to wars in the name peace, at a saving of $400 billion per year.

MONEY is a man-created, tangible means whereby to unitize the value of this labour - nothing else. It is a convenient, portable, expression of recording barter. Thus, money is a means of exchange - not a commodity.

A properly organized and prosperous society functions best when based upon a 20-year purchase, and 50-year stabilization economy, in a private enterprise, free trade system.

- 1-2% for Interest on Savings
- 1½-3% for loans
- 2-4% for investment yield and dividends
- 3-5% for commercial venture, property purchase, amortization, etc.
- 4-6% for high risk and unsecured ventures (Loaded)

Such a culture is devoid of de-stabilization, inflation and devaluation and can sustain a Gross National Product of between 3½ and 6% according to the competence of national administration and marketplace management. Equitable pay rates are calculateable and differentials are practical. Taxation is lower because the government bureaucracy is smaller due not to having to administer departments devoted to regulatory controls imposed as the outcome of a destabilized economy.

In this way, it is possible for a country to be consistently productive and prosperous, and have full employment. Such a structure provides incentive, and renders it possible to sustain social policies of universal benefit and selective assistance. Such a system encourages thrift but not frugalism; a healthy work ethic as there as reward for industry and enterprise, and a good climate for investment and re-investment. Sensible relationships can prevail between employer and employee, and stations can be agreed that are acknowledged and conceded by all. But above all, such a society generates a fine ethic, pride and loyalty including the will to live and let live, help and be helped, give with grace and understanding, accept in dignity, and honour the principle all for one, and one for all: But, most important, infuses the will to be as equally productive and responsible as the next person, to the best of one's ability.

CHAPTER 18
WATCH OUT!

When, as it will, without warning, there is total collapse of the I.M.F. money system, Rothschild, with or without Rockefeller, will not care less. When the collapse occurs, theirs, or their nominee's or corporate names will be on the Registers as the owners of titles, or the holders of mortgages on title, or extensive lands, goods, chattels and Promissory Notes, thus being able, under present law, to claim entitlement and be regarded as the beneficial owners of such assets. This would continue to be a big club over the head of any national government. This is why repudiation, confiscation and repatriation actions are vital in order to avoid future controntations. Retroactive legislation would merely lead to drawn out unrest, and obduracy, thereby obfuscating the quick emergence of a new monetary system and a stabilized economy.

The moneychangers must be left no means whatsoever of being able to keep a toe-hold or claim against any assets; have the right or opportunity to control credit; or be permitted to be the fiscal agents for the treasury of the nation.

Whether the United States annexes Russia via money-methods and marketplace activity, or Russia annexes the U.S. via military blackmail, the result will be a peaceful take-over. In either event, Rothschild and Rockefeller could not care less. They control the money, and thus the law-makers around the world, under the present system be they White, Red, Brown, Yellow or Black.

Is there any doubt now left in your mind as to which is the best system to live under? A conscionable system or continue with the I.M.F.?

CHAPTER 19

ADVANCING INTO A NEW BARBARISM

(This article, by Eric D. Butler, is reproduced from The New Times of Melbourne)

As the Twentieth Century dawned, it appeared to many that mankind stood on the eve of an expansion of a Civilization surpassing all past Golden Ages. Europe had known comparative stability since the end of the Napoleonic Wars. The Austro-Hungarian Empire made possible the development in Austria in particular of a new high-water mark in Western Christian culture. The British Empire was at the peak of its influence, and while the British were not universally loved, they were respected for the law and order which prevailed internationally under the Union Jack. The British Dominions provided scope for the outlet of the energies of those seeking greater scope for their initiatives. The deep wounds of the American Civil War were healing and the basis established for a massive application of the industrial revolution to the nation's vast natural resources.

By the end of the Nineteenth Century, it was true to say that Western man's productive ability was such that the age-old spectre of famine and poverty had been abolished, and that expanding leisure and freedom, based upon economic security, were possible for all.

But, beneath the surface of what appeared a most encouraging prospect, there were those who dreamed of how the very technology which offered so much to the expansion of Civilization could be used to implement an idea as old as man—a Utopian World State.

A developing technology required far greater new financial credits than had less sophisticated production systems. Those who had developed and mastered the technique of creating financial credit as a debt against real credit—productive capacity—were in the position to play a decisive role in the affairs of men and nations.

The first Henry Ford, whose writings indicate some understanding of how power can be exercised through control of money, observed that most history is "bunk". Most of what passes as history deserves Henry Ford's description. It describes, often inaccurately, events without examining underlying causes.

No realistic history is possible without a thorough examination of the role of centralized financial power. When the prestigious liberal historian, Dr. Carroll Quigley, dealt with the link between the credit monopolists and revolutionary movements, he touched such a "live wire" that, much to his astonishment, his massive history, Tragedy and Hope, suddenly became hard to obtain once his work started to be publicized. In his excellent booklet, A Time to Speak, South African writer Ivor Benson shows how three outstanding men in their own fields, Dr. Quigley, historian, Mr. C. Gordon Tether, leading English financial journalist, and Dr. Antony Sutton, international expert on modern technology, all suffered the same fate when they started examining the link between the Money Power and revolution. They were given the "silent treatment". It is conceivable that the famous Prime Minister of Great Britain, Benjamin Disraeli, used the novel as a safe medium for revealing his own knowledge of the relationship between the credit monopolists and revolution.

William Cobbett was one of the greatest Englishmen of last Century. Not only did he possess the sturdy common sense of the English countryman, and become a self-taught master of magnificent English prose, but he also was a close student of the destructive force of the Money Power. His Rural Rides presents a realistic picture of the beginning of the destruction of the English countryman by the Money Power. Cobbett boldly attacked Jewish influences. He correctly diagnosed the danger of effects of a debt system which would eventually bring the British to their knees. Cobbett's voice was thundering throughout Great Britain at a time when the then obscure Karl Marx was scribbling away in the London Museum. Few today have even heard of Cobbett, while Marx is honoured internationally by those tearing at the very vitals of Civilization.

C.H. Douglas was much more precise in his examination of how the credit monopolists were exploiting the major defect in the finance-economic system to force increasing centralization upon the peoples of the whole world. He put forward realistic proposals for correcting the defect. But as he observed, there was an unholy alliance between some of the wealthiest men in the world with the political scum of the world in order to prevent that defect from being corrected. Douglas' ideas were met by the perversion of British economist J.M. Keynes. Credit power was used to make Keynes "famous" while Douglas joined the list of those given the "silent treatment".

The striving for progressive centralization of power through banking organizations which have also become progressively centralized on an international scale, has made the breakup of Civilization as inevitable as the sunrise. Starting with the First World War, mankind has, instead of moving into a beckoning Golden Age, suffered one convulsion after another: the First World War, a type of civil war in which the cream of European manhood died in millions, saw the establishment of Bolshevism upon the unfortunate Russian people; the Great Depression, starting in 1929, fostered the international expansion of the Communist subversion like a deadly virus; the financing of Hitler, the Second World War, and the rapid expansion of International Communism, were all part of a process of disintegration of Civilization.

Conflicts in Korea, Vietnam and the Middle East have added to the process. Africa has been plunged back to the charnel house conditions prevailing before the European colonizers came. A West, torn internally with disorders all stemming from centralized financial policies, watches apparently helpless while the Soviet uses Cuban client troops in a naked bid for greater power. At least 100 million have died since 1917 under the Communist barbarians.

In the short period of the sixty-four years since 1914, an average man's lifetime, the years which promised so much, the retreat from Civilization has been at a faster rate than was the retreat by the Roman Civilization. In that short period more human beings have been killed in wars and revolutions, died from famine resulting from a breakdown of orderly government, or have been uprooted from their homelands, than in the previous one thousand years.

Mankind is advancing into a new barbarism. As witnessed by the growing violence, the perversion of art, literature and even religion. Civilization is in a process of accelerating disintegration. Continuing high inflation distorts and destroys like a malignant cancer.

At this late hour, there is only one hope that the rot can be halted, and that is that those primarily responsible, the power-maniacs imposing their will through the instrument of centralized finance-economic power, can be effectively exposed and opposed. The one bright aspect of a darkening situation is that the very technology which has made increasing centralization of power possible has also made possible an exposure of the centralizers and their programmes through the printed and spoken word.

The use of decentralized printing equipment has made possible a rapidly-expanding grass-roots literature, books and magazines, right around what is left of the Free World. When real history is written in the future, it may be clear that the process of regeneration was well under way even when the advance to barbarism appeared to be irresistible. The technology which could be our salvation should always be seen as part of that heritage we owe to those who pioneered the discovery of those truths which are part of total reality.

And, as we were assured, it is Truth which provides the means of freedom.

CHAPTER 10

CANADIAN SUPPLEMENT:

HERE LIES CANADA

R.I.P. May, 1979

Canadian Government dalliance with the International Monetary Fund is unadulterated treason. It defies the Constitution, and ignores the oath of office taken by members of parliament.

The I.M.F., and it's coterie of affiliates such as the World Federalists, the Trilateralists, the Club of Rome, and U.S. Federal Reserve, the Bank of Germany, the Bank of Japan, The Bank of England, and the Canadian Bankers' Association, is but one huge, private cabal.

The voting shares of this camarilla are held by Rockefeller and Rothschild in a concomitant involvement as the controlling omnipotents. Non-voting shares are held by all others. The voting shares are held for private gain: The Non-voting shares are held by the 130 countries which have been beguiled into patronizing this fraudulent organization. The many persons in apparent prominent and prestige positions are but pharisees rewarded for carrying out their assigned roles in this outrageous conspiracy.

The voting shareholders hold the right, without accountability or recourse, to determine, manipulate, grant, or withhold exchange values and credits: And to hold these over the non-voting members as cudgels of control. They can increase or decrease purchasing power for their own private gain against others, and expand or contract credit at their whim. The object, and benefit of their actions is always to siphon off wealth into their own private vaults.

To assign Canadian wealth and productivity, which are assets of tangible value, in exchange for loss of control, and spurious I.M.F. paper and bookkeeping credits which are of no trinsic value whatsoever, and which will be debased as to purchasing power for Canada, at home and abroad, is monumental perfidity.

That a Canadian Government would fail to heed the lessons of history, and fall into a well-worn trap, by sponsoring a Bill which advocates, and ratifies such treachery whereby to meekly sell out Canada, and the rights, protections and holdings of the nation, the provinces, and the people in trade for "NOTHING" is execrable, and unconscionable beyond belief.

“ESCARGOT ROCKEFELLER”

The agonies of Canada can be attributed to the machinations of two groups:

1. The Trudeamaniacs or “Francophoniacs” as a descriptive title, and
2. The Trilateralists or “World Corporatists”

“Trudeamaniacs” encompass those who are “Quebecerliberally” oriented displaying all the greed and arrogant bigotry of the self-deluded Seigneur Guard, and the members of the Ordre de Jacques Cartier and the Richelieu Club, including Levesque as a lodge buddy. All the emotional tensions and camouflage of what is really going on — a surreptitious French Revolution and take over — is manifest as “french-ification”, divisiveness and disunity, carefully regulated. They threaten to subvert Canadian Sovereignty and solidarity: They are the ‘spoiled brats of Canada’ and are prompted by egocentric ambition.

“Trilateralists” underscore all that is wrong with the economy as the deliberate planners of destabilization, deficit financing, increased National Debt, and the subsidizing of the corporate producer instead of the consumer. They are the plotting thieves of Canada indentured to international inter-dependence instead of fostering national self-dependence and international codependence.

Of course, “Trilateralism” cannot thrive without Liberal Republicanism, or having control of the National Treasury through whatever Party is in power, as a precondition. It is the art of take-over by way of economic debauchment and creative fraud in the system of monetary policies and foreign exchange impositions which Canada allows itself to suffer at the hands of the International Monetary Fraternity, and their implanted underlings in Canada — the Chartered Banks and allied financial institutions who are pious hypocrites, and reap obscene profits.

The I.M.F., the U.S. Federal Reserve, the Bank of England, the Gnomes of Zurich, the C.B.A. and all the others in the world bank system belong to the same private cabal of rapacious greed and corporate entronement which dominates and dictates the actions of Government; the actions of Unions, winks at the activities of Organized Crime; and the manipulation of the marketplace as their private, personal preserve.

Each group is making use of the other one, for its own ends, but only for as long it suits either one of them. In the meantime, before the break-up between them occurs causing all kinds of destruction, the people of Canada, via parliament, should take steps to sweep both right out of the country.

The philosophies, precepts, direction and destabilization policies of the Liberal Federal Government, particularly as underscored by the French-Connection; yet also to a great extent by a mixture of parliamentarians, administrators and bankers who have fortunes to protect; are subtle, implanted and propagated activities set in the base of power through patronage, and the gratifications of self-enlargement.

Supplicance and apostation to the dogma of the I.M.F., the World Federalists, the Trilateralists, and their camarilla is, to put it bluntly, mal-conceived, deliberately contrived, and treacherous to Canada.

The haste to sell-out Canada behind the backs of Canadians because they are apathetic and can be defrauded by a little flim-flam, in exchange for personal prestige, gain and Pharisee status; and further rewards when the Constitution has been destroyed, and the Treasury duly delivered via the “Bank Act” to the Moneychangers; has to be recognized for what it is, and halted forthwith. National loyalty has to transcend personal ambition.

The freedom, solvency and sovereignty of Canada is at stake, being clandestinely subverted in a cabal of treason and patronage. No doubt they will become another Christmas present to the Moneychangers as was the Federal Reserve Act in 1913....! in the U.S.A.

The honour of parliamentarians to sustain good government, but to preserve, above all, the freedom and wealth of the people who elect them and whom they represent is, it seems, a foresaken duty and a mockery of the Oath of allegiance. Is it that sedition, like serving Wall Street, is potentially more gratifying and more personally profitable than maintaining the freedom, solvency, sovereignty, and national heritage of Canada?

To paraphrase Isiah 52. 2-3. "Oh Canada, lose thyself the bands of they neck for thus saith the Lord:— "Ye have sold yourself for nought, but ye shall (can) be redeemed without money." This passage is completely appropo of Canada circa 1977! The solution is simple: Repudiate the I.M.F. Repudiate the Chartered Banks. Retain the Crown Constitution, keep out foreign bankers, and return to being independent, United Canadian Loyalists.

CANADA
A THIRD-WORLD COUNTRY IN THE
WHITE-RACE NATIONS OF THE WORLD.

Encouraged by the international bankers (the I.M.F. and the U.S. Federal Reserve) who want to take over control of Canada and enslave Canadians, Trudeau and Levesque are being obsequiously permitted to inject the elements of unrest, emotion and internal deteriorations that the financiers thrive upon, and hide behind, whilst they get on with their quiet plunder of resources, productivity, and destruction of the Constitution. This pattern is one well-tried over the centuries, and has been used time upon time with success because it is a slow, imperceptible process passed down from generation to generation by the moneychanger families. What Trudeau and Levesque seem to overlook is that they are insignificants and expendable and will be excreted when their usefulness to the bankers is finished, or they get too far out of line!

When the financier families who own the I.M.F. and the Federal Reserve want to grasp the economic fabric of a nation, for their private gain, they use two methods:-

1. War or Civil War as the means of disruption; as an opportunity or to speed up the employment of method (2), forcing the protagonists, on both sides, to borrow from them to pay for their war, and
2. Use their fraudulent money-creation concept to force debt and deficit financing on a country by inducing it to adopt their "Reserve" system through which they can impel the country, and its people, into deeper and deeper debt to them via the I.M.F. nationally, and their Chartered Banks domestically. This process continues until the country, or the people, cannot pay or refinance to cope with their situation, thereby having to surrender its assets, and registries, in foreclosure. By this means, non-existent money is converted into a tangible, seizable asset, be it a car, a house or a country.

In the past three centuries, 18 wealthy, benign monarchies have been destroyed and plundered this way, and broken up into 34 countries, all of which have become 'banana republics' dependant upon their masters, the moneylenders (I.M.F. and Federal Reserve) to issue to them loans to keep them going, but for which they must pay dearly via usurious interests rates which keep them in a state of poverty and perpetual servitude.

Deliberately set high interest rates is the debauching method used because to keep servicing the interest on an ever-increasing debt, more and more money is artificially created without national production to back it up. Taxes go higher and higher to try and reclaim the valueless money back to the Treasury, but the high proportion paid to the moneylenders by way of National Debt and personal debt can never be recovered. The result is constant, accelerating inflation and eventual economic collapse which leads to foreclosure and dispossession. Foreclosure, in the Canada context, means surrender of the Treasury, the Constitution, the Judiciary, the resources of the land and the marketplace, personal freedoms, and the conditions which will permit the moneychangers to install their own form of Pharisee government. In other words - A police state.

Canada is now entrapped due to the actions of the Liberal governments in 1946, 1956 and 1977. But the delivery of Canada into the bordello of the moneychangers via the Revised Bretton Woods Agreements, 1977, was an act of infamy. To compound the situation as a means of by-passing the protection of the Constitution, the Liberals are about to let their paymasters bring their foreign banks into Canada via the "BANK ACT" to run riot and import their spurious money and mix it with Canadian currency to an even greater extent than it is already. The agonies of plunder have been painfully felt, particularly in the past year, but have been encroaching since 1964, courtesy of Lester Bowles Pearson. The impending rape of Canada is yet to come, unless the population frees itself by revolt and sending the moneychangers and their lickspittle packing.

Trudeau and Levesque, together with a lot of uninformed or uncaring politicians and administrators, either wittingly, unwittingly, or because they are bound and indentured to the Moneylenders Establishment, and being well paid, are totally oblivious to the breach they are providing for the bankers to come in the back door, via the "Bank Act" and some proposed Constitutional changes, and are turning a blind eye, doing as they are instructed by the I.M.F.

As of 1973, the economic method of take over was not far enough advanced, so the I.M.F. stepped up the conditions which force up borrowings and inflation. The proof of this is in the cost of living and increased National Debt. Trudeau and Levesque are being encouraged to implant and cultivate the seeds of civil war on the Quebec-Ontario border where feelings are now running so high as to be volatile and could flare into bloodshed at any time, thus providing the excuse to invoke the "War Measures Act" to Trudeau's, but more poignantly, to the advantage of the moneychangers.

True to form, the Canadian public and media, press and commentators are unaware of the formula and methods being used, and do not believe or want to know the truth because the Liberals and Bankers have them in their hands and beguiled. Thus, the cocktail press release circuit is fed what the public is supposed to ingest, and the I.M.F. is getting away with the take over of Canada slowly, inch by foot, unquestioned, un-exposed, un-opposed, and to a preconceived plan.

The same conditions exist in Canada today which caused the Civil War in England, 1641; the U.S. Declaration of Independence from the "Reserve" system of England in 1776; the War of Independence, 1812, and the U.S. Civil War, 1860, and countless other wars the world over from the middle ages to present day.

If the people of Canada but realized it, they are being conspired against and manipulated. The "Reserve" system is but an elaborate hoax perpetuated because it is never confronted. National Debt, personal debt, and the huge sums paid to the bankers every day by way of debt-servicing interest charges are debts and burdens fraudulently created. In fact, the debt-servicing cost is over five times what it basically costs to run the country and the economy!

No money is ever laid out by the I.M.F. or Bankers — they are strokes-of-pen bookkeeping credits entered onto the asset side of lenders ledger as and when they feel like inking them in! A process approved by politicians and governments which are paid to permit the method to appear to be "Legal" having voted, in the interest of the moneychangers, to put such concessions on the Statute Books.

All economic troubles are focussed in Interest Rates. There should be an instant revolt from coast to coast. There should be demand for the nationalization of Banks within the country so that all debts and counterfeit money can be wiped out, and the economy reconstituted. The National Debt due to the I.M.F. should be repudiated for the same reasons: And the ability to return to a basic, sound, solvent, productive, stable economy would be the result. As it is, one of the political parties has to undertake this, or a new political force has to be created to carry out these reforms. If these actions are not taken in the near future, within the framework of parliament and the constitution, the upshot will be civil war, and bring on outside intervention.

It is remarkable that Switzerland, the land of Bankers and Moneychangers, is free from high interest rates, has no unemployment, no inflation, high productivity, no national debt, very few personal debts, no climate of civil unrest, no confrontations and antipathies between ethnic elements within the population, and a prosperous economy: yet. the countries which the I M F. regulate and manipulate are all suffering from the antitheses: Inflation, High interest rates, chronic unemployment, low productivity, huge national debts, enormous personal debts, and ethnic conflicts.

What is good enough for the "Board of Directors" is apparently too good for the shareholders! The owners of the I M.F and Federal Reserve care nothing for the countries which are bled to keep them in splendor.

A TIME FOR RE-ACTION

The gang-rape of Canada is taking place. The front way in, salaciously, by Trudeau and his buccaneers. The back way in, befittingly, by the international bankers and Trilateralists.

The aberrations of language and cultural duality are follies causing division yet they are impressed for the purpose of fostering unilingual french and attempt to transform Canada into a French-dominated republic, to be arbitrarily determined and imposed by Trudeau, (If he gets away with it?) via the Human Rights section of the proposed constitutional changes, on the one side: And the "Bank Act" dissipations on the other side. These are the fundamental ravagements that the combined attack is meant to indulge.

Highly charged emotional furor flares around the linguistic constitutional rape but is being used by the Moneychangers to provide distraction from the real damage to be wrought by back-door penetration in the form of debauchment of the Canadian dollar, and plunder of the economy.

Canada has been beguiled and deflowered many times since the Bretton Woods Agreement, 1946; but was finally prostituted by the Trudeau-Liberal camarilla in the sell-out to the Revised Bretton Woods Agreements, 1977 — For Canada to have handed over management, manipulation, foreign exchange, and material control of its Treasury to the pimps in the I.M.F. has been an inglorious surrender indeed.

Destruction of the existing constitution, by hook or by crook, is the target of Trudeau and the international moneychanger set. Removal of democratic parliamentary rule and the supreme majesty of the people as their own master, to be displaced by a bizarre corporate republic, is their unalterable and cynical objective. The present constitution is the moat of first protection and the bastion of last defense that Canadians have between temporal freedom, or slavery under appointed Pharisees.

The Moneychangers care not how, when, where, why, what or who they employ, pay-off, subjugate or expend on their way to capturing the constitution. War or fraudulently created National Debt upon which they can foreclose are equally cogent methods in their catalogue of dirty tricks.

Trudeau, via bilingualism and biculturalism, is providing a timely and welcome emotional diversion for the I.M.F. When the smoke clears, the international financiers will have implanted their banks within Canada because no one was watching the store. A spurious "Bank Act" will be enacted due to subversion and default.

Perhaps, as his reward, Trudeau has been promised that he can get away with his dream of frenchification? But he ought to know that bankers cannot be trusted! Perhaps he is savouring his strutting around in a Nazi S.S. uniform, circa 1943, and envisions his own form of holocaust for Canadians not of French origin, circa 1984? perhaps he intends to ferment unrest as an excuse to invoke the "War Measures Act" late in '78 or early '79 to save himself from being excreted from Office? But, whatever the game...Please, God, deliver us from it.

If Trudeau is not aware enough to realize that the international and Canadian Chartered Banks are using him, and giving him but enough rope not as a lifeline but simply to get into deep water where he can be cut adrift, he is not the astute revolutionist he considers himself to be. Nor is he fit to be the leader of Canadians whom he exhorts to follow him, unquestioning, into the quicksands of demise.

Bilingualism, French superiorité, Larcenous foreign bankers, and ambitions to superimpose a temporal Deity above the majesty of the people themselves are the cancerous cells in the body of Canada: All other issues are secondary.

The following sums it up succinctly:-

Five thousand years ago, Moses said, "Pick up your shovel, pack your camel, mount your ass, and I will lead you to the Promised Land."

Fifteen years ago, Pearson said: "Put down your shovel, light a camel, sit on your ass, this is the Promised Land."

Now, Trudeau is - taking your shovel, selling your camel, kicking your ass, and giving away the Promised Land!

NEED MORE BE SAID?

June 1978.

F. Fred Kirkman

The citizens of California have triggered a long-simmering and long-awaited movement. The day simply had to arrive for the public to dig in its heels and say "enough is enough" when it comes to debt, taxes, waste, interest-servicing payments, incongruous public services, and a disproportionate parasitical, non-productive, income-scavenging population. Not to mention the patronage, pay-offs and padding on the side.

The government, of course, as dutiful servants of the bankers, has been quick to re-act by, predictably, adopting a revengeful, punitive, and suppressive stance hitting out at the low-scale end of the payroll instead of first eliminating the questionable practices, and rolling back pay levels as a deflationary initiative to parallel an enforced reduction in bank interest rates.

Unfortunately, as the system now stands, not just in California but in all levels of government throughout North America, an order is entrenched which will need some smoking out and the sewers disinfecting. A new era of clean thinking and political nuance must emerge which will recognize probity, integrity, thrift, common sense, and abilities unfettered by the need to qualify for public service through having an Establishment Degree in illiteracy and vertical thinking. It is time to return to the presence of horizontal thinkers who are the product of experience, hard knocks and rectitude as their 'university' of training.

Beyond this, the matters of money and taxation go much, much deeper. The revolt will have to spread to take on the banks, interest rates, compulsory private and national debt as now yoked under the system which is imposed: And national attention to the issues of independence, solvency, and constitutional integrity. On these matters is appended a paper prepared by the writer in January 1976, the precept of which has not changed one iota.

The spirit of 1776 demonstrated that there is a better way. But the U.S. Civil War (1860), the advent of the Federal Reserve (1913), and the establishment of Bretton Woods (1946) negated all that was gained by allowing the treachery of Liberal-Corporate-Republicanism and Trilateralism to inundate and destroy the original ambitions.

There is a better system than the Reserve System with its fraudulently created credit, debt and deficit-financing formulae. Recovery to a state of economic stability, solvency, self-sufficiency, valuable currency; sovereign independence instead of bank-controlled and manipulated interdependence; a protective and fully-democratic constitution is but an election away. A new order which will take the best from each of the existing structured political parties and meld it into a national presence, right of centre, and representing the full flower of private enterprise has to emerge. In Canada, the future holds no viability under the Liberals, the Conservatives, the N.D.P. or the Communists. A co-ordinated Party which draws upon the best from each to represent the 70% of the population which is seeking leadership expression is vital to the movement out of the past and into the future.

F. Fred Kirkman
June 1978

Established in the fact that the International Monetary Fund, together with its sister organizations the International Money Market and the International Monetary Exchange, is the presence of nothing more than an imposed hoax: And that the Chartered Banks of Canada, The United Kingdom and other Commonwealth countries; the U.S. Federal Reserve, and other "National" Banks within the framework of the I.M.F. are all private corporations controlled by the same private owners and directors who own the I.M.F. cabal: And that the money systems, money, private and national Debts due to them are artificially generated and manipulated by the cabal, for the cabal through the banks for their gain and profit at the cost and expense of the people in the form of the colossal amounts educed in the way of Interest Servicing Yield (Interest rates and charges), it is viable to presume that -

- to rid people of excessive taxation, at all levels
- to restore the value of money
- to bring about national economic recovery, solvency and stability
- to establish equitable international free trade
- to attain industrial labour relations tranquility
- to improve productivity and re-kindle the work ethic
- to increase take-home purchasing power
- but without impairing civic, and social services

- is simply to cancel all debts due to Banks, Financial Institutions, and Money Lender operations: And for Canada to repudiate all debts recorded in the I.M.F., the U.S. Federal Reserve. and the Bank of England on the reality that all of these have been corruptly and fraudulently created via a planned conspiracy of iniquity against the country and the people.

It can be done, if politicians will cease to be cowards and supplicant, beguiled slaves to the Financiers, International and national bankers who comprise the Bretton Woods association.

F. FRED KIRKMAN
January 1976.

THE CHOICE IS YOURS

Which would you rather have?

- (a) Take home pay of $100 per month, able to afford things, live well, and put $10 into savings for a secure future?
- (b) Take home pay of $1,000 per month, be short $100, even to exist, and have to go into debt for it as an additional burden?

The greed and gullibility of those who submit to plan (b) reflects the mentality, applied psychology, and collusion of leaders in labour, banking and government.

But plan (a) is as close as a citizens' revolt, which can be achieved by following one of these two solutions:-

1. Put the Federal Government into the position of having to demand, and enforce, a considerable reduction in 'interest rates' within the present banking system (down to 1% on Savings and 1½% for Mortgages) supported by the action of withdrawing all savings; cashing in Certificates; disposing of Stocks, and demanding coin in exchange for Bonds, Treasury and Bank Notes. A "run" on the government!
2. Command parliament to repudiate the Chartered Banks and Financial Institutions; re-constitute the marketplace by way of statutory cancellation of loans in favour of the borrower; re-valuation of the Gross National Wealth; repudiate the I.M.F. and with it the National Debt; and to issue a new, par-value, debt-free currency not under the "Reserve" system.

This action is justified in the fact that all debts owed to banks and Financial Institutions are mounted on fraudulently created, counterfeit money produced for the bankers, compounded by usurously high interests rates - the fountainhead of inflation.

Neither of these is a complicated or impossible process. The formula is less inconvenient than filling out an income tax return: And the time frame three banking days. It would be less work than carrying out the census, but the net result would be a stable, solvent, milk and honey economy together with individual prosperity.

Initiate either of these actions then stand back and watch the bankers jump to comply as you put the blocks to them. The moneychangers are the only ones with anything to lose!

NOW, IT'S UP TO YOU

CRISIS CANADA

Intractable obduracy, the penultimate tell-tale sign of defeat is evident in the Trudeau-Lalonde-Levesque caramilla and their Jacobin partizans.

Motivated by self-induced delusions of Quebec Superiorite to a claim that the Seigneur elite has a right to rule Canada, or divide the country if this ruse fails, these insular, arrogant, buccaneering opportunists, as the very epitome of their own favourite epithet 'bigots', are fully prepared to devastate Canada via constitutional ravagement including displacement of the Crown, recalcitrant subterfuge in the Courts, and unilateral coercion to impose sufference under an abominable regime which will implant a politically appointed Head of State and Supreme Court Justices weighted-in number on the Bench to favour Quebec; a one-sided Quebec veto on all other matters, and a calamitous Official dual language obtrusion.

It means nothing to them that they are sacrificing not only the 85% non-French Canadians, but also the 15% French Canadians to become another, but this time 'white' "Vietnam" (French Indo China) third-world victim, precursoryly serving the rapine interests of the World Federalists and the corporate, international moneychangers.

Before this occurs, these spoilers must be halted, castigated and excreted.

Not yet universally recognized, but paramount to the constitutional and language issues, the economic crisis is a present and pending danger. Here, the need is to confront and rebuff the bankers, both national and international, because the fundamental cause of all economic distress is manifest in 'interest rates'. Each 1%, like the Richter Scale, has a compounding destructive factor.

The source of every money problem for individuals, industry, trade, commerce, local councils, provincial governments and the federal administration is centered in apostate political subservience to the cabal of the moneychangers as embodied in the I.M.F. internationally, the Private, Chartered Banks and Financial Institutions of Canada, and the Federal Reserve Banks in the U.S.A. as theirs is the fraudulent, larcenous, "Reserve" money system which entraps all.

Ever since the initial "Bretton Woods Agreement, 1946", Canadians have been beguiled into servitude and hoaxed into debt. But the "Bank Act, 1967" and the "Revised Bretton Woods Agreement, 1977" under which the Liberal canaille mischievously indentured Canada, were the enabling instruments for the bankers to intensify their vampirous rampage, causing destabilization.

Since 1967, interest rates have increased beyond the levels of sound economic principles, and been manipulated to the disadvantage of Canadians — in the same way the dollar exchange value has been prejudicially contrived — to maintain a level just under the breaking point but high enough to induce increased national and personal debts which have to be serviced. The 'interest' servicing payments go to the private bankers as profit. The results and cost to Canadians are encroaching poverty, being bled to death, inflation and ultimate dispossession. A corresponding surge in every conceivable economic constriction, in direct proportion to interest rates, has been the corollary. Not to mention the obtuse payment of "Stand by" fees in the order of $25,000 per day to the I.M.F. for which Canadians get nothing!

The proposed "Revisions of the Bank Act" presently before parliament, if the Liberals again have their way, will render matters to be even worse by permitting the bankers additional pipelines of plunder.

As in the past, an emotional distraction is screening the objectives and manoeuvres of the bankers (Trilateralists, World Federalists, International Corporatists or whatever other fancy names they hide behind). Ownership and control of the economy is the valued prize. If the constitution can be destroyed or hobbled in the process, nothing to do with the bankers, of course, so much the better. But the Treasury more than the Law-making process is the trophy. After all, money can be used to buy laws and appoint Pharisees! Corruption and decay go hand in hand.

The triple crises of Language, Constitution and Economy are seemingly separate issues, but they are not. They are critically integrated. None must be used or exploited to the disadvantage of the others. And the conspiracies and gamesmanship of licentious statecraft must be perceived for what they are so that those guilty of irresponsibility and mismanagement as sedition under the Crown - as distinct from the owners of the corporate banking system - can be identified, countermanded and removed, including those who contrive to wear more hats than one!

TREASON: FASHIONABLE OR CONTAGIOUS?

DESTABILIZATION: MISCHANCE OR INDENTURE?

To those of Trudeaustic persuasion, apathetic, or imbued with the prospect of Canada becoming "La Republique de Canada Francais" treason is fashionable contempt. To those beguiled, entrapped or Liberalized into patronizing him, it is a contagious paroxysm.

In calling constitutional "briefing", Trudeau perverts canons and protocol, as is his practice. He is without mandate, and is devoid of popular support even including Ontario and Quebec. He is proceeding unilaterally, as did Ian Smith in Rhodesia ten years ago, but in this instance to operate a 'Robespierre, Jacobin, hyphenated French-Canadian cell' against the un-hyphenated "Canadian" majority.

Unrelenting watch must be maintained because Trudeau will grasp at any cynical pretext to hold on to power to try brazenly, or deceitfully, to impose his dream of Hitleristic puissance.

If the people do not axe him at the hustings; or he is not impeached by Petition, the British Privy Council will be entrapped into having to declare him persona non grata arising out his insubordination to the British North America Act, 1867, and the Statutes of Westminster, 1931. A ploy he has been working slickly toward for a long time, in supplement to which he has recruited others into accepting his franc.

Trudeau will not be reticent about allowing situations to ferment which will permit him to invoke the "War Measures Act" thus becoming dictator by coup. There has already been a dress rehearsal with no questions asked. The outcome next time, of course, will be civil war attracting intervention from the U.S.A. which will not tolerate Trudeau having usurped power, nor have an Havana republic of Gaulistic arrogance on their frostline border. And he has thrown the gauntlet at the press via vicious use of the "Official Secrets Act"

Should Trudeau get back into power by default or lethargy on the part of the voters, it will be due to lack of education, fortitude and leadership from the Premiers of the Provinces, and other persons in positions of public attention. A determined effort has to be made to counter the Trudeau propaganda machine.

With Trudeau and his coterie removed from power, as indeed all "Canadians" should pray he will be, the opportunity will be available to recover the nation from the ravages of bilingual tribalism; Gaulistic, Partizan domination of the Armed Forces, the Police, and the executive echelon of the Civil Service; manipulation and monopolization of the press and electronic media; and the devastation that his years in office have wreaked upon the economy and the Canadian dollar.

The hypocritical schemes and methods of government indulged in by Trudeau and his Cabinet are legion. The bias and munificence squandered on Quebec at awful cost to the remainder of the citizens of Canada, and in disunity oozes sycophant fanaticism.

Methods have included government by Order-in-Council as executive, hidden decision in lieu of parliamentary procedure. Pitching jurisdictions against each other in covert or open gladiatorial combat: But always with the extra-long sword in the hands of the "French" hector, with a net already over, and a pre-inflicted stab wound in the side or back of the "adversary". It may be likened to the obsequious, craven toreador after the picadors have first bled the bull (John Bull, that is!). But this time, the bull is something else!

The catalogue of Trudeaustic malignities is too long to chronicle. Perhaps recounting the ones which readily spring to mind will lead to recalling others.

DESTABILIZATION is the direct result of Trudeau, and other Liberals before him, accepting for Canada the wiles and systems prescribed by the Republicans of the U.S.A., the incisions of the I.M.F. and the presence of the Federal Reserve via the Chartered Banks in Canada. Under these, via indenture under the "Bretton Woods Agreements, 1946 and 1977" Canada has been set up, plundered, inflated and emasculated. And will be further ransacked if the "Revisions" of the Bank Act" proceed as the Liberals are trying to ram them through at the present time.

We do not want a "Federal Reserve" Christmas present in Canada in 1978 the same as the people of the U.S.A. received for Christmas 1913. Nor an ersatz facsimile.

All the adverse factors of inflation, dollar devaluation, unemployment, decreased purchasing power, essential commodity price-gouging by the multi-national cartels, and the other ills of economic and social decay can be fundamentally attributed to the imposition of high rates of interest for money, and adherence to the "Reserve" system. These are the buccaneering weapons of the corporatist-industrialist-banker cabal, insidiously used.

To lower interest rates; to repudiate the "Reserve" system; to return to the full flower of individual private enterprise and free trade, devoid of sticky-fingered bankers and state intermeddling are the only actions needed to restore stability, prosperity and economic-social integrity.

The emotional issues tormenting and distracting Canadians are a wonderful aid to the Moneychangers. They can operate almost un-noticed! But do not be deceived. The ultimate confrontation that will have to be faced between the Bankers and Trudeau will become another Vietnam, at the expense of all Canadians whether hyphenated or not.

DESTROYED BY A HANDFUL OF RECREANTS

The "Ordre de Jacques Cartier", a small, French-Canadian seigneur elite society, proudly boasts that it is the power and influence behind the deflowering of Canada. It claims esteem for the hauling down of the Red Ensign to be replaced with a red maple — psuedo fleur-de-lys logo; the Bi-Bi Commission; impost on the Supreme Court and its decisions; control of the Bar Association; subversion of the monarchy; manipulated mailings to members of parliament in order to saturate and create false impressions; influence on the C.B.C.; monitoring of the press; direction of the Treasury and tarrifs for the protection and avarice of Quebec; and all other affronts which contribute to French ascendancy, preferences and domination over all other Canadians as inferior beings.

This sinister complot, in league with the Richelieu Clubs, is behind Bill C-60 — the Constitution Amendment Bill, and initiated the "Official Languages Act, 1969" as well as the Quebec language Acts which discriminate against all non-Gaulists, particularly les Anglais. Completely ignoring the fact that Quebec, initially, was GAELIC not Gaulic!

Thus, a handful of recreants (no more than 20 domo personalities) using surreptitious and discreet methods are waging a campaign virtually un-noticed, un-reported, un-opposed and un-hindered because of un-awareness on the part of the general population.

The accomplishments of this microbic but active few are out of all proportion and at odds with the majority, yet are singularly effective because the majority is silent and apathetic, suffering heretics in the high seats of government. Heritage is attacked, insults handed out, impositions occur, freedoms are lost, developments are reversed but, more alarmingly, the country is rendered vulnerable to take over by outside third parties who are taking advantage of the internal strife.

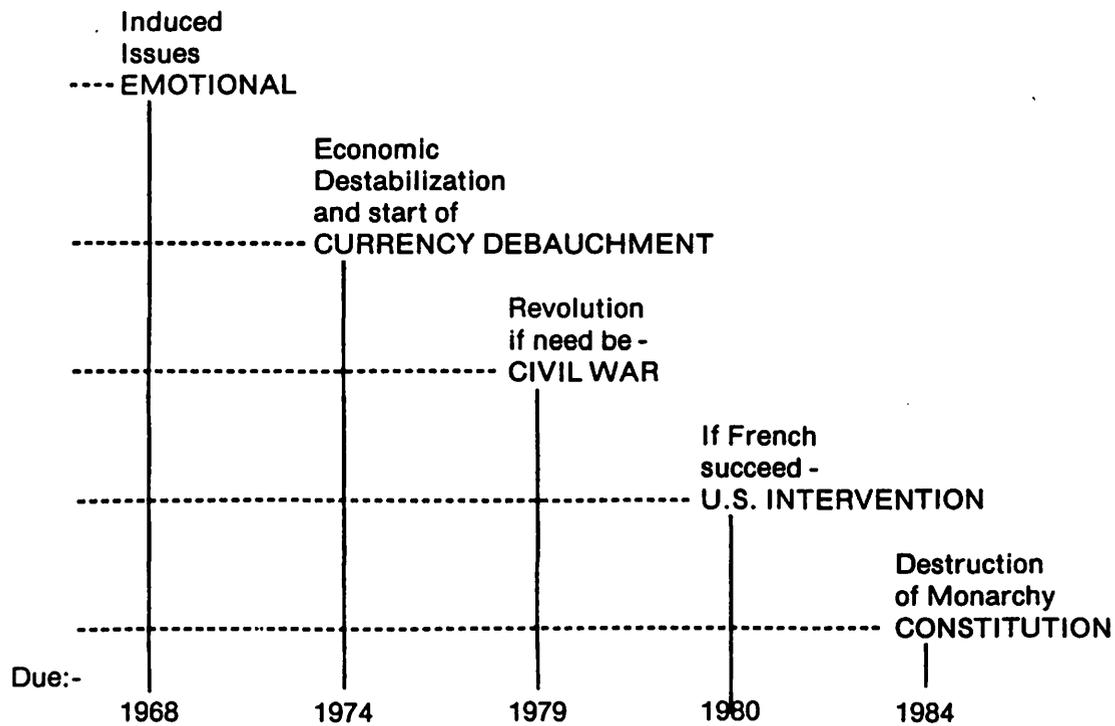

The French elite, in its haste to try and pull off 'La Republique de Canada Francais' is manipulating the remainder of the ethnic majority whilst the Trilateral/World Federalist — Communist cabal is sneaking in the side door via the "Bank Act" and other breaches in the fabrics and integrity of government and economic stability.

History is repeating itself. The rape of France, 1780 to 1870 only to be lost to Moneychangers: And the debauchment of the U.S.A. 1846 to 1913 when the Federal Reserve was established, engineered by the Moneychangers after their defeats in 1776 and 1815, is being played out again, but this time in Canada. Planned in 1931, timetable circa 1946 to 1984.

The Trudeau-Levesque-Ordre de Jacques Cartier-Richelieu Clubs hybrid, Jacobin French revolution is being used as a smoke screen by the Moneychangers. The revolution will be stolen from them via the Protocols of Zion through the Masters of the Lodges.

In each event, the people of Canada are paying both sides to conspire against them, as subscribers to their own destruction.

The plan of Revolution — Counter Conspiracy is as follows:—

V/ith a full Moneychanger-controlled republic 1984.

The one and only protection is retention of the Monarchy Constitution in the stewardship of private enterprise, free-trade nationalists, with a single "One Official Language" policy, and expulsion of the "Reserve" system of monetry debauchment. Something only an entirely new political presence can achieve. The Liberals, the Conservatives and the N.D.P. are too indentured to the present influences of the moneychangers.

MOMENT OF TRUTH

The Bible informs us that a prophet is not without honour, except in his own country. To this, Lord Byron added that the prophecies of the present and the future come from the past.

So who are we to argue with a Canadian lawyer-author-politician who, seeing what he believed to be his moment of truth steps, for a moment, into the role of seer? Here is what he wrote:-

“What idiots they - the Liberals - are ... They know that their Prime Minister acted cavalierly ... There is not remaining in this Party one single man for whom principles mean more than power.”

And again, referring to the same Liberal Prime Minister:- “He has nothing to lose but his honour. He lost it. His whole Party has lost it too.”

No, this is not a recent pronouncement by one of the defecting former Grit cabinet ministers, nor the bleat of a dissatisfied Liberal voter.

It is the view expressed back in 1963 by the co-editor of a radical magazine published in Quebec - a man considered to be left-weighted and an activist-opportunist.

His name was, and still is, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, the Liberal Prime Minister of Canada. The recreant chief of the “idiots” who elected and still retain him as their Leader, and who follow him, unquestioning, in euphoric, lemming-like haste to self-destruction.

IT IS WRITTEN ...

SEVEN SINS OF DENIGRATION

WHO IS:-

- 1. The person booted out of the C.O.T.C. (Canadian Officers Training Corp) for lack of discipline in 1940?
- 2. Revealed to be the member of the Canadian Armed Forces who, during the Second World War, paraded around in a Nazi S.S. uniform, thus wearing the uniform of the enemy in wartime?
- 3. Undermined the war effort in 1941 by associating with anti-war, red-supported Bloc Populaire in Quebec?
- 4. Debased himself in 1943 by being Court Martialed, and given a discharge "Less than honourable"?
- 5. Enrolled for Marxist instruction and indoctrination in 1947?
- 6. Associated with well known Reds in 1951 to publish CITE LIBRE and indulge in "Agitprop" Communist Party agitation and propaganda?
- 7. Unequivocally barred as an "inadmissible person" to the U.S.A., except as an unavoidable head of state, since 1953?

AND WHO IS NOW ATTEMPTING TO ACCOMPLISH A COUP D'ETAT AND TURN CANADA INTO A FRENCH REPUBLIC UNDER HIS DICTATORSHIP AND ASSOCIATION WITH THE COMMUNIST BLOC?

Now that the press, the electronic media and the public have caught on to the subversions being practised by our communist sympathising Prime Minister, and must not be forgotten, we need to look around and realize that an even greater evil exists.

Whilst the P.M. is hell bent upon removing the protections of the B.N.A. Act; implanting a republican dictatorship; and persuing the costly, futile, illegality of official bilingualism as personal ambitions, he is working concomitantly with the international money-changers and the Trilateralists to provide a smoke screen for their aspirations.

Just as the emotional issues are distracting attention, this complot is aiding and abetting the diabolical attack which is debauching our currency, destabilizing our economy, and demoralizing our citizens.

Since the Revised Bretton Woods Agreements, 1977, into which the Liberals delivered Canada like a lamb to the slaughter, destructive experiences have been suffered with debilitating and disasterous effects, completely unchallenged.

Parliamentary control of money and the National Treasury, and the protections of the B.N.A. Act have been abrogated to the I.M.F. as illegal actions: The National Debt has been engineered and increased contrary to the provisions of the B.N.A. Act, Sections 91 and 92: Government indebtedness to the private, chartered banks has needlessly increased contrary to the provision of the B.N.A. Act: Interest rates have increased. Foreign exchange rates have been contrived adversely against us: And foreign control of our money prevails - all to the disadvantage and deflowering of Canadians.

Repudiation of the I.M.F., and the charters of the private banks is as vital to Canada as the removal of the Prime Minister from Office, if Canada wishes to remain a solvent, sovereign and independent nation of integrity.

ABROGATED HONOUR

At last, the Machiavellian gametal of Trudeau is becoming more widely recognized.

(1) By virtue of the B.N.A. Act, Sections 20 and 50, (which he decries yet uses!) Trudeau can let the present parliament die on June 30th, 1979 without having called an election. He then remains in power as an executive-council unto himself (dictator) for up to one year plus a day without having to call an election. On June 30, 1980 he is obliged to call an election which can be delayed for sixty days, and he can then take up to 30 days more before vacating the seat of Office, if he is deposed. This ruse has been used in the past by Prime Ministers Bennett, St. Laurant and King. Thus there are precedents.

(2) He can remain in Office as the result of fermenting conditions which will enable him to invoke the "War Measures Act", as a stand-by exigency, and thus stay in power by self-decree.

Via both methods, he is able to persue his abberations of subversion, constitutional rape, and implantation of a french republic dictatorship, all within the time frame he has constantly publicised; and continue to provide a smoke screen for his complots in the Trilateral world.

As Westminster is in default by not acceeding to the wishes of the vast majority of Canadians to impeach Trudeau before he does further harm, as was done with Gough Whitlam of Australia, November 1975, there is only one course of action to follow to achieve termination of his tenure.

The task is to find out just how many "honourable" Liberals there are in parliament and willing to cross the floor to put loyalty to the nation, and its well-being, before power in an individual. Sufficient must be found and induced to make the move in order to create an adequate number of votes to carry a Non-confidence Motion in the House of Commons against the government. This will force Trudeau to resign, or compel Westminster to depose him.

The emotional subterfuge jeopardising Canada is contained in this summary, but the last words pertaining to the deflowering of Canada are - the Chartered Banks, the I.M.F., and the Trilateral Commission.
