The Manipulation of America

I. We have lived so long under the protection of our Constitution, taking for granted its blessings of liberty, that we have become deaf to the prospect of tyranny. The Framers of our Constitution experienced the bitterness of tyranny. They were choice men, with vast experience, insight and inspiration. They hoped to design the Constitution to prevent tyranny from ever striking again. Many days they worked, growing weary and tired. About to abandon their efforts, Ben Franklin stood before them. Ben was eighty years old at the time, and felt he needed to remind them of their divine mission.

"We have all felt the presence of a supreme being while engaged in this great struggle. To Him, we owe this opportunity to consult in peace, and to establish the future happiness of this nation. Have we forgotten this powerful friend? Do we feel we no longer need His assistance? I have lived a long time, and the longer I live, the more convinced I am, that God governs in the affairs of man. If a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, can an empire rise without His aid?"

This is the spirit of the men who established America. America is great because she is good. If America ceases to be good she will cease to be great. America was founded as a land of God, a Christian land. God has kept this great nation in the hollow of His hand. He has promised protection if we will but serve Him. The world will always see those who do not care about, or believe in God or His promises. The selfish, greedy, the powerseekers, care only for the desires of their heart. We have seen their desires come before all things. We expect that of them. We who have seen this country's greatness and see God's hand in it, must not be complacent and feel that all is well, lulling ourselves into a false sense of security.

Between the years of 1812 and 1830, there existed the Old Bank of The United States. It was an attempt by the power seekers at that time, to gain control of the United States through their control of a central bank. President Jackson became aware of their activities and abolished the bank. He left us with a great warning.

"The bold effort the present bank made to control the government, the distress it wantonly produced, are but premonitions of the fate that awaits the American people should they be deluded into a perpetuation of this institution or another like it."

America heeded President Jackson's warning for the remainder of the century. Sadly, the tide began to turn about 1902. It was at this time that German banker, Paul Warburg came to the United States and linked up with America's money barons; Rockefeller, Morgan and Baruch. Warburg had seen the profit to be made in central banking in Europe, and wanted to open a branch and begin implementing those banking principles in the U.S. Morgan, Rockefeller and Baruch were monopolists, believers in big business, international business. They believed in forming a monopoly and letting society work for them. Rockefeller once said: "Competition is a sin." These men were wealthy, powerful and definitely not free enterprise advocates.

Shortly after Warburg arrived in 1902, he began lecturing and distributing pamphlets on the need for a central banking system in America. At about the same time, J. Pierpont Morgan began to spread rumors about the insolvency of the Trust Company.

(Morgan spread rumors about insolvency of the Trust Co., which triggered bank runs and Panic of 1907.)

Nelson Aldrich (Vice Pres-1974)

SENATOR Nelson Aldrich met with Warburg, Morgan and Rockefeller and formed a plan for America's Central Bank. It was brought forth as: THE FEDERAL RESERVE ACT, and passed in 1913.

ALDRICH also brought forth the amendment to institute the income tax.

COLONEL HOUSE
PAUL WARBURG

1913—THE FEDERAL RESERVE

Purpose: This system was to act as guardian of reserve for banks and it was granted control over interest rates and the size of national money supply. The public was induced to accept the FED by claims that, given these powers, it would stabilize the economy, preventing further panics!

COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS—1921

Purpose: The Council on Foreign Relations aims to provide a continuous conference on the international aspects of America's political, economic and financial problems. It is merely a group of men concerned with spreading a knowledge of international relations, and developing a reasoned sense of American foreign policy.

FOUNDING MEMBERS: House-Warburg-Aldrich
OTHERS: John Davis
Paul Cravath MORGAN'S ATTORNEYS
William Thompson
Robert Barr WALL STREETERS
Alan Wardell

DAVID ROCKEFELLER later became chairman and also founded the TRILATERAL COMMISSION. Was chairman from 1970-1985

This so alarmed the citizens of the country, that they began to run to the banks and withdraw their savings. This caused what came to be known as the Panic of 1907. It was pre-planned and triggered by these two men. They wanted a central bank, so they manipulated to get one. The Panic was later investigated. With their friend Senator Nelson Aldrich heading the investigation, their dream would surely come true. After all, Aldrich had an international banker in the family! His son-in-law was John D. Rockefeller. Senator Aldrich spent two years in Europe studying central banking techniques. When he returned to the United States, he met secretly with Warburg, and top representatives of the Morgan and Rockefeller interests. It was at this time they planned the formulation for America's first central bank. President Jackson's nightmare had returned. It just had a new name! It came to be known as the FEDERAL RESERVE.

II. The average American probably does not know the true facts about the Federal Reserve.

1. Although it is called "Federal" (FED), it is privately owned.
2. It has NEVER received a meaningful audit.
3. It makes its own policies and is NOT subject to the President or Congress.
4. The members of the Federal Reserve Board are picked by the President, however they serve fourteen year terms and most of the chairmen of the board come from the New York banking community.

Louis McFadden, Chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency from 1920-1931 said:

"When the Federal Reserve Act was passed, the people of these United States did not perceive that a world banking system was being set up here. A 'super-state' controlled by international bankers and industrialists acting together to enslave the world for their own profit."

Congressman Lindbergh warned Congress:

"This act establishes the most gigantic trust on earth. When the President signs this act, the invisible government, the 'money power' will be legalized. This new law will create inflation, and scientifically create depression. The people may not know it immediately, but the day of reckoning will come."

The Federal Reserve Act became law in 1913. It greatly benefitted the bankers, lawyers and industrialists who manipulated to get it passed. The Federal Reserve is the overseer and supplier of all the reserves, and it gives the bankers access to public funds in the United States Treasury. The Constitution of the United States, ARTICLE I, Section 8 - states:

The Congress shall have the Power to coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, Coin, and fix the Standard of Weight and Measure.

The public was induced to accept the FED by claims that, given these powers, it would stabilize the economy, preventing further panics and bank runs. It has done nothing of the kind. Our nation has suffered through the Great Depression and numerous recessions. Inflation and federal debt (negligible problems before the FED), have plagued America since its inception. Jefferson warned us not to generalize and concentrate such great power into one body of men. It, more than any other thing, has destroyed the rights and liberties of man. Even worse than that, the Constitution of the United States was usurped when the Federal Reserve Act was passed.

IIB President Wilson was in office from 1913 to 1921. The bankers now had control of the nation's money supply with the passage of the Federal Reserve Act in 1913. They were now devising a way to involve themselves in foreign policy decision making. Lending to governments is the most profitable. They borrow more and have greater ability to pay back. Even more lucrative is getting other governments to borrow. The most profitable turn of event for the banker, is war. Nothing generates more government borrowing faster. The more often a government borrows, the higher their debt will become. The interest rates on the loans are enormous. The interest rate alone can become increasingly burdensome. Most often, governments find they cannot afford to pay back their loans. The interest rate soars, and the government finds itself in a precarious position. Some find the sovereignty of their homeland is at stake. It could be, the bankers have planned it that way!

President Wilson was continually guided by Colonel House, He was a "front" man for the banking community. House was a cunning, greedy and ambitious man. He guided President Wilson every step of the way, in accordance with the wishes of his banking friends. Colonel House and the bankers behind him had intentions that are very well documented. They have stated:

"The Constitution is a product of eighteenth century minds, and thoroughly outdated. The Country would be better off if it could be scrapped and re-written. All power should be centralized in a single global authority. National boundaries and identities would be eliminated."

When President Wilson brought to the Paris Peace Conference his famous "fourteen points", it was the fourteenth that proposed a "general association of nations." This proposal originated with Colonel House. He saw it as a giant step toward the goal of a "one world government." House and his British counterparts formed the "Institute of International Affairs." It had two branches, one in England, the other in the United States. The U.S. branch was called THE COUNCIL ON FOREIGN RELATIONS. The Council conveys that it is merely a foreign affairs "club", concerned in spreading a knowledge of international relations, and in developing a reasoned sense of American Foreign policy. It is of interest to note that for such an innocuous institution, millions of dollars have been poured into it over the years. Even more interesting, business men, (bankers, lawyers and industrialists) walk in the front door of the Council (CFR) and out the back door as statesmen. They then go on to become Secretaries of State, Secretaries of the Treasury and Secretaries of Defense, among other government positions.

Former member of the CFR for twenty years, Admiral Ward was shocked and dismayed by what he saw transpire. After resigning, he told of the CFR's true goals.

Submergence of United States sovereignty and national independence into an all-one world government, a NEW WORLD ORDER.

He also said their facilities for developing, promoting and supporting these goals is substantial, and with the mass media, they are able to discredit, and intellectually and politically destroy any opposition. The mass media is also used to confound and confuse issues. In 1954, Senator William Jenner said:

"All of the strange developments you see in foreign policy agreements, may be traced to this group."

Rockefeller, Morgan, Baruch and others like them, own corporations or shares in corporations in America, Latin America and Europe. Among them are: Pacific Steamship, Allied Machinery, International Mercantile and Marine Company, American National Terminals

Company and others. These large corporations have episodes of business where huge profit is made. These episodes are known as "war." It is through the manipulations of the CFR that war is often brought to pass, with huge profit being made for member's corporations. One can see why the association of the Federal Reserve and the Council is necessary and expedient.

IIC The following incidents are but a few that have been traced to CFR manipulation. The list is extensive and it continues daily.

THE LUSITANIA AND WORLD WAR I: This British Oceanliner, sailing from America to Britain, was deliberately sent in the vicinity of a German U-boat with her escorts withdrawn. The Lusitania was carrying six million rounds of ammunition plus other munitions to Britain. This is why Germany wanted to sink her. The U-boat hit her with one torpedo. Due to internal explosions, she sank in just eighteen minutes, with 128 Americans perishing. This more than any other incident is said to be responsible for bringing America into WWI. (The Lusitania-Colin Simpson)

THE GREAT DEPRESSION: It's true that foolish speculation bid stock prices high, but it was the FEDERAL RESERVE that prompted the speculation by expanding the money supply, a whopping 62% between 1923-1929. The FED made credit easy, while Establishment newspapers hyped what riches could be made in the stock market. It was the calculated "shearing" of the public by the "world money powers" - triggered by the planned, sudden shortage of call money in the New York money market. (The United States Unresolved Monetary and Political Problems - William Bryan)

ABOLISHMENT OF THE GOLD STANDARD: F.D.R. did much to indulge his mentors. In 1934, he took America off the Gold Standard, setting the stage for unrestrained expansion of the money supply, leading to decades of inflation, and decades of credit revenues for his friends in finance. Best remembered for his NEW DEAL, a large portion of his work force was unemployed. Not having enough tax revenue to pay for his programs, the government turned to its source of borrowing, the FEDERAL RESERVE. The international bankers created the DEPRESSION, and were now loaning America the money to recover from it. Naturally, the interest on these loans would be borne on the backs of taxpayers for years to come.

Impoverished Americans then, as now, were only too happy to accept money dangled by the President without any contemplation of its origins or consequences. To this day, many Americans do not perceive that when they accept federal aid, they invariably surrender a degree of freedom or control.

THE RISE OF HITLER: Germany had to repay war reparations after WWI. The international bankers, seeing profit in this situation came up with their "usual" study group and formed the Dawes and Young Plans (named after CFR members). Massive loans (using U.S. citizen monies) were made to three large corporations, of which I.G. Farben was one. These three companies became the backbone of the NAZI war machine and the rise of Hitler. I.G. Farben became largest chemical corp. in the world. It was later found Farben produced the deadly Zyklon B gas used by Hitler to exterminate the Jews. This tie of Americans to German fascism have been avoided by the U.S. mass media. (Wall Street and the Rise of Hitler - Sutton)

WORLD WAR II: The CFR was interested in exploiting this war as they had the first, to use as justification for a "world government." This exploiting later became a crude form of the United Nations, predominately the creation of the CFR. Activities were set in motion to goad Japan into firing the first shot. A trade embargo was recommended and enacted. Japan's American assets were then frozen. But, the final "slap in the face" came when the U.S. sent Japan an ultimatum. We demanded withdrawal of all her troops from China and Indochina. There is much documentation that Roosevelt, his Army Chief of Staff, George Marshall and U.S. Ambassador to Japan had prior knowledge of the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. American military intelligence had cracked the radio code used by Tokyo and picked up their messages to their embassies on a daily basis. Despite this, no alert was passed on to our soldiers in Pearl Harbor. (Infamy: Pearl Harbor and Its Aftermath - John Toland)

VIETNAM: No declaration of war by Congress. The heavy military restrictions placed on our soldiers were recently declassified in the "Congressional Record" in 1985. They were listed as:

1. Air Force denied permission to bomb strategic targets.
2. Not to fire until fired upon.
3. Vehicles more than two hundred yards off the Ho Chi Minh Trail could not be bombed. The enemy had only to temporarily divert to avoid being bombed.
4. A North Vietnam MIG could not be struck on a runway, only if airborne and showing hostile intent.
5. Missile sites could not be bombed while under construction, only after they were up and operational.
6. Enemy forces could not be pursued if they crossed over into Laos or Cambodia, giving them a safe sanctuary.
7. We could not bomb industries, canals, and dams, etc.

We certainly couldn't interdict the enemy's supply lines. After all we were indirectly enriching them by the items we were supplying the soviets. They were listed as non-strategic, but strategic they were indeed. In turn, the Soviets supplied North Vietnam with 80% of their wartime supplies. This is a list of the "so-called" non-strategic items:

OIL, RUBBER, ALUMINUM, TIRES, AIR NAVIGATION
EQUIPMENT, DIESEL FUEL, GROUND AND MARINE
RADAR, COMPUTERS, TRUCK AND AUTO PARTS,
RIFLE CLEANING COMPOUNDS, ELECTRIC MOTORS
AND ETHYLENE GLYCOL USED IN MAKING EXPLOSIVES.

The KOREAN WAR was essentially the same type of war. It had not been officially declared by Congress and heavy restrictions were also placed upon our military. Over one particular incident, General MacArthur said: "I realized for the first time that I had been denied the use of my full military power to safeguard the lives of my soldiers and the safety of my army. To me, it clearly foreshadowed a future tragic situation in Korea, and left me with a sense of inexpressible shock."

IID

A NEW WORLD ORDER

The idea of a modern, up-to-date Constitution is not new. In fact, one has already been written. It was published in 1970 by the Center for "The Study of Democratic Institutions, (a nice sounding name, and paid for by the Ford Foundation!) The following are some changes:

1. Conversions of the Senate from an elected body to one entirely appointed by the President.
2. Transfer of states' powers to the Federal Government.
3. Nationalization of the communications industry.
4. Conditional removal of the right to trial by jury.
5. Voters would be unable to cast ballots for individual candidates, restricted instead to choosing a party slate. This eliminates candidates.
6. Congress expanded. Party whose nominee became President would designate one-sixth of all representatives in the House and one-third of all Senators. (This would diminish the elective power of the voters and the balance to executive and legislative spheres.
7. The requirement for Senate ratification of treaties would be lowered.

These measures would reduce the say of the American voters and play havoc with our system of checks and balances, increasing the potential of an eventual dictatorship type of government. A new Constitutional Convention is being called for, the last one was in 1787. Thirty four states have to agree, and as of 1988, thirty two had done so. These thirty two gave their approval because it was publicized as a way to balance the budget. Few states are aware of the radical agenda for constitutional changes the CFR want to slip in. Many of those wanting the change, such as MacGregor Burns (Reforming American Government), feel the only way to do so, is at a time when there is a national crisis. Burns thinks a stupendous national crisis and political failure might do it! (A carefully orchestrated, preplanned, well thought through crisis.)

SOLUTIONS AND HOPE

America was founded as a land of God, a Christian land. We became the freest and strongest nation on earth. We now confront a distinct choice, liberty OR a totalitarian "new world order." Our forefathers fought and died so that we might have that freedom and independence. America is no ordinary country. It was consecrated as a land of promise to the people of the Americas, to whom God gave these great promises.

1. It will be a land of liberty to its people.
2. They shall never be brought down into captivity.
3. And there shall be none to molest them.
4. It is a land of promise.
5. It shall be free from all nations under Heaven.
6. There shall be no enemies come into this land.
7. It shall be free from bondage.
8. There shall be no kings upon this land.
9. I will fortify this land against all other nations.
10. He that fighteth against Zion shall perish.

These promises, glorious though they may be, desirable as they are, can come only if we will serve the God of this land who is Jesus Christ.

We still dwell in a free country, with free speech and the power to vote. We can exercise these rights to demand and enforce change. We can make a difference. We can speak out, alert our family and friends to the danger facing our republic. George Bush and other "establishment" Presidents, have pleaded their fitness saying, if elected, they would bring the nation's top minds to Washington.

These "top minds" are those businessmen who walked in the front door of the Council and out the back door as "statesmen." These men are not statesmen, for they lack two important qualities, integrity and character. George Albert Smith said:

"Let us not ally ourselves with bodies of men who would tear down and break in pieces this government, that was founded under the inspiration of God the Eternal Father."

We need to be careful who we elect. We need true statesmen with the qualities of statesmen, who will uphold the original Constitution of The United States of America. We need to be ever mindful of the changing faces of the CFR, Trilateral Commission and the Aspen Institute. As citizens, we can:

1. Speak out. Alert friends and family.
2. Support the Constitution and oppose a constitutional convention.
3. Support a strong U.S. Defense and oppose any treaty that moves us toward alignment with the Soviet Union.
4. Support effectual aid to foreign peoples who are battling Communist aggression and oppose trade and credits for Marxist regimes.
5. Oppose the strengthening of the U.N. and other international agencies of dubious merit.
6. Support reductions in federal spending, taxation, and bureaucracy.
7. Be vigilant to events overseas.

Theodore Roosevelt once said:

"Stand by our country, not by the President, except to the degree that he stands by our country. It is unpatriotic not to oppose him to the extent he fails in his duty to stand by his country. It is unpatriotic not to tell the truth."

We are now faced with the decline of the farmer, the decline of medicine, businesses and even some very large corporations. We have a rise in unemployment, a rise in cost of groceries, the homeless and hungry abound. Is this just coincidence, or could it be part of the overall, carefully orchestrated, pre-planned national crisis? As a nation, and as families, we must move away from unsound economic policies, live within our means and pay our debts. We must establish sound monetary policies and take the needed steps to compete in world markets. God has kept this great nation in the hollow of his hand, and America will not be shifted out of its rightful place. God will not permit America to be destroyed. He has promised protection, if we will but serve Him. America may however, become weakened and made less effective. We must not become complacent, from the dangerous feeling that all is well, from being lulled away from a false sense of security.

When the national crisis occurs, we must see it for what it will be. A ploy, to catch us at a weak and vulnerable moment. Perhaps it will come from a seemingly unending family situation, a spouse unemployed, the high cost of living, illness or the threat of higher taxes. Perhaps it will stem from the "panicked" feeling of famine. Having someone stand in promising to restore harmony and balance will sound very tempting and difficult to turn down. But, we must beware of strangers bearing gifts. It will be too good to be true, AND it will be. That is why there will be a price to pay. The men who make the promises, will be the men who will gain the most, whether it be profit, power or both! They will hope to pass legislation to legally get what they want, A NEW WORLD ORDER, REDUCING OUR "SAY" and UPSETTING THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT SYSTEM OF "CHECKS AND BALANCES." Our way of life progressively worsening, will probably continue "until the Elders of Israel will be found holding it up to the nations of the earth and proclaiming liberty and equal rights to all men, and extending the hand of fellowship to the oppressed of all nations." (President John Taylor, 1879, JD-21:8) We should prepare ourselves educationally, mentally and physically.

We need to recognize that these men have exerted their influence, power and manipulation of foreign matters because of the money power given them when Article I - Section 8, of the Constitution was ignored. Restoring the money power to the Congress would be a beginning to restoring harmony.
